County Councils.
A general feeling that we are "too much governed"—that our representative bodies contain too many members and are unnecessarily costly—prevails throughout the country, and a step in the direction of reducing the number of county councillors has been taken by the publication and circulation of the following set of questions, of which we have received a copy:—

1. What is the general feeling in your municipality as to a reduction in the number of County Councillors?
2. What is your own opinion?
3. Of the following proposals for the reduction of County Councillors which would you (if favorable to reduction) prefer?
(a) Doing away with deputy reeves, each municipality having but one representative.
- (b) Increasing the number of qualified voters for deputy reeves, say from 500 to a greater number.
- (c) Dividing the County into districts and electing representatives therefrom.
- (d) Voting to each township a reeve with giving power equal to the present representation as regulated by the Municipal Act—or in other words the reeve having as many votes as the Act provides representatives from the municipality.
- (e) Having a Board of say five members, representing, not particular districts, but the whole County. If favorable to this plan, what mode of election would you suggest?—Whether by popular vote or an election by the various township councils at their first meeting, in a somewhat similar manner to the election, by Electoral Division Agricultural Societies, of representatives at the Board of Agriculture and Arts.
- (f) The election of County Councils as at present; but the appointment by them, at their first meetings, of small executive committees to transact the business of the year.

Questions 1 and 2 are easily answered, as we feel quite confident that our own opinion that there ought to be a reduction in the number of county councillors is shared by a great majority of the people in this municipality and of all others; but how best to do it is somewhat difficult to determine. Abolishing deputy reeves, and giving each municipality but one representative at the county council would strike a blow at representation by population which would certainly be opposed by thickly peopled townships. Increasing the qualification for deputy reeves would not greatly diminish their number; and to divide the county into districts or have a Board of five members would involve more elections, which are to be avoided unless shown to be absolutely necessary.
On the whole we are inclined to favour having each township represented by a reeve "with as many votes as the Act provides representatives from the municipality"; but have not yet given the subject (which presents not a few difficulties) sufficient thought to have arrived at any very definite opinion as to the best means of attaining the desired end. At any rate it seems rather premature to deal with county councils before obliterating the effects and costly Senate and lessening the number of parliamentary representatives; but the fact that the above questions have been circulated by authority of the Ontario Legislature shows that the tendency of the Reform party is to take cognizance of and redress small evils when great ones are beyond its jurisdiction.

The Scott Act.
The Scott Act has already been voted on in forty cities and counties in Ontario, and adopted in thirty-three; in twenty-four more it will shortly be submitted to the people, and we are glad to hear that Victoria is likely soon to join the number. The Act was submitted to Parliament by the Mackenzie Government in 1878 and became law, and its constitutionality having been denied, it was tested in the courts and finally, about two years ago, sustained by a decision of the Privy Council. It is a local option law, confined to cities and counties, and in order to have it submitted the signatures of one-fourth of the total number of ratepayers must be affixed to a petition, which is then sent to the Governor General in Council, who issues a proclamation fixing the day of the poll, and the election is conducted accordingly to the regulations governing elections for the Dominion parliament. If carried it does not come into force for at least five months from the day of polling, and cannot be repealed for three years. It prohibits the sale of liquor except by licensed druggists and wholesalers. Wholesalers may sell liquors in quantities of not less than ten gallons, ale and beer not less than eight gallons. They can only sell to licensed druggists or to those who will carry the liquor outside the county for consumption. Licensed druggists are allowed to sell in quantities not less than one pint for sacramental, medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes.

If for medicinal purposes, a medical certificate must be produced; if for sacramental purposes, a clergyman's certificate; if for any art or manufacture, the certificate of two magistrates. The penalties for violations of the Act are $50 for the first offence, $100 for the second offence, and imprisonment for the third offence.

There can be, we think, but little doubt that the liquor traffic is doomed, though it will die hard and not receive its final quietus until a good many years hence. It cannot possibly be more vigorously denounced than it was by the earliest advocates of prohibition; but the denunciation is crowing much more general than it used to be, and is causing uneasiness to all who make their living out of liquor. The New York Tribune says: "There is to-day in the English-speaking countries no such tremendous, far-reaching vital question as that of drunkenness. In its implication and effects it overshadows all else. It is impossible to examine any subject connected with the progress, the civilization, the physical well-being, the religious condition of the masses, without encountering this monstrous evil." Senator Morrill, on the floor of the United States Senate, spoke of the liquor traffic as "a gigantic crime of crimes"; and the London Times, in an article entitled "The Shame of the Age," says, "Drinking fills us, confounds us, shames us, mocks us at every point. It outwits alike the teacher, the man of business, the patriot and the legislator.
Every other institution founders in hopeless difficulties, but the public house holds its triumphant course." Not only the leading journals, but also many clergyman, are fearlessly denouncing the traffic, and the rank and file of the prohibition army, encouraged by the valuable assistance thus given, are working with redoubled hope and energy.
The Scott Act is at best only a half measure, but it is a great deal better than nothing at all; and the communities that adopt it are likely soon to assent to even more decisive steps for the suppression of the traffic that has proved a greater curse to the human race than war, pestilence and famine combined.

