

The Victoria Warder FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1889

A vision of hearts and a vision of heads A vision of eyes and a vision of ears...

Game of Thought.

Oh, for smart, for apt, for lively—I can walk, see, hear, I can; On the days I feel like walking, just as well as you, young men!

O. W. Holmes.

Dear through sorrow, wrong and ruth, In thy heart the dew of youth, On thy lips the smile of truth.

W. H. Longfellow.

Godliness with contentment is great gain. The more we have the better we are contented.

He who makes a great fuss about doing good will do very little. When thou doest good, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth.

LINDSAY SHOULD BE SECOND TO NO MARKET IN CANADA.

Surrounded by one of the most magnificent tracts of agricultural land in the universe, the centre of a system of railways radiating to seven different points of the compass, favored with some hundreds of miles of inland water communication...

Some years ago when, owing to certain causes, there was every probability of another point than Lindsay being selected for the Grand Trunk Railway shops for this district, the Warmer sought after week, privately and publicly sought to bring the matter calmly before the people's minds...

In the matter of a market, our object is to force the question on the public of this town and country. Not a farmer within miles, but has again and again felt that something is wrong, something is unsatisfactory in Lindsay.

Our motive is triple, we are free to admit. There are (1) The general interests of the farming community who should have all the advantages for selling any place afforded...

He then at great length and in clear calm reasoning reviews the situation from a Canadian view-point. The superior power of the United States and the repeated utterances and boasts of their politicians are quoted to show that, independent of Canada would soon be swallowed up by the Yankees...

What is the proposed remedy? Ah, what is it? Is the question. In Millbrook the merchants some time ago formed an association to purchase at fair prices whatever is presented on their market days...

The whole article of three columns is bristling with practical reasons why Canadians should remain attached to England. Indeed, as M. Tasse points out, Canada is more the ally, rather than the colony of Great Britain.

Now, Lindsay is nearly as large as Peterboro; is growing quietly; has better educational facilities; is a greater railway centre; has more and better country directly tributary to it; is possessed of superior water communication...

It has been suggested as a remedy that the merchants here should have posted...

WHAT DID CHRIST INTEND?

It is quite evident Rev. Mr. Spence, the talented young clergyman of Toronto, now stationed on Onnesee circuit, was not aware last Sunday when addressing the large congregation in Cambridge street Methodist church, that he uttered language which with some fossils would taint him with heresy.

No modern thinker believes that Christ came to earth to introduce a creed. He simply taught, chiefly in act, a mode of living, not a method of thinking. Were "Christians" to see Jesus and converse and discuss with him, it is not to be wondered at that they would need to be enlarged, while old Charon might cast a few of the deck hands on his craft.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN.

Through the kindness of members of the various Railway Brotherhoods, Locomotive Engineers, Firemen, Conductors, and Brakemen, we are from time to time permitted to review their journals and magazines.

The after thought, however, is not so much on the items of news; or the hardships, the dangers, the injuries befalling those heroic fellows in the discharge of their duty; or the anxieties and cares of their wives, mothers and children, sisters and sweethearts, for "safe return." One becomes possessed with the grand feeling, a realization of the old spirit, the BROTHERHOOD OF MAN.

One cannot, therefore, reflect on the bright sides of the railway man's character but with pleasure and profit. The spirit of brotherhood alone teaches a lesson. Honor, truth, fidelity, bravery and kindness are strengthened by a study of a railway employee's life.

How few travellers or citizens, comfortably settled at home, these dark, cold, wet, frosty, or snowy nights consider the railway man's difficulties and dangers! The brakemen especially suffer in severe weather.

Lindsay has many citizens; but among her finest are the railway men. Their labour is hard and not clean. But it is conducive to good citizenship, to warmth of heart, and depth of feeling.

Are the republican institutions of the United States better, or do they offer greater safe-guards than Canada's? and would Canada possess more freedom or be better governed under the regime Yankee? These and other questions are asked by M. Tasse.

