A Child's Fearlessness.

Little May Clancy, the two or three year-old daughter of Mr. Wm. Clancy, of the City Hotel, in her innocence and childish fearlessness, put herself in a most perilous position and caused her father a most fearful suspense on Friday. She was playing around the house and went to one of the front windows facing on George-st., which was open, and fearlessly stepped out on the twelve or fourteen inch ledge which runs along the front of the building about fifteen or twenty feet from the sidewalk and started to walk along, little dreaming of how near she was to death, for had she fallen to the sidewalk below the chances are she would have been instantly killed. Her father, who was standing below with a number of gentlemen, saw to his horror the child standing looking down with a smile on her face, and calling to her to stand where she was, he rushed upstairs. The men working on the market excavation and those who were passing stood in suspense, expecting every moment to see the child come tumbling down. Just as her father reached the open window the child slipped and fell, but happily she did not roll off the ledge, and was snatched by her parent's arms and taken inside to safety.—Peterboro' Review.

Instant Death.

A fatal accident occurred at the Little Bob mill on Monday. Robt Harlow, aged about 15, years was engaged to attend to the sawdust or refuse carriers that run in the basement of the mill.
Between three and four in the afternoon he was seen playing with another lad who was engaged on a somewhat similar job, and on being noticed he went to his post. Exactly how the accident occurred is not known as no one was present, but a short time after he was last seen Mr. Thos. Gage happening by was startled to find the boy lying dead on the platform. It is supposed that in loosening some pieces of slabs he got caught by the carrier and had his head jammed against a beam near which the carriers passed. The head was crushed on both sides and death must have been instan-taneous. He was buried on Wednesday.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

During the peanut harvest in the South, everybody, from pigs to people, gets fat. They are not known there as peanuts, but as goober peas, and a raid into a goober patch has about it all the delights of a water-melon raid. It is related that a Southern gentleman, catching two small black children among his goober vines, called them by way of punishment Goober Dan and Goober John. The boys, however, living to be proud of it, adopted it as their family surname, and to this day the descendants are known as the Goobers.

Crop Prospects in the States.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The weather during the past week was favorable for all growing crops in the North-west, central valleys and New England, but the drought continues in the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, where the reports indicate that all crops are greatly in need of rain. Cotton and small fruits have been doubtless more or less injured. Insects are increasing rapidly and gloomy prospects are generally reported. The crop prospects have been greatly improved in the states of the Ohio valley by timely rain, but some damage resulted to fruits in this section from frosts which occurred on May 23. Throughout the states of the corn and wheat belt the weather for the week improved the condition of the principal crops, although frost caused some damage to early corn and vegetables in Minnesota. Excessive rains and cool weather over the Middle Atlantic States injuriously affected small fruits and tender vegetables, but generally improved grass and grain.

Cheese and Live Stock.

The cheese industry is likely to be of great dimensions this year. The season thus far for grass has been propitious, and the factories are turning out large quantities of cheese. Prices in consequence have shown a tendency to decline; and it is just as well, in fact better, for all that they should decline now instead of later in the season.
The cattle export trade is now under full swing. Large numbers of cattle are on their way to Montreal from almost all parts of this Province. A good many stall-fed beasts have sold at 4 1/2 to 5c per lb., which is slightly lower than the past few seasons. Buyers are more careful this year, and there are fewer in the business owing to the poor financial results of late years. A quiet, steady trade seems to be anticipated.
Western States cattle are very low as well as freights from western points, and our farmers need not expect to get big prices this season.

About the Queen.

An English correspondent says:— The Queen was seventy yesterday.
When she went to Sandringham lately some gossips would have it that she was preparing for abdication in view of the present anniversary. As a matter of fact, however, nothing is further from the mind of the Queen. She is in splendid health, and there is not a finer specimen of womanhood in the three kingdoms. She never ails anything, never has a pain or ache, and her mind is probably keener than it has ever been—which is saying a vast deal. Ab-dication is not in the Royal dictionary, and folks who are so anxious to see a new Court arrive—the new Court being the Marlborough House set—will have to bide patiently—possibly for another ten years. There is really no apparent reason why the Queen should not reign longer than George the Third.

A Russian navy officer has invented a method of searching the sea or coast by night, which does not reveal the position of the ship. A mortar fires a buoyant shell containing a compound which ignites on reaching the water and lights up the surrounding area.

William H. Campbell, an old-fashioned Democrat, who has been Postmaster in a Vermont town for four years, has just stepped out, and his wife, a 'staunch Republican,' has been given the commission, while William becomes Assistant Postmaster. Take it all in all, it is as nice a little arrangement as the times have turned up.

At High Ridge, near Stamford, Conn., there is a wife who is the mother of fourteen children, all living, and none of them twins. All but two live at home, and these two, catching scarlet fever, went home to be nursed. They gave it to the other dozen, and the whole fourteen were sick at once, and medicine had to be mixed in pitchers and bread pans.

It is announced that a means of phe-nomenally rapid transit for parcels has been devised. An overhead rail, double flanged wheel and a car with an electric motor constitute the apparatus. The speed secured is almost incredible, and its owners look forward to a revolution of the mail-carrying and express business. Edison is credited with having said that it is the greatest conception since the telegraph.