Verulam Council.
The Verulam council met as court of revision in the town hall on Monday, and having taken the prescribed oath, proceeded to business.

Moved by Mr. Fairbairn, seconded by Mr. Braden, That Alex. Logan be assessed for E₂ W₂ lot 15, con. 1 as owner, and that his assessment be lowered $100. That Wm. Martin's personal property be struck off, and that Geo.
White's assessment be confirmed.—C'd.
Moved by Mr. Lithgow, seconded by Mr. Kennedy, That the following changes be made in the assessment roll:— Joseph Platt to be assessed as tenant of W₂ lot 28, con. 6, instead of Adam Patt, and that he be assessed separately for the east and west halves of his land at $400 and $1200 respectively.
That Thos. W. Thurston be entered as owner of E₂ lot 1 con. 3. That James Rutherford be struck off as farmer's son on W₂ lot 19 con. 4. That John Edgar be assessed for E₂ lot 18 con. 4, at $1,000.
That Joseph Pogue be assessed for 20 acres of west end of E₂ lot 24 con. 3, at $150, and the same taken off John S. Pogue's assessment, and Joseph H.
Payne be entered as farmer's son. That Andrew Braden be charged from owner to farmer's son.—Carried.
Court then adjourned.

Members then went into council. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Lamb, That the collector be returned his bonds, he having completed his collection.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Lamb, That the motion of last meeting of council offering James Long $12 compensation for road be rescinded.
—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lamb, seconded by Mr. Braden, That Thomas Byrnell and Joseph Davis be notified to remove their fences off the concession line forthwith.
—Carried.

Mr. Braden, That the collector and deputy reeve be instructed to "have eight road scrapers.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lithgow, seconded by Mr. Lamb, That a by-law be read an passed appointing road commissioners with the amounts to be expended by them.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lamb, seconded by Mr. Lithgow, That the following accounts be paid, and orders drawn on the treasurer for the same: John Johnston, salary as collector, $100; James Switzer, salary as assessor, $60; J. A.
Barron, salary as solicitor, $20.—C'd.

On motion of Mr. Lithgow the council adjourned, to meet at the call of the reeve.

A SUCCESS.—Father McEvay's picnic last Tuesday at Bobcaygeon, in aid of the Catholic church there, was a gigantic success, the crowd of people present being the largest ever seen in that village. The sum of $800 was realized, about $500 of which was clear profit.

RECOVERING.—Mr. John McArthur, of Ops, who was so seriously injured by a runaway accident, as stated in last week's issue, is slowly mending, and hopes are beginning to be entertained that he may in time get about again, which a few days ago neither his friends nor medical attendants expected.

DOMINION DAY.—The first of next month will be Dominion Day, and so far there is no word of any celebration in Fenelon Falls, though we hear that the Band will probably have an excursion.
Nearly all our places of business were kept open on the Queen's birthday, and we suppose they will be on the 1st of July unless some one interested induces the merchants to sign an agreement to keep holiday.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Mr. E. Clancy will give an entertainment illustrating what is "Memorable in History, Wonderful in Art and Sublime in Nature" next Monday evening in Logram's hall.
The programme is a very attractive one, and we have no doubt that the sights to be seen will be well worth the price of admission, which is only 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under 12 years of age. For particulars see posters.

NEW ADVERTISEMENT.—Mr. Wm.
McKown, proprietor of the new furniture factory on Francis street, has an advertisement in another column, to which we direct the attention of our readers. He has a good stock of ready-made furniture on hand, and machinery and material for executing all orders which he may be favoured. He is also prepared to furnish funerals, having a considerable number of superior coffins and a hand-ome hearse.

STRICKEN BY PARALYSIS.—A few days ago Mr. Joseph McFarland received a letter from Fergus Falls, Minnesota, informing him amongst other things that the wife of Mr. John Elliott, who formerly carried on the baking business in Fenelon Falls, was last winter stricken by paralysis, and has since been unable to move or speak, although her mental faculties are unimpaired. Her terrible affliction will be sincerely regretted by her numerous acquaintances in this village.

METHODIST CHURCH CHOIR.—A very pleasant social evening was spent by the members of the choir at the parsonage, on Monday evening last. During the evening the Rev. Mr. Watch, on behalf of the church and congregation, in a very happy speech presented to Miss Sarah Jordan a very beautiful teacher's Bible, bound in Russian morocco, bearing on the first page the following inscription: "Presented to Miss Sarah Jordan by her friends in the Methodist Church, as a small token of appreciation of her services as organist and leader of the choir." Miss Jordan made a very suitable reply, and all present enjoyed the last gathering of the old choir.

