Powles's Corners.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Mr. John Gillis has leased the house and lot owned by Mr. Joseph Cooper, and will swell the population of Fenelon Falls for an indefinite period of time. He will make a good citizen.

Harvesting will soon be at an end for this season, and the farmers will have no reason to grumble if they take everything into consideration.

Mrs. Wm. Parrish is visiting her sister, Mrs. Luke, at Oshawa, and is expected home soon.

Miss Annie McCallum, of Fenelon Falls, is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Powles.

Mr. S. J. Simms, who is teaching in Ops, took a skoot down home on his bicycle on Friday evening the 6th, and returned on the 8th.

DENTAL.—Don't fail to call on Mr. Neelands at the McArthur House, Fenelon Falls, on Tuesday, Sept. 17th. He will have a complete gas apparatus for extracting teeth.

Baddow.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Threshing is all the rage here at present. Mr. R. Price, of Burnt River, is here with his steamer, but his run will not be large, owing to the separator not being in good order. The machine owned by Eade & Son has been purchased by W. Eade & R. Graham, who have had it thoroughly repaired and intend to start at once. It will probably give good satisfaction with the No. 1 hands who now run it.

Mrs. Crew, of Toronto, is visiting her parents and friends here, and Miss Annie Bertram is home again, after spending some time in Toronto.

Mrs. Thomas Robson presented her husband with a fine young daughter last Monday morning.

Personals.

Mr. Elias P. Smith is again at the Falls.

Mr. Thomas Petrie, of Bobcaygeon, was at the Falls on Tuesday.

Miss Maggie Jordan left home on Monday for the Ladies' College at Whitby.

Mr. Duncan Clark, now of Cobden, came home for a few days on Wednesday last.

Miss Ida Heeley, who went to Toronto on the 20th of last month, got home on Wednesday last.

Mrs. M. H. Cochrane and Miss Bertha Cochrane, of Peterboro', are visiting at Mr. Thos. Robson's.

Miss Annie Robson returned last Wednesday from Lindsay, where she has been visiting her relatives.

Miss Susie Wilson (daughter of Dr. E. S. Wilson) left last week for the Collegiate Institute at Lindsay.

Mr. Christopher Tugman is spending his summer holidays at home. He came from St. Catharines on the 5th inst.

Mr. J. G. Bannerman, of Bradford, spent a couple of days last week at the Falls with his friend Mr. J. R. Frost.

Mr. David Green is dispensing dry goods, groceries, etc., in "the corner store"; but he expects to return to Lindsay before long.

Mr. Robert Hunter, of Lindsay, and a gentleman from Toronto, passed thro' the Falls last Tuesday, on their way to camp out somewhere near Cobocok.

Mr. Neil Clark, of Cannington, (eldest son of Mr. A. Clark of this village) came to the Falls last Friday and was accompanied by his wife and three children. That night there were no fewer than seventeen persons in the old gentleman's house, as his daughter, Mrs. Campbell, of Texas, and her little ones are still here. Mr. Neil Clark and his family left for home on Saturday morning.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To Mr. Thomas Hopkins, Superintendent of St. Peter's Sunday School, Verulam.

DEAR SIR,— It has been my intention for some time to address a few words to you in reference to the origin of the troubles that exist in St. Peter's congregation. You are aware that, some years ago, several parties wanted to avail themselves of the benefit of the Sunday school, on their own terms, namely, the expulsion of the Church Catechism from the school, on the ground that it teaches false doctrine, especially on "Infant Baptism." When I resisted this movement, having at the same time expressed my willingness that any one might attend the school who was willing to accept its teaching, the school was removed from the church to the public school house and was managed by those who triumphed. The Church Catechism is a public document, and may be discussed, criticised or defended, as the case may be, by those who are so minded. It is my duty to defend, and in so doing I am far from arrogantly asserting that I am right; I only wish to give the reasons on which I believe, and the Church of England generally and nineteen-twentieths of all Christians in the world believe Infant Baptism to be a scriptural doctrine. I have been asked to explain the following part of the catechism, which I intend to do in a few short letters addressed to yourself:

Question.—"What is required of persons to be baptized?"

Answer.—"Repentance, whereby they forsake sin; and faith, whereby they steadfastly believe the promise of God made to them in that sacrament."

Question.—"Why, then, are Infants baptized, when by reason of their tender age they cannot perform them?"

