The Jesuit Question.

The Jesuit question has become the question of the hour, and we do not hesitate to say is presenting an alarming aspect. We urge a calm and dispassionate consideration of the subject. If it be illegal, let us know it; if not illegal, let it be known; but let us avoid bitterness of feeling, and, for God's sake, let no one imbibe the disturbing and evil pervading spirit of the Warder. His Protestantism is but veneering, as indicated beyond cavil by the article from the Warder which we published two weeks ago, and his evolutions on the Jesuit question are like the wriggings of the pollywog. First he wanted the bill disallowed; then it could not be disallowed; then it ought to be disallowed; then it must not be disallowed, for the effect on the Government might be serious. Then if the vote goes for disallowance after all it will not mean non-confidence. But the climax of childish idiocy is reached when he argues that, because Minister of Justice Thompson reported favorably on the Quebec Bill, Sir John must not be held responsible. In illogical trash thrown at a suffering public the Warder last week surpasses itself. But what can one expect? His enthusiasm when in Mowat's procession, on the Ontario premier's return from England, made him fancy himself entitled to an office; but his chagrin at Mr. Ross not agreeing with him as to his fitness so riled him that he became a tory and then joined the Orange Lodge, and because he knows that Mr. Barron knows him, no ill-bred reference to Mr. Barron is too unrefined for the Warder's pen. But to the question. We hate intolerance, come from whence it may. The age for throat-cutting intolerance has gone by, so let the Jesuit question be approached as any other important subject should be, calmly and dispassionately, without rancour or ill feeling. Mr. Barron has become conspicuous, as he was who first made reference to it in the Honso, and the provincial papers speak of him as leading upon the subject from the Liberal side. The Government are credited with putting up Col. O'Brien to forestall Mr. Barron's notice of non-confidence, as they did not wish the attack to come from a source where it could not be controlled. By the Hamilton Times Mr. Barron is reported to have said that he felt no displeasure at being forestalled, but that if Col. O'Brien failed in doing the right thing, he would act, for "it has got to come," he said. Knowing Mr. Barron as we do, we feel he will approach the subject with decision, yet with calmness. The Globe's articles from the Law Journal and Law Times point to but one conclusion, that the Bill is unconstitutional, and, though no lawyer, we grant there is strong indication that the introduction of the Pope's authority into the Act becomes a dangerous infringement upon the rights and prerogatives of the Crown. How Sir John Macdonald, with his record for disallowing Ontario, Manitoba, and other Provincial legislation, could hastily affirm and approve of the Bill in question, is one of those mysteries which can only be explained by believing that he had not the backbone to battle against the exigency of the occasion. There seems to be no doubt the Government will be sustained, for its followers will be whipped into line, while the Liberal side may maintain, or wish to maintain, their unbroken record of non-interference with provincial legislation. The vote, however, will single out those of independent thought, and distinguish those who have the courage of their convictions.

Rev. C. W. Watch will deliver an interesting lecture in Dickson's hall next Friday evening. Go and hear him

Mr. Barron's Frankness.

We find the following under the above heading in the Ottawa Evening Journal of Monday last:
Mr. Barron was interviewed by a Journal reporter. He said: "Colonel O'Brien will press his resolution and there will be a big debate."
"What does the Liberal party think of the Globe's summersault?" asked the reporter.
"I'm sure I don't know," he replied with a smile.
"Judging from the expression of your countenance, Mr. Barron, you are not very sorry," ventured the interviewer.
Mr. Barron smiled harder, in fact he laughed heartily as he continued, "Do not be deceived, young man. I have got no common countenances. It is one of those don't-give-away countenances. I can smile though plunged into the depths of sorrow. My countenance anon can wear an expression of sadness tho' I am consumed with thrilling joy. It may also create the impression that I have been on a spree, but recollect I am not a drinking man."

A Good "Send Off"

The Dufferin Post gives a full report of a farewell banquet, at Mono Mills, to Mr. R. M. Mason, V. S., on the eve of his departure for Fenelon Falls. Although the weather was very unfavorable, about 150 persons, including several ladies, were present, and Mr. Mason was presented with an address, of which the following is a copy:

To Mr. R. M. Mason, V. S.
DEAR SIR,—You have contemplated leaving this community for some time, and now, having decided to go, we take this most convenient opportunity of bearing testimony to your many good traits of character, and the estimation in which we hold you for the many valuable services rendered us both professionally and otherwise. It is with the deepest regret that we have to say good-bye to one whose absence will be deeply felt. While your departure from Mono Mills seems to us a great loss, yet we realize that the section of country to which you are going will feel the gain of your presence with them. Mr. Mason, you have made many warm friends in this neighborhood, whose wish was that you should remain longer with them, but you have decided otherwise. During a term of five years practising amongst us your marked ability in your profession and success in your practice have merited the confidence and esteem of all with whom you have come in contact. We have all known you from boyhood, and your social habits, genial manner and stability of character have won for you a strong and popular feeling in this vicinity. You have also filled positions of confidence and trust, and by your honesty and integrity you have gained the lasting confidence of all. You have always, willingly and energetically, assisted in whatever work you found to do. We regret exceedingly that we are called upon to part with you; our farewell wish is that true success may ever attend your efforts. We beg of you to accept this surgical instrument as a slight token of our esteem, knowing that the pleasure it may give you in receiving is not greater than that which we enjoy in bestowing. We also extend our greetings to Mrs. Mason, and wish to present her with this silver cruet and pickle dish as a slight token of the esteem in which she is held in this community. We part from both of you with feelings of the deepest regret. We hope that, in the new home to which you are going, you may find many true friends, that you may both be long spared in your changed sphere, and that you may long enjoy a large measure of happiness and prosperity.

Mr. Robert Cain, of Midland, was on the train from Lindsay last Saturday, but he got off at Cameron, where he owns a farm, and did not come on to the Falls.

Miss Scott, of Orillia, left for home last Saturday, after a fortnight's visit to her cousin, Mrs. James Dickson.

Mr. D. M. Carson and Mr. William Tripp, of Lindsay, were at the Falls last Monday.

Mr. John A. Campbell and Mr. Hugh McKay, both of Kirkfield, were visiting friends at Fenelon Falls on Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Campbell is paymaster and Mr. McKay tie inspector on the C. P. R. extension.

Balsam Grove.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

The debating society this week held their meeting at John Copp's on Wednesday, 13th inst. The question of the evening was: "Which has caused most misery to man—War or Intemperance." The captains were John Brown and D. Inrie, and Mr. D. Brown acted as chairman. The meeting was opened by a piece of instrumental music, followed by a dialogue by W. John Copp and Vincent Dewel. The speaking was good, and strong points were brought up on both sides. The judges gave their decision for Intemperance. A dialogue entitled "Marrying a poetess" was given by nine young ladies and gentlemen. The meeting was closed by vocal and instrumental music.

Mr. Joseph Chyneth is visiting his friends at Balsam Grove.

Mr. Heaslip's shanty is breaking up this week.

ST. JAMES'S CHURCH.—Rev. J. G. Dean's subject next Sunday evening in the above church will be, "The Deliverer." Service will be held every evening during Lent, commencing at half past 7 o'clock.

LUMBER SALES.—Messrs. Greene & Ellis and Mr. John A. Ellis have, we understand, sold nearly all the shipping lumber left over from last year, chiefly to parties at Osego. Mr. Ellis commenced forwarding some days ago, and eight carloads left his yard Thursday morning.

COMPLIMENTARY.—The Port Hope Daily Guide says:—"The Rev. Mr. Herron, of Canton, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church Sunday morning. The sermon was an excellent one. This young man will yet make his mark. He preached in Mill street in the evening."

AUCTION SALE.—On Tuesday, the 2nd of April, Mr. J. J. Power will sell by public auction, on the west half of lot 18 con. 4 of Verulam, all the valuable farm stock and implements, household furniture, and a quantity of good pine lumber and plank, belonging to the estate of the late John Ellis. Nine months' credit on purchases over $10. Sale to commence at 12 o'clock noon. For particulars see posters.

W. C. T. U. "AT HOME"—The "At Home" held in Dickson's hall last Friday evening, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was a most enjoyable affair; the refreshments, music, &c., were excellent, the address by Rev. Mr. Fraser was appropriate and well received, the recitation by Principal McDougall was admirable, while the carrying out of the whole programme of amusements left nothing to be desired, and it is to be hoped that the ladies will give just such another evening sometime in the near future.

MISSIONARY SERVICES—Two missionary addresses were delivered by Miss Frith, of Cocanada, India, in the Baptist church here on Sunday morning, and on Monday afternoon especially to the Women's Mission Circle. Her addresses were listened to with great interest, and there was a good attendance on both occasions. Miss Frith proposes returning to her mission field in the autumn of this year; but meanwhile she is engaged in speaking of the needs of the Tobogus and their system to the churches in Ontario.
