Bear Hunting.

The chief occupation of the troops in the Northwest just now appears to be hunting Big Bear, fighting mosquitoes and looking for shady places, the heat being already so intense that several of the men have fainted, while others have been sunstruck, but not dangerously. B. B., according to late reports, has been seen in two or three different localities, and it is now hoped that he will soon be surrounded and cornered; but he may yet give his pursuers the slip, which would be a circumstance much to be regretted, as he will probably give a good deal of trouble in the future if not run down and captured.

The Canal.

Last Wednesday the temporary bridge across the canal was raised and shifted about forty feet on to the finished portion of the lock walls, in order to allow the other part to be completed, which it will be by about the last of July. The bridge was first lifted so that grouted sticks of timber could be put under it, and then, by means of a derrick at one end and horses, ropes and pulleys at the other, it was slid the required distance without much difficulty. There are at present about fifty men employed on the canal here, and half that number at the Bobaygeon quarry preparing stone, which is towed up to the Falls in scows by the Mary Ellen, which a few days ago spunkily broke through the boom that attempted to stop her. The lock gates, for which everything is now ready, are to be put in by the Government; but when a commencement is to be made upon them we are unable to learn. The heaviest mason work yet to be done is on the north side of the upper lock, where a double wall is to be built to divide the canal from the raceway; but Mr. Macdonald expects to have it completed within about six weeks. Above the locks the canal has a very rough appearance, but as the greater part of it is already the required depth, and blasting is steadily going on, it will not take long to reach the river, where the approaches to the canal were constructed last year. Whether the canal will or will not be finished this season we are unable to say, but are inclined to think that there will be some work to be done to it in 1886. Mr. Macdonald has no doubt about getting through with his contract before winter; but the lock gates and the swing bridge are not in it, and so far, we have no word of a commencement upon them being made.

A Letter from the North-West.

Some weeks ago we published an interesting letter from Mr. E. A. Hall, of the Midland Battalion, to his cousin, Mr. Walter Stevenson, and below we give another, which will no doubt prove more interesting still, as it relates chiefly to the battle at Batoche, in which "Archie" appears to have been an active participant, and must have had several narrow escapes from the enemy's bullets.

PRINCE ALBERT, N. W. T., May 20, 1885.—Dear Walter: I have not heard from you for ages. Since I wrote you last I have gained a medal and clasp for the battle of Batoche, which lasted four days. We had been skirmishing and shelling the houses the first three days, and the fourth we charged on their rifle pits with a cheer and took everything before us. My company and another out of our battalion took the lead in the charge and of course had the brunt of it; then we extended with the 90th Royal Grenadiers. My company got too far in front in the charge, so we had to wait until the remainder caught us up, and then we got it. We had to lie down to be shot at. My two right hand men were shot, two brothers, a lieutenant and a corporal; I can tell you I said my prayers then; there were about six non-commissioned officers shot all a round me. The half-breeds always aim for those who have some badge or emblem. There was only one private shot in our battalion, though we had but two companies in the engagement. I am proud to say it was our company who released the prisoners in Batoche. The poor fellows were all copped down in a cellar with a trap door, and from the door to the ceiling Riel had put a scolding, and a heap of stones, so there was not much chance for them to escape. Riel is something like the Mahdi; his flag is a large sheet of calico for the background, and the head of our Saviour with the crown of thorns in the centre. It was sickening to see the dead lying around, and the men looting the houses; they turned everything upside down, and took everything they could carry. I got a box of moccasin needles, sort of three cornered affairs, for a memento. We occupied Batoche that night and the next day, and during that time the half-breeds brought in their arms and surrendered; we made them prisoners, and the leaders of them will be hanged I think. We captured a magnificent horse there, belonging to Riel; the General appropriated it for his own use, and he now rides it. We marched from Batoche to Gabriel's Crossing, where we camped. The next morning it was reported that Riel and Lapine had returned to Batoche, so a party of mounted scouts and the Gatling gun were sent back to take them. When they arrived they found them with a large mob of half-breeds; the captain threatened to turn the Gatling on them if they did not give Riel up, so they gave him up, after seven of them were killed. They have sent him to Regina with a strong guard, so that ends the half-breed rebellion; but now we have some trouble to settle with the Indians back at Batoche, where we start for soon, I believe. Some of the 90th Winnipeg boys go home to-day. Prince Albert is a place of two thousand population.

General Middleton said after the charge we had made him the proudest man in Canada.

With love to all,

Your affectionate

Archie.

Battleford, N. W. T., May 26, '85.