Dynamitards in London.
ANOTHER EXPLOSION IN PALL MALL, DOING GREAT DAMAGE.
NEW YORK, May 31st.—A London cable letter this morning says dynamite is the sensation of the day. Egypt is for a time eclipsed and local affairs are thrown in the shade. A series of explosions occurred last evening which attracted much attention. At 9:15 p. m. an explosion was heard in the vicinity of Scotland Yard. Being traced to its source, it was discovered that one of the police headquarters, a building used as a lodging house by the detectives, had been demolished and a number of houses in the vicinity badly damaged. The adjoining Clarence square was demolished, and several cars overturned and one wrecked altogether. Some of the horses were badly injured and a policeman on patrol was seriously hurt. Two minutes later a second explosion occurred, this time in Pall Mall. This shattered the windows of the Carleton club, and considerably injured other structures in that vicinity, tearing up the roadway so that it was impassable.
Three minutes after the Pall Mall explosion a third explosion occurred in St.
James's square, a short distance from the scene of the second concussion.
This case was the reverse of all. The back wall of the Junior Carlton club building, which faces on Pall Mall, was blown in, and the splendid mansion of Sir Watkin William Wynn, M. P., St.
James's square, was partially wrecked.
Two of Sir Watkin's men servants received slight injuries. The windows were smashed, and the gas c extinguished. Eight maid servants of the Junior Carlton club were wounded by the flying debris when the rear wall of that building caved in, and they were removed to the hospital. At 9:30 p. m. eighteen slabs of dynamite, all connected with a slab which had a fuse attached, were found by the police at the base of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar square. They were conveyed to Scotland Yard and examined by Col. Stan-jeudie, inspector of explosives for the Board of Works, who pronounced them to be nitro compound. Had an explosion occurred in Trafalgar square great loss of life must have ensued, as at that hour the vicinity is crowded with frequenters and loungers. The explosion and the discovery of evidence of a widespread plan of destruction have caused great consternation among all classes.
The fact that such extensive operations could be carried on successfully in the very heart of the city in spite of the vigilance of the police gives rise to a feeling of insecurity and dismay. The number of persons in the hospital suffering from injuries caused by the explosion is twelve. A search results in the discovery that another explosion was averted in Scotland Yard by the failure of the fuse to burn. Several cakes of dynamite have been found in the vicinity, and a canister of unexploded dynamite in Scotland Yard. Sixteen packets of dynamite, with fuses attached, were found under the Nelson monument in Trafalgar square. This the police believe is of American manufacture.

A Maniac Mother's Deed.
IN HER FRENZY SHE DESTROYED HERSELF AND HER FIVE CHILDREN.
ALBANY, May 30.—Last night Mrs.
Christopher Schreiner, aged 33, while temporarily insane, cut the throats of her four children with a razor. Their ages were seven, five, and three years and nine months. The heads of all were nearly severed from their bodies.
The woman then seized her nine-year-old daughter in her arms, ran to the railroad track, and sat on the rails waiting for a train to kill them. She was horribly bruised, but conscious when picked up. She said she could not get away from her mother, who threw herself before the cars. The child died this morning. The father, a German blacksmith aged 45, is nearly crazed with grief. The couple lived happily.
The woman's insanity is said to have been due to the loss of a savings bank book.

Reciprocity with Canada.
THE UNITED STATES ADVISED TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS WITH GREAT BRITAIN.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—The sub-committee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee charged with the consideration of Representative Maybury's resolution relating to Canadian reciprocity have agreed upon a report, which will be submitted to the full committee at its next meeting. It is understood that the report recommends the adoption of a resolution expressing the opinion of the House in favour of closer commercial relations with all the States on the American continent, and that should the executive see fit to entertain propositions for freer commercial intercourse with Canada, such negotiations would be viewed with favor.

It is expected that more money will change hands on the coming Derby than in any former year.
Orders have been issued that telephones for the use of divers shall be supplied to British ships carrying such men.
In Butler, Pa., a man made a pet of a large toad, which came regularly each summer evening for a luncheon of flies, which were taken from a straw. After an absence of three years the man returned, and the toad was present to greet him, and during the remainder of the summer came for flies.

