THE TORONTO CONVENTION.

The Liberal Convention held in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday last, in response to a call from the Hon. Oliver Mowat, was by far the largest political gathering ever seen in that city, no fewer than 6,200 delegates from various parts of the province having exchanged their credentials for tickets of admission. Stirring speeches were delivered by leading Reformers, the greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and the opposition allegation that "Mowat must go" was laughed to scorn. The delegates from this village were delighted with the proceedings, which they say exceeded their most sanguine expectations.

Cash vs. Credit.

Messrs. McDougall & Brandon, grocers and provision dealers, of this village, have issued an announcement of their determination to commence the new year by changing from the credit to the cash system, and another merchant has signified to us his intention of following their example. A few years ago a regular crusade was preached against the credit system, which some one said was, next to whisky, the greatest evil with which Canada was cursed; but whether, now-a-days, the C. P. R. Syndicate is inferior to either of them remains to be proven, and the chances are that, a few years hence, it will be pronounced the worst of the three. Messrs. McDougall & Brandon have done a large and steadily increasing business; but after four years' experience they pronounce the credit system "a complete failure," and have therefore wisely resolved to make an attempt, at least, to abandon it. Of the thousands of merchants who have endeavored to make the change contemplated by our young and enterprising firm the great majority have failed to do so; but a few have succeeded, and what has been done once may be done again. The one thing useful in changing from the credit to the cash system of business is a general and obvious reduction of prices, and of this Messrs. McDougall and Brandon appear to be aware; for their first step is to announce a reduction of "fifteen per cent. on general groceries and twenty per cent. on crockery and glassware." If they mean this and adhere to it purchasers will soon find it out and will manage to pay cash for goods when they can effect so great a saving for so doing. The prices merchants are compelled to charge in order to cover the expenses and losses of the credit system are so great that they are positively ashamed to sell as cheap for cash as they can afford to; but if Messrs. McDougall & Brandon make so marked a difference as they promise in the prices of their wares, and adhere to it after the cash system is fairly inaugurated, the probability is that they will do a far more satisfactory business than hitherto, though perhaps not quite as large a one.

Orange Funeral.

The late Mr. John Kerr, Sr., of this village, having been for nearly sixty-two years a member of the Orange body, and attained to high rank therein, was buried with the usual honors, and his funeral was the first of the kind we ever witnessed. Of course only a very short notice could be given to the various lodges, but between sixty and seventy brethren assembled, some from the melancholy proceedings, and headed by the Fenelon Falls brass band, playing appropriate selections, and followed by the hearse and by a long procession of relatives and friends of the deceased in vehicles and on foot, marched to the cemetery at the head of Bond Street east. The Church of England burial service having been read by the Rev. Mr. Logan, the Orange burial service was read by Bro. Josiah Perrin, the District Master of Fenelon, after which each of the assembled brethren dropped a morsel of orange ribbon into the grave, and then, forming a circle around it, crossed hands and whispered to each other some mysterious formula of which we do not know the purport. The ceremony was impressive and interesting, especially to those who had never before had the opportunity of witnessing the funeral obsequies of a prominent member of the Orange fraternity.

Village Council Proceedings.

Fenelon Falls Dec. 29th, 1882. The Council met pursuant to adjournment. All the members present except Mr. Smith. The revee in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Moved by Mr. Sandford, seconded by Mr. Thomson, That Mr. Crandell's petition for hotel license be entertained.—Carried.

Mr. Fitzgerald gave notice that at this meeting of the council he would introduce a by-law to extend the time for the collection of taxes in this municipality.

Moved by Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Thomson, That by-law No. — be now introduced and read a first time.—Carried.

By-law read in committee of the whole and without amendment, Mr. Fitzgerald in the chair. By-law read a third time and passed.

Moved by Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Sandford, That the following accounts be paid and the revee give his orders for the same:—McArthur & Thomson, for lumber for sidewalks, $159 86; D. J. Scully, rent to 1st January, 1883, $25.—Carried.

Graham, quarrier's salary, $121; Miss McMurchy, do. $62 50; Miss McArthur, $75 00; Miss Twomey, $31 25; Miss Williams, $50; interest on note, $6 00; J. D. Naylor, expenses to J. A. Barron, Lindsay, Keith suit, $1 75.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moffat, seconded by Mr. Naylor, That the secretary be authorized to advertise for 25 cords of sawed wood, the same to be body wood, maple and beech, 7 cords to be dry and the balance green.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Naylor, seconded by Mr. Moffat, That the treasurer of the school board get an order on the village treasurer for school moneys for the year 1882.—Carried.

