The T. V. C. in Peterborough.

The Central Committee met at Peterborough on Wednesday, the 1st inst Fifteen or sixteen of the members were present, and they were all very hopeful as to the success of the measure. A letter was read from Sir Charles Tupper, informing the Committee that the A cery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Strict at- amount of money necessary for a survey was so considerable as to require to be put into the Parliamentary estimates. A strong resolution was therefore passed, reminding the Government of the promises of some of its prominent members with regard to this scheme, and asking for such appropriation. A strong determination was expressed to keep the matter before the country. Articles were read from several journals strongly favouring the construction of the canal. A full report of the meeting will be published in the Peterborough and Toronto papers this week.

The Irish Troubles.

The state of affairs in Ireland is rap idly growing worse, and reports of murders or attempted murders are becoming of alarming frequency. One of the latest victims was a Mr. Wheeler, who was shot near Cork, and a reward of one thousand pounds has been offered for the discovery of his assassins. Ten times that amount was spent on the expedition to relieve Captain Boycott, whom the people threaten to shoot; but the parish priest has received a letter menacing him with instant death if Boycott is murdered. The Government appear to have decided against coercive measures, and a further prorogation of Parliament is talked of; but extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent an outbreak in Ireland and to protect the persons and property of individuals obnoxions to the masses. What the end will be it is hard to predict, but we greatly fear that a solution of the difficulty cannot be arrived at without a preliminary effusion of a good deal of blood. If the people were less insane in their demands, we should have hopes that the Irish Land Bill now in course of preparation, and which will be laid before Parliament at its next meeting, might have the desired effect; but it will probably fall far short of the wishes of those who, now they think they have law and

Farther west the soil is rather lighter, but, in the opinion of many, better adapted for general farming purposes. There is a considerable quantity of waste land, if we take it in the aggregate, but comparatively the percentage is not large. And much of what is now waste land will be reclaimed by drainage before the country is a generation older. The winter is long and rigorous. It usually begins about the first of November and lasts until the end of April. It is steadily cold and crisp, but clear and bracing. With proper clothing one experiences no inconvenience. Vegetation is astonishingly rapid. Wheat, oats and vegetables are the safest and most productive crops. The average yield of wheat is thirty bushels per acre, of oats from fifty to seventy. As to vegatables, one can scarcely place any limit as to their size or yield. It must be borne in mind, however, that owing to lack of drainage, poor farming, and other causes, many people do not get anything like the above returns. I have only stated what can confidently be counted upon when the land is properly tilled. These are a great many poor farmers in this county. They knew nothing about it before coming here, and they don't understand it very well yet. Hundreds of immigrants arrive in Winnipeg and purchase teams who could not put the harness on them if they got the whole North West to do it, and they are often compelled to hire a teamster to pilot them beyond the suburbs of the city. It will take such people some MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.—As a rule, intending candidates for municipal honors grow warm as the weather grows cold; but this year we have heard scarcely a word about the elections, although they are rapidly approaching. We take it for granted that some, if not all, of the present members of the village council intend to seek re-election; but we do not know whether the organization to oust them, threatened when the butcher by-law was passed, is still intended or not.

CHEAP MEAT .- The result of the squabble about the butcher by-law is that the villagers are effected meat clieaper than they have ever bought it hitherto. Mr. E. B. Whytall, (whose advertisement will be found in another column) has opened out a butcher shop on Colborne street, and Mr. Cochrane is so indignant thereat that he offers the best steak for 8 cents per lb., roasts from 5 to 6 cents, and boiling pieces from 3 to 5 cents, and we suppose the other butchers will have to charge the same. OBITUARY .- It is our melancholy duty this week to announce the death of Mrs. Nicholls, so long and favourably known in this village as Miss Ada Upperton. Mrs. Nicholls was always a favourite wherever known, being a woman of sterling worth, of genial manners, a warm friend, and a sincere Christian. She died at Alliston, in the county of Gray, on the 25th inst., from exhaustion brought on by long continued nursing of several children down with diptheria. She was buried at Lindsay on the 27th inst. She is much and deservedly lamented by a large circle of friends.

A Sad Case of Destitution. A sad case of distress is reported i one of the Ottawa city suburbs. A few weeks ago a man named Jouvent went away in the woods lumbering, and is now beyond the reach of communication. He left a wife and six children behind about a month ago, and now the second oldest boy, about eleven, a daughter of seven, and another of three are all dead from diptheria. The baby, about a year old, is dying, and wil probably have followed his brother and sisters by this time; while the eldest, a boy of thirteen and a girl of five are but slowly recovering. The wretched mother has lived to perform the terrible task of placing her dear ones in their coffins with her own hands, as her neighbours are of course afraid to go near the dreaded house, and were it not for the fearless charity of a neighbour, their little bodies would probably even yet be unburied. The mother and those yet living are literally starving.

Fighting for a Church.

A fight for the possession of the Lutheran Church building at Petersburg, on the outskirts of Seranton, led to the arrest of eight of the party for forcible entry, and the most intense excitement prevailed during the trial, one of the at torneys threatening to throw a man out of the window. The cause of the quarrel is a debt of about $2,000, for which three members of the congregation are personally responsible. To the Editor of the Fenelon Falls Gazette.

I saw in your last issue an article on the value of Barytes and Sulphate of Barytes, giving an account of their economic value &c., and also mentioning the various places where they have been found, permit me to say that Sulphate of Barytes of the very finest quality is to be found in the Galway lead mines. I am not in a position to say if the supply is large, never having been down the pit and consequently have not seen the load, but judging from the proportion I saw lying round with the lead which had been taken out I am of opinion that it is there in paying quantity. I have now in my possession several specimens which I picked up there some years ago. My reasons for troubling you with this are, that the writer of the article invites correspondence from parties who may know where the mineral is to be found Faithfully yours.