Mr. Blake and the North-West.
Hon. Edward Blake will probably make his visit to the North-West about the beginning of July. He expects to spend over six weeks here, a period that will enable him to gain a thorough and practical acquaintance with this region, which is but too little known to eastern statesmen of both political parties. Mr.
Blake's visit is an event which cannot fail to be of surpassing interest to the people of the North-West, who know that his interest in them is not of the same self-seeking kind as that which the Tory Administration feel in this country.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Cakes of Solid Silver.
A despatch from Fort William says: —Latest advices from the Rabbit Mountain silver mines received this afternoon cause great excitement in town. Cakes of solid silver ten inches long, an eighth of an inch thick and six inches wide, were brought from the mines. Quite a number of miners from the Rockies have arrived and taken up claims.
Many were in town to-day getting supplies. They state that the find of silver beats anything ever seen in the Rockies. Several capitalists arrived today en route to the mountains. They expect 200 miners from the Western States to arrive in a few days. The Rabbit Mountain mines are twelve miles south of Fort William. Men are leaving their work here and flocking to the mines.—Winnipeg Sun.

A Wonderful Old Lady.
Thomas Pennant, in his "Tours in Wales," speaks of a Welsh amazon named Margaret Evan, who lives at Penlyth. She is at this time about ninety years of age. She is the greatest hunter, shooter and fisher of her time. She kept at least a dozen dogs, killed more foxes in one year than all the confederate hunts do in ten; rowed stoutly and was queen of the lake; ridded excellently and knew all old music; did not neglect the mechanical arts, for she was a very good joiner, and at the age of 70 was the best wrestler in the country, and few young men dared to try a fall with her. Margaret was also blacksmith, shoemaker, boat builder and maker of harps. She shod her own horse, made her own shoes, and built her own boats while under contract to convey copper up and down the lakes. All the neighbouring barbs celebrated her exploits. She had many admirers, but gave her hand to the most effeminate of them.

Mr. Chamberlain and Shipowners.
The London (Eng.) correspondent of the Toronto Globe says:—At last Mr.
Chamberlain has made his long looked for speech in defence and explanation of his Merchant Shipping Bill; and it was certainly a great speech in length if in no other respect. For it occupied three hours and three-quarters, during the whole of which period the President of the Board of Trade continued to pour upon his hearers a perfect torrent of facts and figures, without even pausing once for a sip of water. But even Mr.
Chamberlain's bitterest critics admit that he laid his case very forcibly before the House, and that he showed very good cause for the position he has taken up. Some of the facts mentioned produced a sensation. For instance, statistics demonstrate that in twelve years one seaman out of every six employed is lost, and that as the average working life of a seaman is 24 years, the chance of not perishing at sea in that time is only one in three. Facts such as these have impressed both the House and the country, and will secure public sympathy for Mr. Chamberlain's cause. Mr.
Chamberlain is aware of this, for he has made arrangements by which large numbers of a verbatim report of his speech—the first edition is 10,000—will be freely distributed throughout the country. The shipowners, who are extremely irate at the speech, will be not a whit less active, and a very keen struggle between the two parties may be expected. Mr. Chamberlain is the last man in the world to yield until compelled. But considering the state of public business there is very little chance of his bill being added to the statute book this year, unless the autumn session, which is already being talked of, should become a reality. Next year, if he does not succeed this, he will make another attempt, and it will be surprising if the future leader of the Liberal party, as he is pretty generally regarded, does not be successful in the long run.

Mr. Mowat's Mission.
(From last Saturday's Globe.) The Hon. Oliver Mowat sails from New York to-day for England to argue the Boundary case before the Privy Council. He has given to it a great deal of study during the past four years, and since the close of the last session of the Legislature has been engaged almost continuously in preparing and arranging the matter in the case, which has been printed in an appeal book, and forms a large quarto volume of over nine hundred pages. It contains a perfect mine of old treaties, despatches, maps and documents. The work of preparation has been very laborious, but with the Attorney-General it has been a veritable labor of love. Of that work the Province will now reap the benefit, and whether the issue be successful or not our interests are certain of able and thorough advocacy. Those interests are Provincial, and it is satisfactory to know that all parties are now identified with their success. For ourselves, we have little doubt of the result, for equity and justice, as well as interprovincial good faith, are upon the side of Ontario, and these joined to able advocacy will again, we feel certain, secure another victory before the Privy Council.

This Province is fortunate in having had during all those constitutional disputes as guardian of her interests at the head of the Government so able, long trained and industrious a statesman as the Hon. Oliver Mowat. With him no time has been too great, no trouble too onerous, and no work too severe, if only the interests of his Province could be guarded, maintained or secured. And consequently all classes of our people, however they may differ from him in political or other questions, have the most implicit confidence in his honesty and integrity, his sturdy industry and high principle, and we feel assured that irrespective of party there are no hands into which the citizens of this Province would so confidently place a matter which involves the title to half our territory, as into the hands of Oliver Mowat. Not merely a party, but the Province, wishes him success.

M. de Fonville has suggested the following method of detecting infernal machines:—All luggage to be placed on wooden tables supported by iron feet, but not nailed to them. A microphone to be placed on each of the tables, when any ticking or other noise proceeding from the luggage would at once become audible.