Gooderham.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

The weekly mail brings us news of the convention held at Fenelon Falls on the 29th ult., and the nomination for our local legislature of Messrs. Peck and Fell. Living, as I do, in this back township, I have at times an opportunity of knowing the feelings of my own immediate friends and those in some of our adjoining townships. It must be borne in mind that Mr. Peck at the last election carried everything by storm in this range of back townships; but it must be candidly admitted that he is not going to carry such a majority again. It is a well known fact that Mr. Peck has very much slighted many of his supporters (Reformers) during his term of office in many of those townships, and given all his patronage to Minden and its vicinity. He has been warned of these proceedings, and I am confident that if Mr. Fell would so modify his conservative views as to promise to vote for the Streams and Territory Bills, if elected, he would carry eight out of every ten votes in this range of townships. I am giving the voice of a good many in what I say, so that too sanguine a view should not be indulged in by those who are too confident. At the appointment of our delegate to the convention it should also be borne in mind that Mr. Peck's name was never mentioned by any one in the room. Mr. Fell has many friends among us who know him personally as well as by repute, some of them reformers, who were barely kept from voting for him last time, which would have carried many votes for him. Having always voted reform myself, I am now only giving the opinions of many beside myself.

Our municipal election has caused much acrimony among many in the manner in which the clerk performed his duties. Legal advice has been had, and should another election be held, it will be a lesson not easily forgotten by those whose duty it is to conduct business in a legal manner, especially over the flesh pots of which so many are anxious to get a share.

SOCIAL.—Mrs. W. H. Welch's ten cent social was held last Thursday evening, according to announcement, and the amount realized was $8 25.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Fenelon Agricultural Society will be held at the McArthur House, Fenelon Falls, on Thursday next, the 11th inst., for the transaction of the usual business. A full attendance is requested.

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOUR.—For some days past there has been a rumour to the effect that Messrs. Scott & Henry had abandoned their intention of building the pulp mill in this village, but on Thursday last a telegram from them was received, stating that they will be here some time next week.

M. I. CONCERT.—The directors of the Mechanics' Institute have made arrangements to give a grand concert on the 24th inst., and have secured the following amateurs: Miss Notta Martin, of Peterborough; Messrs. Galbraith, Hart, J. Devaney and B. Devaney, of Toronto, and others. Posters and programmes will be issued next week.

EARLY BIRDS.—Mr. John Quibell, of this village, has a hen canary which hatched out four young ones on Christmas eve. Two of them lived but a very short time, but the others are all right, and if one of them should prove to be a male the obvious name for him will be Santa Claus. We have called them early birds, but are not quite sure that they are not late ones.

BE READY FOR HIM.—Mr. John Fittal, collector of taxes for the township of Fenelon, has had bills printed announcing when and where he will be in waiting to receive payment from those who have not yet squared up with the municipality. He says he positively must have the taxes on the days mentioned, and that those not ready for him will have to pay costs.

ALARM OF FIRE.—About 11 o'clock this (Friday) morning the school-house was reported to be on fire, and several of our villagers hurried up Colborne St. as fast as they could go. On investigation it proved that a stove which passed through a partition put up some time ago had ignited the sawdust with which the partition was filled, and a very little water extinguished the miniature conflagration and allayed public excitement.

SCULLY'S BLOCK.—As noticed a short time ago, Scully's block in this village has been leased for a term of years by Capt. Crandell, who intends to convert it into a first-class hotel. Already he has a large stable and driving shed nearly completed and a kitchen and woodshed begun, and will next week commence operations on the block itself. The captain evidently means business, and is preparing for it with his well known energy.

THE SLIDE.—The repairs in the slide in this village were finished about the middle of last week, and Mr. Kennedy, the superintendent, left for his home in Boboyceon before we had an opportunity of interviewing him; but, from what he told us of his instructions when he came here, some weeks ago, there is no doubt that the work has been done in the most thorough manner, and that it will be a long while before more money will have to be expended on the slide.

ROUTLY'S HOTEL.—Mr. Wm. Routly's new brick hotel south of the river, is still in the hands of the plasterers, the hope that it would be ready for occupation by the 1st of January not having been realized. It was wisely resolved not to slight the work for the sake of getting it done by the date first proposed, and, at the latest, Messrs. A. and H. Brooks, the lessees, will be able to obtain possession by the middle of the month.