We came here from Prince Albert, by the steamer North-West. It is the prettiest place we have struck yet, and good land. To-day Poundmaker has come into camp with his council and is now holding a big "pow-wow" with General Middleton and staff. I don't know yet what he will do, but I think he will bring in his arms at the sight of the Midland Battalion. Yesterday we were reviewed by the General, and twenty-one shots from the cannon were fired in honor of the Queen's birthday. Write if you get a chance.

E. A. HALL.

Building Operations.

Although our village carpenters, masons and bricklayers are not at present quite so much driven with work as they have been in some seasons, but few if any of them need be idle, as there are enough new building going up to keep them all moderately busy. The largest is the new school-house south of the river, which is now up to the first story. It is of stone, 45 feet long, 32 feet wide and 27 high. The contract was let to Mr. Inkpin, who is building the walls, and the carpenter-work is being done by Mr. Edward Haw. The contract price is $2,500. On Louisa street Mr. Henry Austin's house is rapidly going up and will soon be roofed. The white bricks of which it is being built are of the very best quality, and are being laid by Mr. John Tucker; Mr. Haw has the carpenter-work. The main building is 24 x 34 feet and 17 feet high at the eaves, and the kitchen is 16x21. As there is a bow window and a good deal of ornamental brick-work in the front, it will be a handsome as well as a comfortable residence when finished, and will cost about $1,300. A little further west, on the high corner lot next to Mr. Manning's, Mr. Broad has just finished the foundation of a snug frame cottage for Mr. A. St. George. It is to be 27x21 feet, one and a half stories high, and the contract for the carpenter work has been let to Mr. W. C. Davis. At the corner of Bond and John streets and fronting on the former, a frame dwelling, 18x24 feet and a story and a half high, is being built for Mr. George Quibell by Mr. Samuel McCutcheon, and will be finished before long, as the roof is already on. It will be either clapboarded or covered with tongued and grooved lumber, and will probably cost about $400 without the kitchen, which is to be added after awhile. The next lot is owned by Mr. McCutcheon, who intends to commence a house for himself as soon as Mr. Quibell's is off his hands. On John street Mr. Thos. Henley is putting up a nice little house for his own use. It is on a stone foundation, measures 18x26 feet and 15 feet to the eaves, and is ready for lathing. The building erected on the main street by Mr. John A. Ellis for the Mechanics' Institute has just been finished, and will be fit for occupation by next week. The main building, below which is an excellent cellar, measures 20x41 feet, and is divided to suit the requirements of the Institute, and there are five rooms above. There is also a good-sized kitchen with a covered porch, and the whole is plainly but substantially built, the cost being about $750. If there are any other new buildings to be erected this season we have not yet heard of them; but the above are not bad for a village like this in a dull year.

INSTITUTE REMOVAL.—On Monday next the removal of the Mechanics' Institute from Jordan's block to Mr. Ellis's new building will be commenced; and as it will be impossible to issue books on Tuesday, and perhaps not until the following week, a double allowance will be given out to-day, (Saturday) so as to prevent members from being inconvenienced by the removal.

A BIG DAY AT LINDSAY.—A three-sheet bill in red and blue from the office of the Lindsay Post announces that they are making preparations for a wonderful time there on Dominion Day, the 1st of July. Life is too short—to say nothing of our space being too limited—for us to give the programme, which contains everything that could be crammed into the bill without bursting it or using smaller type; and there can be no doubt that it will draw a tremendous crowd to the railway will issue return tickets from all points at one fare.

Persons in want of Photographs should call at my gallery on Francis street, Fenelon Falls, where they can be taken in all styles by the instantaneous process and beautifully finished. Prices lower than ever.

K. B. SVLVESTER.

S. S. PICNIC.—A Sabbath School picnic, in connection with the Bethel church congregation, will be held in Mr. Thos. Junkin's grove on lot 18 in the 2nd con. of Verulam on Thursday, the 25th inst. From 3 to 5 p. m. after which addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Messrs. Steele and Adam, of Bobaygeon, and Watch and McGregor, of Fenelon Falls. There will be swings and other amusements, and music by the Fenelon Falls brass band. Tickets for adults, 25 cents. Sunday school children free; other children under 12 years old, 15 cents.

A HEAVY HALF-DOZEN.—At Scott's hotel, Kinnmount, on Wednesday last, the following individuals happened to meet together: Gilbert Scott, (the landlord,) Searl Scott, Charles Scott, Wm. Dunbar, all of Kinnmount, Jas. Switzer, of Bobaygeon, and James J. Power, of Fenelon Falls. The whole six being unusually heavy men, the conversation naturally turned on weights, and after a while they went to a scale to see how they would pen out. Dunbar weighed 250 lbs., G. Scott, Power and Switzer 221 lbs. each, C. Scott 212 lbs., and S. Scott 208 lbs.; making an aggregate of 1,333 lbs. and an average of 222 lbs. If Messrs. Switzer and Power went to Kinnmount to live, how that little village would brag.

