The Fenelon Falls Gazette Saturday, May 14th, 1881. A Serious Matter. The Port Hope News says:—"There is a young Biddulph community growing up in the township of Cavan. Mr. Wm. Might, a quiet, inoffensive farmer, has been the recipient of several threatening letters, warning him that if he did not leave the farm lately purchased by him from the Midland Loan Company, his barns would be burned, and that a bullet had been prepared for his heart. He entertains strong suspicions as to where the letters have come from. The above statement shows a state of affairs that requires the instant and determined interposition of the arm of the law to prevent the serious consequences that may ensue if the unruly passions of the few extant 'Cavan Blazers' are to be thus manifested with impunity. Mr. Might's suspicions should be ascertained and acted upon, and if the authors of the threatening letters can be discovered they should receive the utmost punishment that can be meted out to them. Though there is far less lawlessness in Canada than there was twenty or thirty years ago, a great deal too much still exists, and it is the bounden duty of every person in authority, from the humblest constable to the Minister of Justice himself, to stamp it out; but the duty, we are sorry to say, is not infrequently shirked with a shamelessness that ought to cause the instant removal of the shirkers from the offices they disgrace. If the rogues of Cavan succeed in their obvious design, which evidently is to prevent the sale of mortgaged properties, their example will soon be followed elsewhere, and in course of time the attempt to enforce payment of a debt—no matter how just a one—will become so dangerous that timid persons will shrink from it in dismay, and a premium will be offered on idle news, impropriety and dishonesty. We repeat that no pains nor expense ought to be spared in the effort to discover and punish the parties who sent the threatening letters to Mr. Might; but, judging from our long experience of the indifference with which similar offences have been regarded, nothing will be done until the offenders furnish the local papers with a far more sensational item.

Disheartening. It is strange, but true, that Mr. Greene's election to the office (which he so sensationally flung) of reeve of this village, has had a damaging effect on our ability to understand plain English or on other persons' ability to tell the truth; for, notwithstanding the pains we took to have every assertion in last week's article in strict accordance with fact and veracity, we have since been told, to our confusion and dismay, that every statement was a misstatement and that it was all wrong from beginning to end; which is very disheartening considering the trouble we went to, but this life is full of disappointments and probably always will be. It is of course not to be expected that we shall point out the alleged errors in our account of Mr. Greene's campaign; but if he or any one on his behalf wish to do so, the necessary space in the Gazette can be had free of charge, and we shall defend ourselves as best we can against the serious accusation. Our ill success last week has rendered us so cautious of putting faith in the asseverations of councillors, if not of all mankind, that we do not like to say a word of what occurred at the meeting on Monday night; especially as the fact that, though the proceedings of the previous meeting were expunged from the minute book, all the motions were passed over again without a dissenting voice, naturally leads us to infer that the reeve's alleged efforts to thwart the wishes of his colleagues could have proceeded from nothing but a deplorable cunningness which we should be exceedingly loath to believe a man in his exalted position could be afflicted with. So far, circumstantial evidence is in favour of Mr. Greene and against the councillors; therefore the statements of those gentlemen that, at the meeting on Monday night, the reeve said, firstly, that he would sign the minutes of the previous meeting if they would obliterate the fifty dollar motion, and, secondly, that the whole proceedings were illegal, are to be received with extreme caution, and we would rather that they, instead of we should publish an assertion so damaging to the worthy reeve's consistency. Happily, there can be no further squabbles about when meetings will be held, for the council, with great presence of mind, settled that difficulty by the motion that will be found at the end of last Monday evening's proceedings.

Apples for Exportation. Mr. Joseph Brown, of Bobcaygeon, was at Ingram's hotel, in this village, two or three days lately, delivering fruit trees for which he took orders some months ago. The trees were of various kinds, but prominent among them were apples, which are scarcely exceeded for general usefulness and healthfulness by any fruit in the world, and which ought to be popular with Canadian farmers in particular, as there is not only a steady home demand for them, but they have already become a prominent article of export. The London correspondent of the Globe tells us that the apple crop in England is a very uncertain one, and that, however good it may be, there is always a demand for Canadian apples, especially good "keepers," well packed. An old country fruit importer says:—"The demand for apples in our market is very large, and the total arrivals from the States and Canada since September, 1880, reach about 800,000 barrels (of these 150,000 were Canadian fruit). All this fruit has been readily sold on arrival, and good prices have been obtained all along for prime Canadian growth, which for most descriptions is superior to States fruit. The best kind of apples to send are Canada Reds, Baldwin's, Ribston's, Golden and Rox Russets, Greenings and Spitz; prices of sound lots vary from 12s. to 14s. for ordinary quality, to 15s. to 26s. for good to choice. Great care should be taken to avoid exposing the barrels to the frost, which ruins the fruit, and nothing but sound keeping stock will pay to ship. A good many apples are now coming in waxy, and in consequence prices are often low. Such lots as arrive sound are obtaining 14s. to 23s. per barrel."