OUT OF SEASON.—A few days ago Mr. J. C. Fitzgerald brought us a live caterpillar—a hairy one, black at both ends and brown in the middle—which was found crawling about out of doors, and informed us that several others of the same kind had also been seen. It is certainly an extraordinary time of year for such insects to be taking exercise in the open air, and how they manage to keep their numerous feet from getting frozen we should very much like to know.

PRESENTATION.—In the Presbyterian church, last Sunday afternoon, Miss Effie McLeod, teacher of the juvenile class in the Sabbath school, was presented by the Superintendent, on behalf of her pupils, with a pair of handsome vases and a china cup and saucer. The children were too young to undertake—or perhaps to think of—an address, so that there was no need for a formal reply; but they were thanked for their kindly gift, which was a free will offering by the little ones, whom she has taught for upwards of two years, and who wished to evince the affection with which they regard her.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.—In the township of Fenelon the figures at the close of the poll were as follows:—For reeve, Daniel, 298; Palmer, 84. For deputy-reeve, Smithson, 218; Knight, 158. For councillors, Moynes, 213; Graham, 173; Hall, 199; Ferguson, 165; McIntosh, 129. In the township of Verulam the reeve and deputy were returned by acclamation, and Messrs. Braiden, Thurston and Lithgow were elected as councillors. In Somerville Mr. John Fell, Sr., was elected reeve, and the councillors are Messrs. Henry Graham, Perdue, Rumney and Suddaby. In Lindsay Mr. J. W. Wallace was elected mayor; Col. Deacon, reeve; Mr. John Maclellan, first deputy, and Mr. Geo. Ingle, second deputy. The councillors are "too numerous to mention."

A Terrible Crime.

Last Wednesday morning one of the most diabolical murders ever recorded in Canada was perpetrated at Little Rideau, Pre-est county, Ont. Ruggles W. Cooke, a venerable farmer, his wife, nearly as old, his daughter Emma, aged 35, and his son George, about 20, were butchered in cold blood by the hired man, and a son named William had his thigh cut open and the bone broken, and his sister Fannie was badly cut about the head. Mrs. Cooke and Emma were knocked down and strangled with a rope, and the old man had his head literally hacked to pieces with an axe with which the fiend then attacked the rest of the family, and which was only wrested from him after a desperate struggle, in which Miss Maggie, who escaped unhurt, figured heroically. The murderer, Frederick Mann, is a fair slim youth, lately from England, and attempted to murder the whole family because he was refused permission to accompany the young people to a party to which he had not been invited. He fled, but was followed and captured, and now lies in jail.

A Narrow Escape.

A Christmas Day occurrence that came very near terminating in a terrible disaster is thus described by the Winnipeg Star.—When the regular train which left Portage yesterday morning was nearing the bridge over the Winnipeg River the driver noticed a man walking on the structure. The train approached the bridge by a curve, so that the man could not see his danger. The bridge is too narrow to permit a person standing on one side to fall a train should pass, and it was impossible for him to reach the other side before the train would overtake him. To jump from the bridge was certain death, as the rushing waters of the river yawned beneath. The only course open was to clutch the outer board, and suspended between life and death, await the result. This the man did, and the train, which could not be stopped, came thundering on. The conductor, recollecting that the steps of the Pullman car were very low and would probably strike the man's head, rushed to the rear of the train and uncoupled the car, which, by the prompt action of the brakes, was stopped in time. The man pulled himself up and reached the other end of the bridge; but, horror! just at this instant a freight train was observed backing around the curve, and there stood the Pullman car in the middle of the bridge filled with terrified passengers, for the front part of the train had gone off. The engine of the freight train was attached to the rear end, so that it was impossible for the engineer to see the Pullman car. To leave the Pullman car was certain death, as the passengers had no means of escape, and all expected certain doom, as, notwithstanding the shouts of the train officials, the freight train came thundering on. It was a forlorn hope, but it was the only one, and quick as a flash Conductor Trodden, of the passenger train, signalled the engineer, who had gone off with the front part of the train, to come back. He saw the danger, but, true to his calling, reversed his engine and sped back over the bridge on his mission of mercy. He reached the car, the coupling was made, the lever thrown backward, and, not an instant too soon, the Pullman car and its precious load were drawn from the threshold of death. Silently and with awed faces the passengers rode to the city, each one realizing how close had been their call. The caboose attached to the freight train was also filled with passengers, but when they saw their danger many of them jumped from the car into the snow-drifts. Fortunately the Pullman car and engine were provided with patent buffers, or an accident could not have been avoided.

