Uneasy Lies the Head.
THE TERROR-STRIKEN AND REVENGEFUL CZAR.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Advices from Russia represent the Czar as taking new precautions for the protection of his person. None except Cabinet Ministers are admitted to an audience without the presence of an officer of the guard, and the eastern custom of tasting food before it was placed on the sovereign's table has been revived after having been in disuse since the days of Emperor Paul. The Russian autocrat seems suspicious of everyone around him, and even his favorite advisers are said to dread interviews with him. The recent attempt to wreck the train on which he was supposed to be riding has greatly added to the Czar's terror and moroseness, and he is known to have given orders for the immediate deportation to Siberia of a large number of persons arrested on suspicion of having been connected with the act. Among these unfortunates are two sentinels whose duty it was to guard that part of the line where the obstruction was placed. They were sentenced by the court martial to be hanged, but they have had their doom commuted to a lingering death in the mines. Three peasants who were arrested near the spot have been terribly knouted, one of them fatally, although there is said to be no ground whatever to suppose them guilty of any connection with the train wrecking. The two others, half dead, had their lives spared for the time in order that a confession might be extorted from them. The wife of the peasant who died under the knout went mad when she heard of his fate. The further statement is made that Nihilists are active and that the friends of the victims of Siberian massacres do not mean they shall go unavenged.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—Thirty arrests have been made in connection with a workman's political movement. The prisoners have been secretly examined by the police department. In the interior others have been arrested charged with the manufacture of bombs.

Death of Mrs. Gen. Booth.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The wife of General Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, died yesterday.

The deceased lady was the General's help meet in a deeper sense than the word is generally used. She was intensely attached to the Salvation Army and its work. In fact her labors have been so abundant that her health has several times given way under the severe strain. She was a graceful, earnest and pathetic speaker, a writer of no mean literary ability, and had the sympathetic gift in a high degree. She won friends for the Army in the higher ranks who would not have been secured through the equally-enthusiastic but illiterate advocates. Many of the features of the Salvation Army work were of her origin, notably the Prison Brigade, the work among fellow-women, girls refuges and cognate missions. Mrs. Booth travelled many thousands of miles, and has spoken in all the principal cities of Great Britain and some of the European Capitals. So widespread have the operations of the Army become that in all quarters of the globe thousands will regard the death of the General's wife as a personal loss. Her articles in the War Cry were highly prized.

The engineer of the British steamer Pictou at Liverpool, from Wilmington, N. C., is suffering from a disease said to be cholera.

A Washington correspondent mentions the fact that a nickel mine in Nevada has been found so rich that it may offer serious competition to the Sudbary mines.

A very successful sale of timber berths in the Rainy River and Thunder Bay districts was held last week by the Crown Lands Department of the Provincial Government.

Two Roman Catholic priests from Europe hired by Bishop Ireland as teachers in the Catholic college at St. Paul, Minn., have been detained at Philadelphia under the contract labor law.

Several Toronto Separate School Trustees, taking advantage of a provision of the Liquor License Act, have made a strong protest against the granting of a license to a saloon near one of their schools.