Lockhart be paid the sum of four dollars for auditing the same, and that the following accounts be paid, and the Reeve give his orders for the same:—James Cameron, salary as sub-treasurer of school moneys for the years 1879 and 1880, $8; James Cameron, registering births, deaths and marriages, $6; J. Martin, drawn up and have it signed and given to the Reeve to have it registered, and also advertise the court of revision for Monday, June 6th, 1881.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Robson, That our solicitor be instructed to write Mr. Bradburn and procure a reconveyance of Mr. Manning's property.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Deymann, That the sum of fifty dollars be paid to our solicitor for transmission to B. Thune & Co., Toronto, re mundum.—Carried.

Condensed News. Seven carloads of fat cattle left Port Perry for the old county a few days ago. Mr. Boyd's steamer Beaubonne took a sea load of lath, shingles &c. to Port Perry on the 4th inst. Mr. Thomas Falls, one of the oldest residents of the township of Cavan, died lately at the age of 102 years. A Billville lumberman has been offered by an American buyer, for his whole season's cut, one dollar per thousand feet more than he received this time last year. Mr. Wm. Sadler, of Lindsay, is expected home from the old county in a few days, and will bring with him two stallions—a Suffolk Punch and an English coach horse. A Maltese cat owned by Mr. Henry Sherwood, of Peterborough, lately gave birth to three kittens inseparably connected with each other by ligaments, like the Siamese twins. The lightning on Monday last did so much damage to the telegraph wires between Peterborough and Port Hope that all communication was stopped for more than twenty-four hours. Napoleon boasts of a young lady, Miss Anclia Spencer, in her sixteenth year, who is three and a half feet high and weighs only 42 pounds. She is well formed, fully developed and intelligent.

The Independent says that around Caycean unprincipled pot hunters are killing fish wholesale during the close season, and calls for a rigorous enforcement of the law against them. Mr. James Ross, chief engineer and manager of the Victoria Railway, has resigned his position for a similar one on the Credit Valley line; and Mr. T. B. Tate, superintendent of the Victoria Railway, has been appointed acting general manager. A little girl three years old, daughter of Mr. Bartholomew Crowley, of Otonabee, was burned to death last week. Her mother having left the house, two of the children followed her, and it is supposed that the youngest commenced playing with the fire in the stove as soon as she was alone. Mr. Wilmut, of the Newcastle fish breeding establishment, put 15,000 fry into Lake Simcoe off Oak Orchard point and 5,000 into Lake Couchiching at Pumpkin Island, about a fortnight ago, and at the same time several hundred fry of the California salmon, the first of the kind ever introduced into those waters, were put into lake Simcoe. Mr. John Rosevear, M. P. for East Durham, died on the 5th inst., after a somewhat lingering illness, in the 63th year of his age. He was a Conservative in politics, but his independence and personal qualities made him popular even among his opponents, and the large attendance at his funeral showed the respect and esteem in which he was held.

