His True Inwardness.

Since Bro. Sam Hughes (in an evil hour for the peace and quietness of Lindsay) obtained possession of the Lindsay Warrior, that delectable sheet has caused many an unpleasant sensation; but it never contained anything that made so profound a stir in religious circles as the following brief "confession of faith," which appeared in last week's issue:

"As a matter of fact, if the aim of religion be simply to reach Heaven, then any of the old heathen forms, or Mahometanism, Buddhism, etc., will land the sin-struck soul in the happy hunting grounds just as satisfactorily as will any form of Christianity or the modern paganism—Romanism. The only practical value belonging to either Christianity, or Romanism, or Mahometanism, or Buddhism, is the benefit conferred on mankind in this world of sin and misery. One is as good as the other in the next for the pious believer."

"If Sam had been a Mussulman," (as the song says) or anything but what he is or professes to be, he would not have surprised his Christian readers by promulgating the above doctrine; but to think that, while pretending to be not only a Protestant, which is the most advanced kind of Christian, but an Orangeman, which is a sublimated Protestant, he held the views he has at length expressed, is a staggerer indeed. For years he has been howling away at Romanism in a fashion worthy of the direct descendant of the Protestant who wrote on the wall or gate of an Irish city: "Turk, Jew or Atheist may enter here, but not a Papist"; and now he expresses the conviction that Romanism as a religion is of exactly the same value as Protestantism, Mahometanism, Buddhism or ancient paganism. "The only practical value belonging to any form of religion," he says, "is the benefit conferred by it on mankind in this world of sin and misery"; and, consequently, he must profess Protestantism because he believes it to be the most valuable religion to profess. In other words, he is a Protestant "for revenue only." Verily, the Devil of discord and deceit he serves must have deserted him, or he would never have exhibited his true inwardness as he has done. There are probably many persons who hold the same views on religious subjects as Bro. Hughes, but he is the only one of the number who has the effrontery to arise and pose before the world as a champion of Protestantism.

A Centenarian Gone.

A few days ago Mr. Archibald Scott, of the township of Snowden, departed this life at the advanced age of 105 years, retaining his senses to the last. His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. J. G. Dean on Wednesday evening. Mr. Scott was born in county Cavan, Ireland, and came to this country 75 years ago. He leaves one son, Mr. John B. Scott, and three daughters, to mourn his loss. Particulars concerning individuals who so far exceed "three score and ten years" are always of interest, and a short biographical sketch of the subject of this brief notice would be acceptable to us and to our readers. It goes without saying that deceased must have been blessed with an exceptionally good constitution, and we have no doubt that he was temperate in all things and spent the greater part of his time working in the open air. Some years ago the Toronto Globe, or a writer therein (we forget which) asserted that, whenever strict enquiries concerning the age of an alleged centenarian were made, it was found that there was no record of the date of his or her birth, which, being involved in the mists of obscurity, was believed to have occurred at a more remote period than it really did; but, in the county of Victoria alone, several persons have died within our recollection whose lives were known to have exceeded one hundred years. There can be no doubt, however, that very old persons become proud of their age, which they are apt to exaggerate, and an amusing instance of this is said to have occurred in an almshouse in Scotland. Among the inmates was an extraordinarily old woman who, upon being asked her age by some visitors, raised her wrinkled face and replied in a quavering voice: "I dinna rightly ken; but I'm a thooosan', at any rate."

New Buildings.

So far, all the new buildings we hear are to be put up in this village during the coming summer are the handsome residence for Mr. Joseph McArthur on the Umphrey lot on the west side of Colborne street, and a terrace of two houses for Mr. Wm. McArthur, who has bought the property immediately north of Dr. A. Wilson's, and intends to pull down the small rough-cast house at present thereon. Both the new buildings are to be of brick, two stories high, and finished in fine style. Mr. Joseph McArthur's will measure 30 x 35 feet, with a wing 16 x 46 feet. will contain 36 windows and 45 doors, and have two full bay windows reaching from roof to foundation. Its estimated cost is $6,000. Mr. Wm. Jeffrey, of Cannington, has the contract for the brickwork, and Mr. E. Haw, of Fenelon Falls, the contract for the carpenter work. Mr. Wm. McArthur's terrace will be 50 feet deep and have a frontage of 56 feet. Its cost has not yet been closely estimated, nor has the contract for it been let, but the carpenter work will probably be done by Mr. E. Haw. The first mentioned building, for which some of the materials are already on the ground, will be commenced as soon as the weather becomes sufficiently mild; the bricks for the terrace were purchased a few days ago and will shortly be forwarded to the Falls.

SERIOUS FIRE.—On Friday, the 1st inst., about 1 a. m., Mr. James Billett, of this neighborhood, was aroused from sleep by hearing a great crash, and found himself almost suffocated by smoke. Hurrying from bed, he started down the stairs, but found the kitchen in a roaring flame. Breaking a window in the upper part of the house, he and his oldest son with difficulty rescued the other members of the family, having to drop them on the snow beneath. Nothing was saved except the clothes from one bed, the family even losing the greater part of the clothes they wore the day previous. Had they remained in-doors five minutes longer, they would probably have gone down with the building. Sorrow for Mr. Billett and his family is expressed through the whole community.

