INSURANCE.

THE ROYAL CANADIAN INSURANCE Co. issues by far the best Farm policy in Canada.

JOHN AUSTIN,
Agent.
Fenelon Falls, June 12th, 1890. 17.

ROYAL CANADIAN

INSURANCE COMPANY,

vs.

THE LONDON MUTUAL,

FOR FARMERS.

The Royal Canadian offers the following advantages over the London Mutual:

1. If a building worth $1200 is insured for say $1000, the Royal Canadian is obliged to pay $1000, if a loss occurs. In such a case the London Mutual is obliged to pay only two thirds of the cash value, or $800.

2. If a horse worth $90 is killed in the fields by lightning, the Royal Canadian is obliged to pay $90. The London Mutual pays only $60.

3. For a cow worth $30 killed by lightning the Royal Canadian pays $30. The London Mutual pays only $20. For other animals the Royal Canadian pays the full value. The London Mutual pays not more than $5, no matter how valuable the animal may be.

4. In the Royal Canadian animals are insured against lightning while at pasture anywhere. In the London Mutual they are insured while pasturing on the premises of the insured only.

5. When articles are insured specifically, such as musical instruments, the Royal Canadian is obliged to pay the full amount insured up to the cash value of the article.
The London Mutual pays only two-third of the cash value, no matter what the insurance may be.

6. When "ordinary contents" of out-buildings are insured by the Royal Canadian ALL implements are included. In the London Mutual only one reaper and one mower are included, no matter how good others may be.

7. When the outbuildings are not joined to each other the Royal Canadian insures under one sum the "ordinary contents" of all building not cut off by a distance greater than 40 ft., the same as if the contents were all under one roof. The London Mutual requires a separate sum on the contents of each building, if the distance is more than 12 ft. This is a very important difference in many cases.

8. In the Royal Canadian it is a part of the contract that standard STEAM THRESHERS may be used without a special permit and without any restriction as to the distance from stacks or buildings, caretakers, pails of water, kind of fuel or direction of the wind. Many of the policy holders in the London Mutual were obliged to run their own risk while threshing last season, because it was found to be impossible to comply with the conditions of their permit.

9. When a farmer pays for insurance he should secure a policy which will hold him safe when it is most required.

10. The Royal Canadian is obliged to pay its losses within sixty days and usually takes much less. The London Mutual need not pay for ninety days, and since it has become so hard up as to be obliged to borrow money largely, it usually takes about the full time allowed.

11. The Royal Canadian policy is subject to the statutory conditions only. It has none of the numerous variations against the policy-holder printed in red ink on the back of the London Mutual policy.

12. As to security, the inspector of insurance reports that the Royal Canadian has $202,758, the amount he estimates to be necessary to enable the company to carry out all its engagements with its policy holders. Besides this he reports that it has to the good the $400,000 capital paid in cash by the shareholders, and a net surplus of $117,607 making in all a total cash surplus of $517,607 to protect its policy-holders against unexpected contingencies. In addition to these cash items it has a subscribed capital of $160,000 not called up. Regarding the security of the London Mutual the inspector reports that the amount of unearned premium it should have on hand is $290,309. To make up this amount in cash a second call would have to be made on the premium notes for a large amount, leaving a surplus of only $74,218, even if there were no bad debts, and this surplus is made up wholly of the unpaid balance of premium notes already heavily assessed.

The company reports the losses adjusted but unpaid at the close of the year at $6-387, but the Inspector of Insurance finds that the liability for unpaid losses at the end of the year was $20,286. The cash on hand to pay these losses only amounted to $13,911.

In view of the foregoing facts farmers will have no difficulty in deciding as to the company in which they should be insured.

A Curious Mania.

A curious story is told of a divorce case which is about to come to trial at Providence. The wife of Rev. Charles Weston, a Wisconsin minister, has been married nine times inside of eight years, has not been divorced or widowed once, and has always had Rev. Mr.
Weston as the bridegroom. It all happened in this wise:—Mr. Weston was first married at Millbrook, Wis., by a Methodist minister, and Europe was selected as the honeymoon. When in Dublin Mr. Weston discovered that the person who married himself and bride had not been ordained by "apostolic imposition of hands," and so, to make the union ecclesiastically perfect, it was necessary to have another ceremony, which was held in St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin. Later, much to his horror, Mr. Weston found that St. Patrick's was once a Roman Catholic church, and though repaired it had never been re-dedicated. This led to a third ceremony on board the returning steamer by a Presbyterian. The desire to have his marriage a perfect one in the religious sense has been Rev.
Mr. Weston's mania. He has been through Baptist, Unitarian, Swedenborgian, Spiritualist and other forms. But his wife, who at first mildly demurred, has become weary of playing the part of bride in so many different sects, and seeks a secular relief from religious bondage in the courts. Thus Rev. Mr.
Weston finds in the seeking of an inviolable and sacred marriage bond he has compassed his own marital undoing.
He, however, writes his wife—made so by nine different weddings—that he has found that none more, the Congregational form, has the truest endorsement of heaven, and begs her to return from her flight and accept his forgiveness.
Mr. Weston will, of course, contest the suit, since to be actually divorced before he had been once properly united in marriage would be very intolerable.

He Thought He Had'em Sure.

A Georgia man, Mr. Evans, stood in the Girard cafe, Philadelphia, preparing to mail a letter, and had just moistened two one-cent stamps when they slipped from his fingers and fluttered to the floor. Mr. Evans, who is a portly man, looked at them in disgust and then stooped to pick them up. Before he could put his fingers upon them, however, they began to move slowly away from him along the floor. He drew back and gazed at the spectacle with astonishment and terror. When they reached the side of the room they began slowly to ascend the wall. It is to be hoped that Mr. Evans is not given to drink, but he hastened to the bartender at this point and begged him to feel his pulse.
When he returned the stamps had risen half-way to the ceiling and were still gliding upward. Happily for Mr. Evans' sanity, the bits of blue paper just then altered their course and began to descend, and soon they were within reach of his hand. Then the mystery was explained. The moistened stamps had fallen upon a fly's back and had stuck to the insect, which naturally enough started off with them.

A Grate Fire is Also a Fire.

What is a fire? is the question which a Paris court was recently called on to decide. The Countess Fitzjames had had all her effects insured by the Union Fire Insurance Co. for 685,000 francs.
In the list of jewels covered by the policy was a pair of pearl earrings valued at 18,000 francs and insured for 10,000.
One afternoon the Countess while dressing knocked the earrings accidentally from the mantelpiece into the open fire. Despite her strenuous efforts with shovel and tongs the jewels were destroyed. She recovered the gold, valued at sixty francs, and demanded from the company 9,940 francs indemnity for the loss of the pearls. The company refused to pay a cent, on the ground that an ordinary grate fire was not the kind of a fire contemplated in the insurance policy. The Countess appealed to the courts, and got a decision in her favor.
The Judge held that "an insurance against fire was an insurance against all kinds of fire—that was, insurance against any loss caused by any flames."