Answer.—"Because they promise them both by their sureties, which promise, when they come to age, themselves are bound to perform."

All admit that belief or faith is necessary to the reception of baptism, and it appears to be clearly grounded on this text: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."—Mark 16, 16. This argument, standing alone, would be an end of all controversy on the subject; but in the case of infants it proves too much and consequently proves nothing. If an infant cannot believe for the reception of baptism, neither can he believe for the attainment of salvation. "Believe on Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." If the first argument that keeps infants from baptism be correct, the second, being like unto it, must be correct also, and the only logical deduction that can be drawn from it is that those dying in infancy cannot be saved, because they cannot believe. This, however, is a horrible conclusion, at which few would care to arrive, and especially in the face of our Lord's declaration that "of such is the Kingdom of God." That they were infants is indicated by their names in Greek, and proved by the fact that they were brought to Christ; they did not come of themselves; and that Christ took them up in his arms. Not only is it declared that infants are fit subjects for the kingdom of glory, but it is also declared that they that would enter that kingdom must become like them: "Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."—Matt. 18, 3. If, then, infants are fit subjects for the kingdom of glory, who hath given us authority, even if it were a thing desirable, to exclude them from the kingdom of grace—the Church of God in the world?

Yours very truly,
WM. LOGAN.
Fenelon Falls, Sept. 10th, 1889.

The Brotherhood are Silent.

To the Editor of the Fenelon Falls Gazette.

SIR,—

I have looked in vain through most of our local papers, for an answer to my last letter. I felt certain that if there was anything in it worthy of rebuke, Bro. Fairbairn would have taken it up, not merely as an individual Orangeman, but as the County Master—leader of that illustrious body; for when something was said that lacked of truthfulness, Bro. Fairbairn was not only into print, but out at a public meeting ready to devour the writer of such an article. Not even has Goliath, the great Protestant champion of Victoria, said anything to refute the charges; we may then safely conclude that my charges of the week before last contained nothing libellous. If Bro. Fairbairn wishes to be consistent, he will either drop his connection with the Orange society or stop supporting those who are only making a tool of the Order, for it is impossible for an Orangeman to be, in this country and in this day, a steady supporter of any one political party; he should first look to the principles of the Order which, by solemn oath, he has bound himself to support. If he refuses to do this he fails to perform the part that God has endowed him with over the brute creation; he fails to use his agency of intelligence; he fails to understand and be benefited by the literature of our day, and his reasoning powers are not exerted to comprehend the position he has been placed in; and so he sinks to a level with the animal that is controlled by bit and bridle. Why should man, who either through confounded stupidity or so obstinately stubborn, fail to see the errors his party has led him into as compared with his allegiance to the Order he owes his first duty to? If Orangeism has any mission to lift it above the level of mere cabal, it is that of defending British and Protestant civilization against the assaults of Jesuit aggression and political intrigue. It is brought fairly in the face of the enemy, who advances with the banner of aggression flauntingly unfurled in open and triumphant defiance of Protestant rights. How do we find the Orange elected champions of Protestantism and liberty now acting? Have the Samsons of the Order come out boldly in support of the object of the Institution? Let those men look into their heart for the real motives of their conduct. Let the Orangemen snap the fetters which have hitherto bound them to Torisim; let party be cast to one side. Parades are well enough for show; now is the time for action, and may it be on all men as Johnston puts it, "On darkling man in pure effluence shine, And cheer the clouded mind with light divine."

Yours truly,
A. Q. ST. GEORGE.

When the Austrian Emperor saw the review at Spandau he learned for the first time that the smokeless powder which was used to such effect had been invented by an Austrian apothecary and offered to the Austrian Government, but had been declined.

One of the most surprising features of the business world is the large use of cotton seed, formerly considered worthless. Over 800,000 tons of these seeds are now pressed for their oil; from 36 to 40 pounds being obtained from each ton. The consumption of cotton seed oil is increasing both in this country and in Europe, and new uses for the oil are constantly being discovered.

Archdeacon Farrar's fervid plea for the establishment of an order of mendicant monks in the Episcopal Church in England and the United States meets with a very chilling response from the church organs. After mercilessly ridiculing the whole idea, the Churchman says that if even such an order were desirable, it could not be founded by a well-paid, well-fed archdeacon.
