A Rather Muto Breakfast Party-Dan. at the Front-Lost His Mose. Cordial terms prevailed between the Bri tish and French officers of corresponding rank. There was no more striking instance of this among the older men than that of Sir Colin Campbell and Gen. Vincis. The one commanded the Highland brigade at Balaklava, and the other was at the head of the nearest French brigade on the heights. Although the Scotchman could not speak a word of French nor the Frenchman a word of English, they were in the habit of break fasting together every Sunday, alternately in each other's tents, without an interpreter. THE ONE GREAT MEDICINE

Withoutdoubt there are now, and have been for years past, several medicines of remarkable merit before the public - medicines which have been used, in many cases, with excellent success. Then times of these will readily recur to our readers, and they are the names of prepara Scarlett recommended him for promotion you and Harry Ray. And then you glance these would probably be hatched out all I was not disposed, even with this second habit of charging patients and customers tion whose worth, for certain purposes, no one and for the Victoria cross, on account of his across and your heart sinks in sadness as right. Scores of people have since called warning, to obey any man or anything else; more than many of them are able to pay. is disposed to deny. But we are fully justified by undeniable and notorious facts, in saying, and we do unhesitatingly say, that the one great medicine of the present day-the medicine, we mean, which now stands pre-eminent ab we alothers-is the famous VEGETINE of Mr. 11. R. Stevens of Poston. Some of the undeniable facts | ## Full particulars in our pamphlet, which First, it is astonishingly efficient in really cur