CHIPS.—Mr. Thornburg, of Toronto, has been visiting friends in this neighborhood.... Roads are not improved by the sunshine, and consequently upsets are becoming quite fashionable.

Baddow.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Mr. Wm. Burton had the misfortune to receive a severe cut on his face below his left eye, by a springing pole, while working in the woods last Wednesday.

Misses Jennie and Maggie Potts, of Toronto, are visiting their friends here. The annual tea meeting of the Baptist Church will be held here on Tuesday, March 12th. A good programme will be provided, and a generally first-class time is expected. Tickets 25c.; children 15c. All are cordially invited.

FINED.—On Monday last all our village hotel-keepers were up on a charge of having violated the provisions of the Scott Act, and each was fined $50 and costs.

ST. JAMES'S CHURCH.—The subjects of Rev. J. G. Dean's sermons in St. James's church next Sunday will be: In the morning, "Preparation," and in the evening, "The Danger."

ELLIS'S MILL.—Notice is hereby given that the above mill will commence running early next week. Parties who have left custom logs at the mill, without saying how they are to be cut, are requested to call and give instructions at once.

RECOVERING.—Among the persons injured at the railway accident near St. George, about ten miles from Paris, Ont., on the 27th ult., was Mr. James Hyslop, of Hamilton, brother of Mr. John Hyslop, of this village. At first it was feared that his injuries would prove fatal, as his back and breast were crushed, and a deep gash extended across the back of his head from ear to ear; but on Wednesday morning last Mr. John Hyslop received a telegram informing him that his brother had slightly improved during the night, and that the doctors were beginning to have hopes of his recovery.

TWO PETS.—Mr. John A. Ellis has two pets—a black squirrel, which he caught in his barn a few days ago, and a large horned owl that could take the squirrel like a pill if he got the chance. Mr. Ellis says the bird is of the kind commonly called a "cat owl," and he is prepared to bet that the one he has will take all the nine lives of the fiercest tom-cat as soon as he (the owl) gets hungry.

ENTERTAINMENT AT BOBCAYGEON.—On the evening of Wednesday next, the 13th inst., an entertainment will be given in the town hall, Bobcaygeon, in which some of the best dramatic and musical talent of the Falls will take part, and we can assure the residents of Cayceon and its vicinity that they will get the full value of their money if they attend. Admission, 25c.; children 15c. For full particulars see bills.

FUNERAL SERMON.—The funeral sermon of the late John Welsh was preached in the Presbyterian church, Fenelon Falls, by Rev. Wm. Lochhead, on Sunday morning last. In this case the minister was not—as is too frequently the case—under the painful necessity of either avoiding all allusion to the deceased, or exceeding the truth in speaking of him, or of offending his relatives, as the late Mr. Welsh was an honest man, possessed of many estimable qualities, and highly thought of by all who had opportunities of learning his character and disposition.

TRUE BLUE TEA & CO.—The members of Maple Leaf True Blue Lodge No. 42 have reason to feel satisfied with the well-deserved success of their tea and entertainment last Friday evening, as the receipts amounted to $72 35, nearly $60 clear of all expenses. A card of thanks in this issue proves how grateful the "boys" feel for the assistance rendered them on the occasion. It is now an admitted fact that Fenelon Falls possesses amateur dramatic and musical talent of a high order, and can, without external help, get up an entertainment that is sure to be liberally patronized.

The Mail and the Jesuits.

It is reported from Montreal that the Jesuits are to bring suit against the Mail newspaper for libel, claiming $50,000. If this is properly handled it will be the best thing that ever happened the Mail. To be sued by such a society on such a charge will not only open the way for the Mail making publicly a brilliant defence of its position, but clever counsel, and no doubt the newspaper will retain the cleverest men that can be got, will find an opening for the display of their talents which rarely falls to the lot of the legal big-wigs. What a field to gather evidence from, and what grand possibilities in the way of evidence it presents. The magnitude of it will remove it from the list of ordinary occurrences and raise it to an affair of national importance, and the Mail should and will not lack the full support of the people, particularly of this Province. There is a great principle involved, and once begun it certainly will not end in the Quebec courts, and it may be the first step towards bringing about the reforms which the Mail advocates. If the Pope was uneasy a few weeks ago at the feeling which the Jesuit Bill had aroused in Canada, he will have reason to be doubly so when he hears that the Jesuits have taken the ill-advised step of suing a newspaper for the expression of opinions, particularly when he estimates the damage which will be done to his cause. There is certainly some interesting reading ahead for the Mail's subscribers.—Toronto News.

Departure From Peterborough.

PETERBORO', March 4.—Dr. Kincaid, who has been for 20 years a successful practitioner in Peterborough, and who represented the West Riding in the Local Legislature for two terms after the death of W. H. Scott, surprised the public by quietly taking train for the Western States yesterday morning. An attempt to combine fancy farming with medical practice resulted in financial embarrassments, and he anticipated suspension of payment by going West. The amount of his liabilities is not known, but they are supposed to be large.

The custom of tolling the bells of steamboats while passing Grant's grave on the Hudson River has been adopted by a few boats, in imitation of the custom among steamboat men on the Potomac when passing Washington's grave at Mount Vernon.
