The Fenelon Falls Gazette.

The Budget.

On Tuesday Mr. Foster brought down the budget, the chief feature of which is the repeal of the duties on raw sugar, which will somewhat lessen the price of the universal sweetener, but still leaves the refiner protected to the extent of four-fifths of a cent per pound on refined sugar, or not far from $2,000,000 a year on the total amount consumed. To make up for the loss of the sugar duty, Mr. Foster proposes to put a cent a pound on malt, to add 20 cents per gallon to the duty on distilled spirits, and to impose an excise tax of 5 cents on tobacco as well as to increase the duty on the "weed." As all the sums derived from these sources will fall far short of the loss on sugar, the balance will have to be otherwise made up or retrenchment must be practised in some direction or another. The Ministerialists set up a rousing cheer when the repeal of the sugar duties was announced; but they sat mute as mice when Mr. Foster was compelled to reply in the negative to Sir Richard Cartwright's question whether he meant the House to understand that all the duties on sugar were to be abolished. However, "half a loaf is better than no bread," and we are quite satisfied to have the duties on liquor and tobacco increased if the price of such a necessary as sugar is thereby lowered. The Government promise economy in the public expenditure, and everybody but booblers will hope that the promise will be kept.

The Tarte Charges.

The enquiry into Mr. Tarte's charges against Thomas McGreevy and others is being pursued from day to day, with occasional intermissions, and there cannot be the shadow of a doubt as to the guilt of the parties accused. The most startling evidence against McGreevy was given on Friday last by Owen E. Murphy, who produced and identified a written agreement, signed by the firm, by which, in consideration of obtaining 35 cents per yard for dredging at Quebec, they agreed to contribute $25,600 to the election fund of 1887. He swore that he personally paid Hon. Thomas McGreevy $10,000, and Robert McGreevy $10,000. Besides, the witness spent $7,000 himself. He also testified that in the three years, 1886-87-'88, the firm spent over $100,000 for expenses "in different contracts," explaining that expenses meant "donations and contributions and such like, if you please." Further, he swore that after the firm contributed $11,000 out of the Esquimaux graving dock contract, each of the five partners made a clear profit of $14,000.

Plenty of other evidence, nearly as strong as the above, has also been laid before the committee; quite sufficient to prove to all who read it that a conspiracy to defraud the taxpayers of the Dominion has been in active and successful operation for years; and although, thanks to an immoral and servile majority in Parliament, the conspirators may escape the fitting punishment of their dishonesty, they will be marked for the rest of their lives as men who, if they had their deserts, would have spent a lengthened term as convicts in the penitentiary.

MASONIC SERVICE.—The members of Spry Lodge A. F. & A. M. will attend divine service in the Methodist church here on Sunday next, the 28th inst., at 3.30 p. m. The members of Verulam Lodge, Bobcaygeon, have been invited, and will, it is hoped, be present.

A Chapter of Accidents.

On Friday of last week, while Mr. William Brokenshire was on his way to the Falls, his well known white horse, Barney, broke his record for general good conduct by running away because Mr. James Thurston suddenly drove past him. Mr. Brokenshire was thrown over the dash board of the buggy and by some means got wedged in between the body and a wheel, where he rode for a short distance and then dropped to the ground. Some person caught Barney a little further on and tied him to the fence, and Mr. Thurston brought Mr. Brokenshire to Dr. Wilson's office at the Falls. No bones were broken, but he was badly shaken up, felt very sore, and had numerous bruises and scratches, some of the latter being so severe that the doctor had to dress them. As we have not heard to the contrary, we presume that he is getting along all right, none of the injuries being at all serious.

On Saturday evening last Mr. Mark McGivern, of this village, met with an accident in a rather peculiar manner. Mr. Joseph McFarland's two-wheeled grocery truck had been left, with the handles up, against the wall of Twomey's hotel, which adjoins the store, and Mr. McGivern was standing with his heels on the iron guard over the wheels. A slight pressure upon the handles of the truck raised the guard from the sidewalk, the wheels suddenly began to revolve, and Mr. McGivern was thrown backward and his head struck against a ledge of bricks just above the stone foundation of the hotel, inflicting so extensive a scalp wound that Dr. Wilson had to sew it up.

The mining party who left here on the 8th for the north shore of Georgian Bay returned last Saturday, and one of them, Mr. E. R. Edwards, came home with his right arm in a sling. While descending one of the numerous mountains of the region traversed, he fell forward among some dry tamarack that was on ground, and a sharp-pointed piece about as thick as a goose quill went entirely through his hand from front to back. The wound has already healed, though there is still a slight swelling, which will probably all be gone by the end of the week.

On Sunday last a gang of Boyd & Co's river drivers had a camp at Rettie's, in Somerville, and one of them, a young man named Henry Austin, (no relation to the Austins of Fenelon Falls,) fell backward on to a block of wood, while throwing a "peeve" over his shoulder, and was seriously injured. Dr. Graham went from here about midnight on a hand-car that was sent for him, and examined the patient, whose back was badly hurt, but not broken, as was reported. The doctor did what he could for him, and he was taken to his home at Haliburton by train on Monday afternoon; and we have not been able since then to obtain any reliable information as to his condition.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Henry Austin's third daughter, Ethel, about 6 years old, while playing with some other children, ran against a pile of edgings, one of which cut an ugly gash in the front of her head, but so high up that if a scar should be left her hair will hide it. Dr. Wilson, who was called in, put a stitch in the wound, and the little girl will soon be all right again.

THE HOLIDAYS.—The public schools will close for the midsummer holidays on Tuesday, June 30th, and will re-open on Monday, August 31st. The High School entrance examinations will be held here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.