The lightness of England's yoke, the mere appointment of a Governor-General, is also touched on; while the vast sums even yet spent in Canada at Halifax, Esquimaux, &c., by Britain are direct gains.

The guarantee of England in financial matters, whereby the Canadian taxpayer is annually saved much in interest is also noted.

Our readers have from time to time read in our columns similar brave, patriotic utterances from French-Canadians such as Chapleau, Tasse, Taitell, Osgood, in themselves, an array of whom any nation should be proud.

But contrast with the loyal words and acts of these men, all of the liberal-conservative party, the rank treason, and sectional race and religious cries of Hier-cliper and his followers and allies.

The only bogus letter that ever appeared in THE WARDER, excepting the three distinctly marked "bogus" two weeks ago, was one signed "HONOR FARRER," which was written by a member of the Post's staff, and was brought to THE WARDER by a special request to have it published.

It would seem genuine were it to appear in THE WARDER. Several persons have come to our office and stated that letters published in the Post had been obtained from them by coaxing; others have said the open-minded editor or some of his assistants had pressed and invited them to let him publish letters nominally from them.

Ontario citizens will find in Quebec province friends in the great liberal-conservative party.

CAMERON.

There will be a public social at Mr. James Cameron's residence on Wednesday, Dec. 11th, commencing at seven o'clock p.m. All are cordially invited to attend.

SALSA LAKE.

HUNTING PARTY RETURNED.—Mr. John Cunningham, D. McNeil and E. Mack of Little Britain, returned from the north with eleven deer and a number of partridges. Good sleighing at present. A wedding expected soon.

FLEETWOOD.

WE HAVE had nice sleighing for the last few days, but it is likely to go as a show has set in. Mr. John Lealey has got a pure Berkshire pig. It is counted the best and purest in the township, with a full pedigree.

PENTANGUISHENK.

INBRIARIE ASYLUM.—The following resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the branch lodge of Royal Templars in this town: Resolved that in the opening of the council the cost of maintaining the proposed inebriate asylum should be made a direct tax on those engaged in the liquor traffic alone.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Alex. Smith has left for British Columbia. Miss Lavinia Beck who has been at the Presbyterian ladies' college in Toronto, spent Thanksgiving day at home.

OMNIBUS.

HEAVY fall snow and good sleighing. FARMERS very busy bringing out their produce, wood and grain, although low in price, large quantities, which will make up.

Mr. English, wife of Lieut. John Joseph English, and her niece, wife of an officer in the North-west "Mounted Police" are back to their old native place, after an absence of 12 years.

Mr. Henry Strike, a former resident of Perth, but now one of Ashburnham's popular teachers, occupied the pulpit here on Sunday, and gave an excellent discourse. He took for his text, the 17th chap. and 29th v. of first Samuel.

At present our fair fields are covered with their wintry coat. The storm of the 27th and 28th is supposed to be the heaviest that has been for some years for this time of the season.

FRANKLIN.

At present our fair fields are covered with their wintry coat. The storm of the 27th and 28th is supposed to be the heaviest that has been for some years for this time of the season.

Mr. John Cairns, the popular agent for the Bradford company, has moved to our village. He will make a good citizen. Also Mr. Robert Lytle, a former resident of this place, who has been living in Midland City for the last three years, moved back last week.

VICTORIA CORNERS.

Rev. W. F. Waddell of Oberlin, delivered a lecture here on Wednesday night which was a grand success. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the house was not as well filled as it otherwise would have been.

Mr. Tripp, who has been seriously ill for some time past and being in indigent circumstances, through the untiring efforts of Mr. Waddell and Mr. J. Brown in collecting the necessary funds, has been sent to the general hospital in Toronto, last Saturday.

Mr. J. Collins is somewhat better. Mr. Taylor and Miss Brown have been re-engaged in our school for the ensuing year at an advanced salary.

WEDDINGS.
