

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SOUTH RIDING OF VICTORIA.

Having been nominated as the candidate in the Liberal Conservative interest by the Convention held at Lindsay on the twenty-fifth inst., I have accepted the position of standard bearer for the party at the approaching election.

From 1874 to 1878 the country was greatly depressed. Employment for workmen and mechanics was scarce, wages low, general trade in a very bad condition, and the Government in power acknowledged itself powerless.

Matters had got into the worst possible position when the present Government came into power, and at once commenced to grapple with the difficulties.

Sir John Macdonald then inaugurated the National Policy. It was then unknown, untried. It is now become well known, well tried, and, although in its infancy, has surpassed the expectations of its most sanguine supporters; the result to-day being general prosperity.

While this Policy was being prepared and under discussion in Parliament it received the strongest possible opposition from the Reform party. No terms were too strong to use against it, and ever since misrepresentation and abuse have been heaped upon it. Even after its good effects began to be felt and appreciated the same opposition was evinced. But, finally, the improved state of the country was so great it could no longer be explained away or denied, and we find at present most of the opposition withdrawn and the National Policy triumphant.

I consider, therefore, the approaching elections of the greatest consequence to the people of the Dominion.

The question now before the Electors to decide is simply this.—Shall the Government which brought about this happy state of affairs be driven from office, and those who persistently and violently opposed them put in their places?

I believe a majority will agree with us that it would not only be ungenerous and unfair but a calamity to the country.

I consider the policy of the present Government in the rapid construction of the Pacific Railway, and the impetus given to the development of our great North-West Territory, is worthy of endorsement.

We have a territory immensely rich, and of great extent, which for years has been valueless, because unknown, but which is now attracting the surplus population of Europe and the older Provinces of our Dominion to such an extent as to warrant most hopeful results for the more immediate future.

I feel certain that if an intelligent vote of the Electors of the constituency is cast I will be returned at the head of the poll, not upon my own account, but on account of the party and principles I represent.

I ask you individually, in the name of our country—and personally, for your vote and influence.

I remain, Your obedient Servant, J. R. DUNDAS. Lindsay, May 26th, 1882.

THE PUBLIC

Has responded to our invitation to visit the City Store, and his done it with a will. We have been crowded with buyers and visitors daily, and in almost every case you could see surprise pictured on their faces, and they universally exclaim: "This beats anything I have ever seen. Who could believe there was so great a difference between cash and credit? Customers all say to us: 'We have read your advertisement week after week, but had no idea you could back up all you say until we had given you a trial. We are now thoroughly convinced that you have the goods at prices to substantiate all you say and more too. You do a good deal of advertising, but you have the right stuff to advertise.'"

If on inspection you find we cannot do so we do not want you to purchase of us, but we say boldly that we can save you something on every article you buy, no matter how small. We again cordially invite those who have not visited the City Store to do so, and see for themselves why some of our contemporaries are envious of our success. We are determined to secure the patronage of the people, and with this aim in view we are always holding out inducements in Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Lace Curtains, Curtain Naps, Sheetings, Pillowings, White and Colored Cottons, Fancy Table Covers, &c.

QUITE TRUE. POSITIVE PROOF.

It has been affirmed by some, and we believe with considerable force and truth, that of late years people have received a great deal of training and education in the matter of buying clothing for personal wear and use, and as a rule now buy with a skill and care altogether unknown to our old business men. People now-a-days, it must be acknowledged, are better judges of value than they were ten years ago, and know as well as the merchant himself when value is shown.

Our great success in the Tailoring Department just now, in spite of most determined opposition, is positive proof that we are giving better value, newer styles, and more skillfully made garments than others can show. We buy only the newest goods, and just now cut the prices so low that—and every possible inducement offered to cash buyers—it is no wonder that we are crowded with orders. Gentlemen appreciate the advantage of dealing with a square-toed house that gives its customers incalculable advantage over the old style of doing business, besides always insuring them elegantly fitted, skillfully made, artistically cut garments, that give the wearer the satisfaction of knowing that he is attired in a suit from the City Store, and with which the most expert critic cannot find a fault.

Removal and Change in Business. Moffat & McFarland Return their sincere thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed on them since they commenced business in Fenelon Falls; and beg to inform the public that they have first moved into the premises lately occupied by Mr. Wm. Having leased the bakery and secured the services of Mr. David Barrett, they are prepared to furnish FIRST CLASS BREAD, Cakes, Buns, &c., &c., at reasonable prices and no effort will be spared to so insure the high reputation which the Fenelon Falls bakery has deservedly borne. Their stock of FAMILY GROCERIES will be found, as usual, fresh, good and well assorted.

Flour, Feed, Eggs, Butter, &c., will be kept on hand, and farm produce generally dealt in. A nice lot of Crockery & Glassware is on the shelves and will be sold as cheap as any in town. A visit of inspection from all needing anything in their line of business is respectfully solicited. MOFFAT & McFARLAND. Fenelon Falls, May 26th, 1881.
