TERRIBLE PEN PICTURES OF DISTRESS.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says:—"Despatches from the interior are more alarming. The August frosts destroyed the barley crop, the staple food in Archangel. The extreme north crops have been spoiled by rains, and straw from the thatched roofs is utilized for fodder. Cattle are dying by wholesale on the roadside. Various ministers have issued conflicting orders, resulting in utter chaos. The grants of seed corn have been stopped. Immense tracts of land are lying waste, and a scarcity of corn is threatened in 1892. The cattle plague has broken out in many places. Peasants in Sojowsky attacked some veterinary surgeons who had been sent to destroy infected cattle, and several were wounded in the skirmish. Clergymen are becoming beggars, and women are selling themselves to support their children. No work can be procured by the starving persons even on the Volga. The shares of the Steam Navigation Company have fallen heavily. The new loan will only be a drop in the ocean. A large budget deficit is certain, and, to make matters worse, a million loads of rye promised by the governor of a neighboring province, on which the ministry had relied, do not exist. This discovery has caused great consternation. The famine is expected to reach its height in November. The peasants threaten a revolution unless the czar gives them relief from private resources. Partial risings are reported in Yekaterinosky, Nijni Novgorod and Kasan.

Not for centuries has such widespread distress been recorded. The trouble is chiefly due to the Government, which delayed action to relieve distress. The distress has been intensified by an enormous number of unusually disastrous fires. In many districts entire villages have been destroyed. The inhabitants, weak from lack of food, made no attempt to check the flames. The cattle plague has caused incredible havoc in these districts. Thousands of cattle perished and many families lost their only means of subsistence. What little food the peasants obtain is of the vilest description. In Saratoff the landowners made bread of mill refuse which injured cattle, and sold it to the peasants. The bread of finely chopped straw and bran, with a small quantity of rye, is considered a Godsend. In many districts the peasantry live on "hunger bread" which is said to be made of dried dung, the powdered bark of trees and ground pig weed. Heavy rains have fallen and the ground is so soaked that potatoes are rotting. The price of potatoes has doubled. In 13 governments the people are completely famine stricken, and in eight a partial famine prevails. The great annual fair at Nijni Novgorod was a failure this year owing to the enormous number of bankrupts. Hundreds of the starving peasants are begging on the highways. In many cases the seed corn furnished the peasants by the Government has been eaten. Taxes continue to be extorted from the starving people. Frequently peasants who are unwilling to pay taxes are flogged.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—The Post says the Russian papers are devoid of news about the famine. The intensity of the distress may be judged from the fact that in many places the elementary schools have been closed on account of lack of funds.

Influx of Russian Jews.

THE REFUGEES COMING OVER TO CANADA IN HORDES.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—It is stated on high authority that Canada is in imminent danger of a large influx of Russian Jewish refugees. The agents of some of the great steamship lines running to Montreal are busy booking large numbers in Europe, and in order to avoid a renewal of the trouble with the Government inspectors at Montreal the emigrants are being booked through to various points in Canada. The agents naturally care chiefly for their commissions on tickets, but those concerned with Canada's best interests think the Government should intervene and inform the steamship companies that landing will be refused to those without visible means of support, or otherwise undesirable.

An incendiary fire at Kozioglow, Russian Poland, has destroyed 23 farms, with all the cattle and stores.
