was taken as soon as possible to Dr Wilson's office in this village, where, after chloroform had been administered, the wounded fingers were dressed and the little sufferer made as comfortable as possible. This (Friday) morning, at M. Robert Jacket was descending from his waggon, he laid his hand on the hind quarters of one of his horses, and although he spoke at the same time, the animal kicked, striking Mr. Jacket on the leg, and breaking both bones below the knees. Dr. Wilson is in attendance upon the sufferer.

Mr. Gladstone Talks.

AN ADDRESS ON THE CONDITION OF THE WORKING CLASSES.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Mr. Gladstone made an address at Chester on Saturday on the condition of the working classes. He contrasted the English workman's position to-day with that of 50 years ago, showing that during the half-century there has been an increase of 50 per cent. in wages, while the cheap food and clothing now obtainable are better than heretofore. He urged English workmen to study the history of the American Revolution. He claimed that it was by and from this country that a love of freedom was sown in America. England now in return reaped advantages from the American vindication of those principals of freedom which animated the Revolution. The system of government in America combined that love of freedom, respect of law, and desire for order which formed the surest elements of national excellence and greatness. It was no extravagance to say that, although there were only 2,000,000 of people in the thirteen States at the time of the Revolution, the group of statesmen that proceeded from them were a match for any in the whole history of the world and were superior to those of any one epoch. Their fortunate appearance was undoubtedly due to well-regulated muscular freedom.

Henry Labouchere.

HOW THE GREAT CYNIC AND EDITOR OF TRUTH LOOKS AND TALKS.

Mr. Labouchere is thus pictured in the New Review: "The smoking-room of the House of Commons is his shrine, and there, poised in an American rocking-chair and delicately toying with a cigarette, he unlocks the varied treasures of his well-stored memory, and enunciates the far-reaching principles of his mild philosophy. His voice is pleasant and his utterance deliberate and effective. He has the keenest possible eye for absurdities and incongruities, the keenest insight into affectation and bombast, and an admirable impatience of all the moral and intellectual qualities which constitute the bore. He is by no means disposed to be overawed by a great reputation, and is apt to analyze the personal and political qualities of great and good men in the Liberal ranks with an agreeable frankness which would probably astonish those strenuous politicians who have already elected him by acclamation to the reversion of the Radical leadership."

A lion riding upon the back of a horse has been the chief attraction at the Paris Hippodrome the present season. It drew immensely and the receipts exceed $500,000.

An antiquarian of New York asserts that George Washington's ancestors came originally from Roscommon, Ireland, where the name has been indigenous for over three hundred years, and is at the present day very common.

Farmers living in the vicinity of a corn cob pipe factory are exceptionally fortunate. Although many millions of cobs are burned or allowed to rot every year, the price for pipe making purposes keeps up. A farmer living near Washington, Mo., recently sold 100 bushels of corn for $30 and got $27 for the cobs. This is at the rate of 57c. a bushel, and, if only sufficient Missouri meerschaums were smoked to make the demand larger, farmers would soon be rich. Corn cob pipes are manufactured by a very simple process and are in fair demand all over the country. Some were recently shipped to Europe, and more were ordered soon after their arrival.