An Angry Tree.

(From the Peterborough Review.)

A gentleman of this place has a tree which is a species of acacia. It was grown from a seed brought from Australia. The tree is now a sapling some eight feet in height, and it is in full foliage and growing rapidly. It is leguminous, and very distinctly shows the characteristics of the mimosa, or sensitive plant. Regularly every evening, about the time the "chickens go to the roost," the tree goes to roost. The leaves fold together, and the ends of the tender twigs coil themselves up like the tail of a well conditioned pig.

After one of the twigs has been stroked or handled, the leaves move uneasily and are in a sort of mild commotion for a minute or more. All this was known about the tree, but it was only yesterday that it was discovered that the tree has in it much more life and feeling than it had ever before been credited with. The tree being in quite a small pot, one which it was fast outgrowing, it was thought best to give it one of much larger size. Yesterday afternoon the tree was transferred to its new quarters. It resented the operation of its removal to the best of its ability. Arriving at his residence about the time the tree had been transplanted, the gentleman found the house in grand commotion. On asking what was up he was told that they had transplanted the tree according to orders and the operation had "made it very mad." Hardly had it been placed in its new quarters before the leaves began to stand up in all directions like hair on the tail of an angry cat, and soon the whole plant was in a quiver. This could have been endured, but at the same time it gave out an odour most pungent and sickening—just such a smell as is given off by rattlesnakes and many other kinds of snakes in summer when tested. This odour so filled the house and was so sickening that it was found necessary to open the doors and windows. It was fully an hour before the plant calmed down and folded its leaves in peace. It would probably not have given up its fight even then had it not been that its time for going to roost had arrived.

Smoking Out Boarders.

The burning question at Montreal is whether a boarding house keeper has a right to smoke out an undesirable boarder who refuses to go. A landlord had tried every means of getting rid of two of his boarders. He had endeavoured to freeze them out—at which his other boarders untidied; he attempted to eject them by letting on the steam till the house was at fever heat—but the defenders held the fort with windows open. Then starvation was tried, but the enemy had meals sent up from a neighbouring hotel. Next the furniture was taken away. Even that did not subdue the refractory boarders, for they promptly brought in furniture of their own. As a last resort the landlord resolved to drive them out by suffocation. Taking Cayenne pepper and asafoetida, he burnt the articles in the room below and sent the fumes into the debatable territory through a hot air funnel. One of the boarders was nearly suffocated before the source of the trouble was found, and the other running down stairs found his persecutors dancing in high glee around the stove. It was now the boarders' turn. They filed an information against the other parties for conspiracy to commit unlawful acts, and the Courts of the country are to decide whether it is lawful to titillate to an undue extent the olfactory nerves of a boarder who refuses to vacate when desired. It is unnecessary to say that the whole country hangs in breathless suspense upon the verdict.—Globe.

Terrifying the Cultured.

BOSTON, Dec. 30.—During a lecture to-night by the Ford brothers, slayers of Jesse James, in one of the subsidiary halls of the Horticultural Building, a large audience was present. Some roughly offered the opinion that the Ford brothers were "no good." His reflection upon their prowess was immediately taken up by the brothers, who drew their revolvers and, brandishing them in a terrible manner, leaped from the stage into the audience. The audience stampeded, and such was the haste that many sought egress through the windows, smashing the windows to facilitate their exit. A policeman seized the brothers, who had assaulted several people with the butt ends of their revolvers. The officer finally allowed the performance to proceed upon the guarantee that the brothers would appear when wanted.

Sunday Travelling.

In the cases of the Queen vs. Fortior and the Queen vs. Daggert, convictions for running the steamer City of Toronto on the Lord's Day, the Divisional Court of Queen's Bench delivered judgment on Saturday, unanimously quashing the convictions. It was held some years ago by the late Chief Justice Robinson in the case of the Queen vs. Tuning, that to be a traveller within the meaning of the exception in the Lord's Day Act a man must be travelling on business and not merely for recreation or pleasure. This case is now overruled, and it is held that the word "traveller" includes any person travelling for any purpose whatsoever. Conveying freight is of course still forbidden under the statute.

Blowing up a Wreck.

A Waterford telegram states that shortly before four o'clock yesterday an attempt was made to blow up the wreck of the steamer Silhouette, which was sunk in the Sair, opposite Waterford Quay. The force of the explosion was such that windows in every house on the quay were shattered, and goods, furniture, etc., were scattered in every direction. Several persons were blown off their feet. The damage is estimated at about £500.—English paper.