Memor. MRS. ELIZA JANE MOORE. (Communicated.) "I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours, and their works do follow them." When the youthful mind is brought under the control of piety, the formation of an amiable character is frequently the happy result, enabling its possessor to grow in grace and virtue, that death is not only the portal to eternity but to the skies. Eliza Moore, whose maiden name was Skuse, was born in the parish of Douros, county of Cork, Ireland, February 1st, 1813, and died in the township of Fenelon in the 68th year of her age. Her parents were devoted Christians, and much respected in their native land. When young the deceased was the subject of deep religious feelings while sitting under the faithful ministry of the early Methodist ministers in Ireland. The seed of divine grace was sown, which afterwards yielded much precious fruit. In her youth she was never addicted to those follies which so generally blight and wither all the good qualities and dispositions of young people; on the contrary, from her earliest days she was unusually predisposed to love God and cultivate her better and higher nature. About the year 1831 the good seed of the kingdom began to germinate, or rather to burst forth into life and action. She was then brought into the enjoyment of saving grace, engrafted into Christ the "living vine," made a partaker of his lovely likeness and an heir of eternal life. Her conversion was genuine, as her steady and noble deportment at all times testified. In the year 1835 she was married to Mr. Richard Moore, with whom she lived in great affection for about 46 years. In the year 1847 she emigrated with her husband to Canada, and settled in the township of Cavan, Ont., where they resided 18 years. On her arrival in a new country she did not, as many do, lay aside religion and the cause they had espoused in their native land; but she continued a steady and devout follower of Christ, early identifying herself (with her kind husband) with the Methodist Church. Her denominational attachment was not to be questioned, and but few were more alive to the interests of the Church than she. Mrs. Moore was exceedingly kind and unchangeably kind to ministers. It was her highest ambition to make the servants of Christ at home while under her hospitable roof; and not only ministers, but all with whom she came in contact. In the year 1873 Mrs. Moore and her husband moved to the township of Fenelon. About ten months ago the writer became acquainted with the deceased; during those months he has frequently had the pleasure of conversing with her on those high and important questions which concern our immortal spirits—that she was truly pious and conscientious, and that her love to Jesus was supreme and constant; he has no doubt. Variety is the beauty of nature and characterizes all the works of God. Flowers are not alike either in beauty or perfume; fruits differ both in appearance and taste; the lovely landscape consists of variety. So in the Church of Christ. Some in the ministry are Bonapartes, while others, like Barnabas, are the sons of consolation. So also with members. Some by their zeal and energy are like the dashing cataract, impatient of delay, conquering opposition and bearing away everything before them, while others resemble the quiet stream, flowing silently and profitably along its banks. So it was with Mrs. Moore. Her piety was more of the passive and enduring type than of the obtrusive and aggressive. She was strong and steady in her attachment to Christ and his cause, and in her attendance to the means of grace regular and attentive. We do not claim absolute perfection for the departed. She had her infirmities, which she deeply deplored. But we do claim that she was an excellent Christian woman, which her neighbours are ready to affirm. In the duties of private life as a wife and mother she excelled. Her natural disposition was kind and cheerful, and she was highly respected by her neighbours. During the past four years Mrs. Moore's health has been fluctuating. Her last illness was short, not lasting longer than five days. I visited the deceased during her sickness. She was completely prostrated, though suffering intensely. She patiently bore up and could rejoice in the Lord. She was perfectly resigned to her Heavenly Father's will. Her thoughts were centred in Christ—"tho' faith in Him she could say, 'All is well." "Christ is precious." "For me to live is Christ, but to die is gain." Mr. Like St. Paul, she could triumphantly say, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law. But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." No sins nor fears disturbed her soul, No terrors from below; No worldly glory stopped her flight, Or made her loath to go. A few moments before the spirit took its flight she gave testimony that Jesus was precious—that she was ready and had a desire to depart and be with Christ. At 11 1/2 p. m. on Tuesday, May 3rd, 1881, the strife ended and the aged saint entered into rest. Her remains were taken to the Fenelon Falls cemetery on Thursday a. m., May 5th, followed by a large number of her friends and neighbours. May her surviving friends be found copying her virtues and following her footsteps, the prayer of their friend.

DENTISTRY.—Mr. J. Neelands, dentist of Lindsay, will be at the McArthur House, Fenelon Falls, on Monday next, May 16th, and will remain but one day. THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—Next Tuesday week will be the Queen's birthday, and we are glad to hear that it is the intention to celebrate it in a fitting manner in Fenelon Falls—if the necessary funds can be obtained. COURTS OF REVISION.—The Court of Revision for the township of Fenelon will be held at Cameron on Thursday, May 26th, and the Court of Revision for the village of Fenelon Falls will be held in Scully's Hall on Monday, June 6th. HORSE TRAINING.—Professor W. A. Brush, horse educator, will give a free exhibition and lecture in this village on Monday evening next, after which he will open a school for the instruction of those who wish to learn his system of handling unbroken or vicious horses. For particulars see bills and advertisement. THE CROPS.—On Monday last a splendid rain, just the right size, fell in this section of country, and as it was followed by piping hot weather, the grass and wheat have grown wonderfully and the hearts of the husbandmen are palpating with joy. Many leaved that this year's hay crop would be short, but we think without cause; for, though the spring was late, the ground was not parched up as it sometimes is, and the grass grew steadily from the word "go."