FINED.—On Thursday of last week Adam Stockdale, a labouring man who lives in the township of Fenelon, went home drunk and abused his wife so badly that she took refuge in the house of Samuel Hill, a neighbor. Her husband followed, and in the course of the squabble that ensued struck Hill, who next morning came to the Falls and took out a summons against Stockdale for assault and battery. As Stockdale decamped as soon as he found that he was likely to get into trouble, all Constable Neilson could do was to leave the summons at his house, and on Monday morning the case was disposed of by Mr. Dickson, who fined the absent defendant $10 and $37.00 costs, but he will have to be found and captured before he can be made to pay the amount or work it out in jail.

BAD ACCIDENT.—Last Saturday Mr. McKone, of the Fenelon Falls tannery, met with an accident which will probably leave a scar on his countenance for the remainder of his days. While he was engaged cutting cordwood in half at a circular saw driven by the tannery engine, the steam got too high, and a stick or part of one, Mr. McKone doesn't know which, was thrown from the saw and struck him with such violence that a deep gash was cut over his left eyebrow and down both sides of his nose, the bones of which were broken. He was partially stunned, but not knocked down; and when he recovered he went to the house and sent for Dr. A. Wilson, who sewed up the wound. We met Mr. McKone, (fancifully decorated with sticking plaster) on Thursday, and he expressed great thankfulness that the accident was no worse, as he might have been killed, or had his eyes knocked out. He said that he knew the saw was running too fast, and meant to slack its speed, but thought he would cut another stick or two before doing so.

THE CROPS.—The weather prophet who predicted that the summer this year would be cool and wet will be able to boast, no matter what change may take place, that his prophecy was correct up to middle of June. So far there have only been a very few really hot days; but, although the nights have frequently been exceedingly cold for this time of year, the average temperature has not been low enough to seriously check vegetation, and the rains have lately been so frequent and abundant that the crops as a whole promise a good yield. Any individual farmer's report depends, of course, upon his temperament and the nature of his soil; but we have interviewed a considerable number and are satisfied that if the coming harvest is not a fairly plentiful one it will be on account of drawbacks that have yet to occur.

An Acute Hearer.

One of the most attractive men on the streets the other day was John Henry Grimes—not, however, because he is particularly handsome or that he has a wonderful figure, yet the latter is large and well proportioned, and his face is far from being homely, yet nature had been lavishly extravagant in his make-up. Mr. Grimes had two ears on either side of his head. Those in front are of ordinary size and well formed. Those in the rear are smaller and partially overlapped by the ones in front, yet they seem perfect in their structure. Mr. Grimes was born in Nova Scotia and is 37 years of age. Many physicians and scientific men have been puzzled at his extraordinary hearing facilities, but could account no more for them than for other deformities that come under their observation. He states that he has been subjected to many experiments, and they have demonstrated that he could hear equally well with each of his ears, and with all four open he was of the opinion, as were others who knew him, that he possessed the most accurate hearing probably of any one living. Mr. Grimes said the matter had long since ceased to worry him, though it attracts undue attention. On account of his ability to hear everything it was suggested that he become a reporter. But he discarded the idea.—N. Y. Journal.

Strange and Doubtful Story.

QUEBEC, June 15.—A woman named Mrs. Dubois, living in St. Sauveur, the adjoining municipality to Quebec, claims to be a proper name in Blouard Lambert, son of Louis Lambert, farmer, and Marie Frochette, of St. Nicholas, county of the post laureate, L. H. Frochette. She states that when Edouard was twenty years of age he left St. Nicholas for the United States with two friends. Nothing was heard of him by his family for twenty years, when a letter was received stating that he had been taken prisoner by the Cree Indians, and that they guarded him so strongly that he was unable to escape. After that it is stated that by acts of bravery he won the admiration of the braves, and was consequently obliged to accept the daughter of the chief as his squaw. Upon the death of the chief he was chosen to succeed him by the tribe. To substantiate the above, Madam Dubois states that one of Edouard's brothers subsequently visited the Northwest, and recognized Big Bear being his brother. He said Edouard was very rich and had two daughters being educated in a convent. He adds that the identification is unmistakable from certain life marks which, despite the Indian paint, were discernible.

A Very Strange Family.

