

A team of Parsee cricketers, Bombay, India, will probably visit Canada this year.

In Montreal O. Valois, druggist, was fined $75 for selling laudanum without a label on the bottle.

Floods prevail in the west of England. Railway traffic in parts of Austria is stopped by storms.

There is a town in Arizona called "Aching Tooth." It ought to grow, because there is nothing to stop it.

It is said that the Marquis of Lorne is to be Governor of Ceylon at $40,000 a year and board. Princess Louise will go with him.

A Denver robber succeeded last Friday in frightening the president of the First National Bank of that city into filling out a cheque for $21,000, having it cashed and leaving in safety with the money.

Colored Minister (from the pulpit)— "As the air of the church seems chilly, I would ask the sexton if he will kindly close the front doors and windows of the building. The collection will now be taken up."

Scotland has a gold fever, the discovery of a bit of gold in the gizzard of a duck recently killed on a farm in Forfarshire having been followed by the finding of gold-bearing quartz in the same neighborhood.

As affording some idea of the amount of light gold now in circulation in London, it is stated that recently a financier accepted £1,000, largely made up of half-sovereigns, and, on the amount being weighed at the bankers, it was found to be short by £19.

A Minneapolis young woman, while accompanying her lover to the Court House to get a marriage licence, detected that he had been drinking. In a kind but determined way, she told her admirer that she could not marry him, and they separated then and there.

Mme. Patti has received a gift from the wife of President Diaz, of Mexico. It is a Chihuahua dog, whose strident bark is singularly disproportionate to its size, as the animal unclipped weighs about three-quarters of an ounce less than one pound avoirdupois.

Chicago is now boasting of a baby born within its corporated limits who has six upper and four lower teeth. If more babies would have the presence of mind to start on their mortal career with teeth they would save themselves and their immediate relatives a good deal of worry.

A python over twenty feet long crawled upon the deck of the Norwegian ship Birma at Singapore a short time ago, and routed everybody that attacked it until the whole crew combined, and, by attacking it on all sides, succeeded in pinning it to the deck with a harpoon. The snake weighed over 89 pounds.

The head of a family in St. Louis has a curious hobby, according to the Globe-Democrat: "Coming here in 1863, the folks occupied a house numbered 1,863 until the first of 1864, when they moved to another street and into a house the number of which corresponded with that of the year. This move has been kept up, until now the family has got settled down in a residence indicated as 1,889—street."

A Washington Territory paper perpetrates the following:—A hog got into a place where several kegs of nitro-glycerine were stored and filled himself from one of the kegs. The porker afterwards wandered into a stable which contained about 40 horses. The hog got to fooling around the horses' hind legs when one of them gave Mr. Hog a good kick. The concussion started the business, and not a single vestage was ever found of the hog, of a single horse or of the stable.

Two Texan women are the largest individual sheep owners in the world. One of these, the widow Callahan, owns 50,000 sheep, and when a long train of waggons starts out each spring and fall for market, loaded down with the wool of her sheep, it is a sight worth seeing. The other is Mrs. Rogers, the great herd owner of Southwestern Texas, who is worth about a million dollars. Mrs. Rogers owns no carriage, preferring to ride on horseback in the free and easy style of the cowboy.

Talk about bluebirds and robins being harbingers of spring, the old-fashioned frog lays over them all. He is modest and unassuming, and doesn't make any pretensions to be a weather prophet, but gets there just the same. He can't boast any brilliant plumage, and doesn't fly as high as his feathered rivals, but when it comes down to good solid horse sense he takes the cake. When he tunes his little pipe and begins his merry-go-round of melody, you can bet your winter clothes he won't get left. This lovely child of melody knows a good thing when he sees it, and never begins operations till spring has been on hand a couple of weeks.

To Those Whom It May Concern.

I positively will refuse to carry any account of any one who does not square up last year's account in this month of February.

Men whose common sense ought to teach them that the storekeeper is entirely depending on them for the means to pay his own debts, are showing much culpable indifference whether they pay their accounts or not.

Thanking those who have squared up, and hoping for a continuance of their favors.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH HEARD.