ENLARGED.—We are informed on good authority that Mr. Keith's proceedings in chancery against the school board have been, or must inevitably be, enlarged from the 16th inst. until the next sitting of the court, which will take place in October. The enlargement has, we understand, been rendered necessary by the delay of the trustees in preparing for trial. The argument with reference to the mundum was fixed for to-day (Friday) but perhaps that has been enlarged also. A JAM.—There is a big jam of logs in Burnt River between Johnston's Rapids and High Falls, a distance of over three miles, and a number of men were sent up early in the week to try and break it. The logs, fully 20,000 in number, belong principally to Mr. Ulyott and Mr. Boyd, and a large drive owned by Mr. R. C. Smith is detained at Kinmount, waiting for the obstruction below to be removed. The logs in the jam are fortunately not piled on each other, and a "flat jam," as it is called, is generally neither very difficult nor dangerous to start.

BLASTING.—A stranger visiting this village might be excused for suspecting that it was undergoing a siege by hostile forces, or was infested with Nihilists who were making half hourly attempts to blow up our public institutions or our public men. Every little while a terrific "bang" salutes the ear, but nobody faints or is even frightened, for all know that the reports are caused by the blasting powder used in the construction of "Deymann's canal" or in getting out stone for the addition to the grist mill, both of which works are being prosecuted with the utmost vigour and will shortly be completed.

THE COBOCONK.—The steamer Cobocok made her first trip of the season on Tuesday last, and ran to Cobocok and back without the slightest mishap of any kind, which the captain considers an auspicious augury for the future. The boat is now in first class condition, having been repaired and repainted throughout. For the present she will make three regular trips per week, leaving Fenelon Falls every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at about 10 a. m., reaching Cobocok in time to connect with the Nipissing railway for Toronto, and returning to the Falls as early as possible in the afternoon. The rest of the week she will run "promiscuously" towing logs or doing anything else at which she can be profitably employed.

A ROUGH PET.—On Tuesday evening a man came into the village with a young bear which he had led all the way from Kinmount, a distance of about twenty miles, by the collar and chain attached to it. The animal was ash coloured all but its legs, which were black, as the body will be when the bear is full grown. The owner said it would be a year old in July and was pretty tame, though occasionally it was a little cantankerous, and had shown fight once or twice on the road. It walked quietly by his side, lay down by his chair when he took a seat in the Mansion House bar-room, and got up of its own accord the moment he arose to take it to the stable. It did not appear tired by its long tramp, but was quite peaceable, and allowed itself to be inspected closely and even patted by the men and boys who of course gathered around it.

SENT TO JAIL.—On Thursday last week a commercial traveller named Smith, from Montreal, put up at the Mansion House, in this village, and opened out his samples of silver ware in one of the rooms on the ground floor. During his momentary absence or while his back was turned some one stole a butter knife and pickle fork, and Mr. Smith informed the landlord, Mr. Ingram, of his loss; but there was no clue to the thief, up to the time Mr. Smith left. Soon after his departure, Mr. Ingram's suspicions fell upon a man who said his name was Merryfield and that he was from Port Hope; and upon his being searched, the knife and fork were found in his possession. He was therefore arrested and put in the lock-up, and a telegram was sent to Lindsay to Smith, who returned next day. The prisoner (who is believed to have given a feigned name) was taken before Jas. Dickson, Esq., and, having admitted the theft and expressed contrition, was sent in charge of Constable Kelly to the jail at Lindsay, there to await his trial.

An Invalid's Misery. A WOMAN SWALLOWS A SNAKE—ATTEMPT TO STARVE IT. Mrs. J. B. Elliott, of Mt. Vernon, has been ill for six months with a mysterious ailment, which the local physicians are unable to diagnose. The lady believes that a snake, which she swallowed while drinking from a spring last fall, has remained in her stomach and grown to a great size. She says she can feel it moving about and biting her. Her physicians advised her to fast for ten days, and when the snake should get real hungry to coax it out by holding a pan of fresh milk before her open mouth. The abstinence was begun, and to-day being the fifth day Mrs. Elliott, feeling ravenous and supping her lodger equally hungry, had a pan of the best milk obtainable brought up, fixed herself in an inclined position, her heels higher than her head, with her open mouth close over the milk, but the snake refused to be beguiled, and the aroma of the milk overpowered the hungry woman, threw her into convulsions, and induced such dangerous sinking spells that her physicians brought the fast to a conclusion and compelled the patient to eat. The failure of the experiment made Mrs. Elliott sicker than before, and she despaired of being ever able to outlast the snake. Her inability to starve out the snake has produced a state of mental anguish which the doctors say will lead to insanity.