Several Kingstonsians, below Gannaque, came across a very remarkable family, consisting of two men and two women, brothers and sisters. They have a magnificent farm, the house being built upon the back end. The main road leads to the residence. The family live much by themselves, and it is said that at least two of them have not been beyond the confines of the farm for 30 years. One, the business manager, only goes out in the spring and fall when he sells his grain and butter. The family are wealthy. Neighbors told the visitors to be cautious in approaching the house, as they might find themselves shut out, the inmates being shy. One man went first, and catching the family, kept them engaged until the others arrived. Everything about the place was neat and clean.—Kingston Whig.

Railway Disaster.

STOUC CITY, June 13.—An accident on the Sioux Falls line of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul road, a small station across the line in Dakota. There were two passenger coaches, baggage, and mail cars. The train was going at nearly full speed when struck by a cyclone. Every car was blown from the track, and the engine partially so. There were between sixty and seventy passengers in the cars, and most of them miraculously escaped with slight injuries. L. M. Scott, express messenger, was internally injured, and an old couple whose names were not learned, were also severely injured, but not fatally. Nearly every passenger suffered from scratches, bruises or contusions. The storm was very severe, and telegraph wires were prostrated in all directions.

A little girl in one of the New Orleans orphan asylums was recently stung by a bee on the ball of one of her eyes, the sting causing the sight to be utterly destroyed. The physician in attendance states that he never heard of a similar case.

No man can tell how a jury will "flop" is a cardinal point in the law. Two liquor cases were tried by Marshalltown, Ia., the other day, in which the evidence was exactly the same. One of the accused was fined seventy-five dollars and the other was acquitted.

How "Pure" Cider is Made.

Major Cotton continues in The Voice his revelations about adulterations. Concerning cider he writes:—The juice of the apple? Oh, no, not at all; but this is the way it is made. My friend Smith says he avoids all intoxicating bar drinks, and drinks nothing but pure cider, such as he can get at any respectable bar in New York. Here it is: 10 gallons soft water, 1 1/2 gallons spirits, 1/2 gallon glucose or syrup, 2 ounces each of acid, 1 ounce each malic and citric acids, 1 quart brewer's yeast. It is left to stand and ferment, being stirred occasionally. One hour after fermentation ceases, it is ready for use. How many drops of either of these acids do you suppose a man could put in his stomach and live? And this is pure (?) cider.

There are 700 Chinese scholars in twenty-nine New York Sunday schools.

The Daily News announces that the King of Denmark has been agreed on as arbitrator between Russia and England.

A huge saw-fish measuring twenty feet in length, including the saw, which was five feet long, was lately captured in Galveston Harbour.

The success of Fred Archer, the English jockey, is said to be due to his picking out the winning horse before he mounts him.

Snowflakes are being grown in Dakota for fuel. The stalks are hard as oak and make as good a fire, while the heads, which are cut off and used separately, burn well, being full of oil.

Two infants were carried a distance of several hundred yards by the recent Iowa cyclone, and landed uninjured. One of them was found under a board pile, and the other was stripped of all its clothing.

Paris is cleared of rats by her Municipal Council offering a premium for their skins. Two years ago the premium was $3 per 1,000, but it has lately been raised to $10 per 1,000, in order to get the city cleared of the pests. The kid-glove makers utilize the skins, buying them from the city.

Princess, the beautiful panther in the Toronto Zoo, gave birth to four of a family on Sunday, making the manager quite happy, and about four hundred dollars better off. These are said to be the first born in captivity in America. There will no doubt be a good many new families in the new buildings.

There is a man near Bowdon, Ga., 85 years old, who has lived 56 years at the place and in the same house where he now lives; has been married three times, raised 22 children, has never had the measles, has never had a pair of boots on his feet, never was sued, never sued anybody else, has served 30 years as justice of the peace, and never had a judgment reversed or sent back on him for a trial.

At Buxton, in England, lately, a man who was ill began to recover, but conceived the idea of simulating death when the doctor came and was able to persuade the doctor that he was dead. A certificate was accordingly made out. The man arose, shaved off his beard and became "the brother of the defunct," registered his own death, and was well on his way to foreign parts when his trick was found out.

"Well, how foolish! Why don't you go to Wm. E. Ellis's Drug Store, Fenelon Falls, and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning? It cured me in less than one minute. I always keep a bottle in the house. It only costs 25 cents."

James Brayley, Hamilton, says: "I read the testimonials for McGregor's Speedy Cure, and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value; we have plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was as bad with Bilious Fever and indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well, and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than I ever expected to be. Free trial bottles at Wm. E. Ellis's Drug Store, Fenelon Falls.

If you should be so unfortunate as to suffer from the above named ailments, the proper thing to keep clean and heal it is McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Insist on having, and be sure you get, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Price, 25 cents. Wm. E. Ellis, Druggist, Fenelon Falls, has the genuine.
