ONON SOME TRANS AND, WE remember seeing a ruffinn abusing and insulting unoffending persons at a fair. He was more than abusive, and struck several who were not in position to, or capable of retaliating: One in particular put up with his offeneive conduct till, finally, patience ceased being a virtue, and the rowdy was "bowled out" is one round. Then instead of proving himself "game" he blurted off to a magistrate for law, A coward is a coward the world over. A coward is a coward the world over.

Picronsque China.—Our thanks are due to McFarlane Wilson, the enterprising proprietor of China Hall, who has placed on our table a handsome cup, saucer and plate, embellished with views of Cambridge street methodist church and the collegate institute, Mr. Wilson had a large quantity of those goods manufactured in Germany for the Lindsay trade, the embellishing being varied. The several churches in Lindsay, collegiste institute and court house being depicted on the goods. Mr. Wilson has also for the Peterboro trade, a stock on which the various public buildings of that town are shown.

courence took place on Monday, 18th Nov., at the residence of Mr. James Barker, Sunderland. It was the cetebration of the golden wedding—the matrimonial jubilee of Mr. Harker and his devoted wife. A large number of friends were convened, who, whether old or young, evidently manifested by their happy countenance, they felt the inspiration of the event. Most of the sone and daughters were present, including the Nev. W. R. Barker, methodist minister of Streetsville; their sons-in-law, Mr. James St. John and Mr. Wm. Shire, and a large number of grandchildren. Shire, and a large number of grandchildren.
The occasion was one of devout gratitude to Almighty God for His enriching blessings vouchested to the honored pair. Mr. Barker has been a local preacher for nearly torty years, expounding the truth of God to his fattor men. Mr. and Mrs. Barker were converted to God in their youth, and became members of the methodist church, to which they have been levingly attached and zealous laborers in the Lord's vineyard. The exerhaborers in the Lord's vineyard. The exercises commenced by singing the Doxology and prayer; after which, Jessie Weldon Esq., was called to the chair. He spoke of his long and profitable acquaintance with Mr. Barker and how much the cause of God was promoted by in a practical line in the matter. Honor to profitable acquaintance with Mr. Barker and how much the cause of God was promoted by his labors. Asron Ross Esq., of Port Perry, who with his amiable lady was present, being called on for an address, stated that he was intimately acquainted with Mr. Barker since his conversion. his conversion, was much benefited by his connect then, and that their meetings since connsel then, and that their meetings since have always resulted in mutual pleasure and profit. Short congratulatory addresses were delivered by the Rev. D. C. McDowell, S. Sing, Charles Taylor, brother of Mrs. Barker, and by James St. John Esq. Two beautiful chairs were presented, the gifts of the children to their parents. Some choice music was rendered during the afternoon. The guests were now invited to the dining room, where an excellent dinner was in readiness. After dinner the company separated wishing our esteemed friends many years to witness for the Divine Muster here, before being called to helf home above.