Co-operative Dairy Farming. A HUGE DAIRY AND STOCK FARMING SCHEME FOR THE NORTH-WEST. Ottawa, May 6.—The extensive cheese exporter, Mr. George Morton, of Kingston, is at present in the city. He has had several interviews with the Governor-General and members of the Cabinet pertaining to matters in connection with his North-West colonization scheme. His intentions are to form a company with a paid-up capital of $400,000; to fence in 224 farms of 160 acres each; to break up 40 acres on each farm; to build a good house and stock each lot with 30 milk cows. All these farms are to be served by a narrow gauge railway (two feet wide), with a station at every farm; to run the railway is to be 33 1/2 miles in length, with 58 stations. It is intended to collect the milk twice daily for six months or longer, and to raise all the calves instead of deaunting them, as practised in dairy districts in America, and to build an immense cheese and butter factory for manufacturing cheddar, stilton, and gruyere cheese from the produce of 6,700 cows. This scheme will be of great advantage to poor men having families, who can milk stock, thus saving the otherwise necessary outlay for labour. It will doubtless cause a stir in the cheese producing communities of America and Great Britain. Connected with this scheme 75,000 acres of a ranch for feeding steers are required, and are expected to be leased from the Government.

A Hungarian Murder. AN ENGLISH COACHMAN BUTCHERED AND DISMEMBERED BY HIS FELLOW SERVANTS. John Hayward, an English coachman in the service of Count Victor Karolyi, had been missing from 11-master's house, in Pesth, since the 7th of April. On that day he had been paid two months' wages, and was last seen in the company of two groom, with whom he spent the evening in conviviality. A fortnight afterwards the mutilated remains of the unfortunate man were dug out of a dung heap. The discovery of the murder is due to the sagacity of a provincial policeman, who, having read of Hayward's mysterious disappearance, and learning that two grooms who had been in Count Karolyi's service had arrived in his neighbourhood, made it his business to watch them, and being confirmed in his suspicions that they were concerned in the disappearance of the Englishman, proceeded to arrest them. The prisoners were sent back to Pesth, where, on being interrogated, they made a full confession of the crime. It appears that after drinking with the two grooms, Hayward slept that night in the same room with them. In the middle of the night the prisoners got up and strangled their companion. They took all his money, amounting to sixty-five florins (about six pounds ten shillings), and possessed themselves of his other valuables, including a gold watch and chain. In order to hide the murder, the perpetrators proceeded to cut up the body into small pieces, the instrument they used being a pocket knife. They then carried the remains into the stable yard, and threw them into the refuse pit, covering them deeply in stable litter. Researches confirm the truth of the confession of the prisoners. From the dung pit there were dug out first the left arm, then the right leg, and the rest of the body, which was shockingly hacked and mutilated, though the murderers did not find time to sever it into further portions. One of the prisoners shot himself in prison. The other, who is awaiting his trial, adheres to his confession.

Darwin's new book on habits of worms is nearly ready for the press. Fannie Blanchard, aged 24, died in New York of immoderate use of cosmetics. A telephone has been melted down in New York city by having the current from an electric light turned into it through the accidental contact of the wires. An Indiana "professor" has been telling his hearers in St. Louis that the world will come to an end on November 12th, of this year, at midnight, by collision with a comet. The Land Leaguers of Illinois promise $250,000 to aid their brethren in Ireland, and not only that, but they pledge their energies, fortunes, and even their lives, if necessary, to further the cause. Patent medicines in England now yield a Government revenue of over $1,000,000. They were first taxed in 1783 under an act requiring all vendors of secret remedies to take out a license and pay a stamp duty. Cerebro spinal meningitis is prevailing at Carrollton, Ind., in an epidemic form. Within two weeks there have been twenty-five deaths from this cause, while there are still large numbers of cases requiring attention. Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, was married on Wednesday to Miss Mills, daughter of D. Mills, the banker and capitalist. Among the wedding presents was a cheque for half a million from the bride's father. Fresh evidence of the existence of man in Europe as a contemporary of the mammoth has been discovered in an ancient cave in the Crimea, where the tooth of a mammoth was found among the calcined remains of animals, and close by two stone latrine heads of fine workmanship. A large cabinet shop in Warkworth, erected on piles over a mill pond, suddenly dropped in the water the other day, and gave the workmen a terrible scare. One of them working in the top story jumped out of the window and was washed out of the pond very little the worse for the ducking. The New York Mail still urges that the whipping-post should be set up for the men who whip their wives. Its privileges should be extended to the numbheads who snap pistols and guns, thinking they are not loaded, and those simpletons who go through the forms of marriage for "fun."

DEATHS. In Lindsay, on Sunday, May 8th, of consumption, John A. P., eldest son of the Hon. S. C. Wood, Provincial Treasurer, aged 23 years. MARKET REPORTS. FENELON FALLS MARKETS. Fenelon Falls, Friday, May 13th, 1881.
