

CURED AGAINST HIS WILL.

After Ten Years of Suffering a Hamilton Man is Restored to Health.

A Case Rivaling the Marvellous Cure of John Marshall.

Hamilton Times, Saturday, Oct. 24th.

"A good name is more to be desired than great riches." The truth of this scripture quotation is proven every day. Once a person or a firm or an institution achieves a good name its road to success is short and sure, but to achieve a good name is quite a different thing. Not many months ago the Times brought to light one of the most marvellous cures that has ever been effected. Mr. John Marshall, after being for years afflicted with locomotor ataxia, supposed to be incurable and after having been paid $1,000 from the Royal Templars as being totally disabled for life, was permanently cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Marshall may be seen on the streets any day, a strong, healthy man, with no trace of his old trouble. The case gave Pink Pills a name throughout the length and breadth of the land, and vastly increased sales of the remedy followed. The results are being seen on all sides now in wonderful cures wrought.

The Times came across two yesterday. At No. 196 York street Mr. W. J. Clark, who is employed in Messrs. John Calder & Co.'s clothing manufactory, was seen at his residence and was pleased with the opportunity of saying a good word for the remedy that had put him in a position to enjoy life, after ten years of affliction. Mr. Clark is a young man of intelligence, and told the story of his case in an interesting manner. "Ten years ago," he said "I got a very heavy cold, which settled in the small of my back and has ever since, up to short a time ago, defied all the remedies I could hear of and the skill of many doctors. At times I was so bad that I could not work and was seldom free from pain whether standing, sitting, walking or lying. The only thing that gave me relief was an herb I got from an herbalist. For two weeks it relieved me and then the pains returned. I got more herbs, but whether they were the same or not, or whether they simply ceased to operate, I can't say, but I got no more relief from herbs. Turpentine applied on hot cloths and taken internally gave me relief for a little while, but I gave that up too. Several doctors examined me and said, 'Oh it's nothing!' They gave me medicines which they said would make it all right, but which didn't. After almost ten years of doctoring I came to the conclusion I would never be cured, and tried to resign myself to my lot. Some months ago I went into the country to see my father. He said to me, 'Will, I have something here I want you to take—a box of Pink Pills.' I replied to him: 'You might as well throw them out the door.'

'Take them for my sake,' Will, he said, and I said I would do anything for him, though I had no faith in them—they are not worth that,' I said, snapping my fingers. I took the box and really felt better. They gave me an appetite, at any rate, and lessened the pain. So I resolved to continue them. After using three boxes I stopped. That is over three weeks ago, and I am now well and strong. The pain is all gone and I do my work like a new man. I am now working over-time until 10 o'clock, and stand it well. I have gained in weight and feel better every way. It was no case of faith cure with me, for I had no faith in the pills at all. My matek worked, at my advice, took Pink Pills to build up the system, and says he is much better; he certainly looks it."

"Yes," remarked Mr. Clark as the Times reporter was withdrawing, "you may use my name, and if you see any one who has any doubts as to the curing properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills just send him to me."

Another Case.

Mr. James Wright, No. 129 1/2 Bay street north, is another of the great army of witnesses. For a year he suffered from diabetes, but was restored to health under the attention of Dr. Anderson. The disease however, left behind it a fearful state of nervousness, debility, lack of appetite, sleeplessness and ringing noises in the ears and head, which at times drove Mr. Wright frantic. From weighing 180 pounds he came down to 118. He was well acquainted with Mr. John Marshall and knew of his trouble. Hearing of his cure he decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and did so in June last. After taking one box, all these troubles began to vanish and eleven boxes completely cured him, appetite returned and sweet sleep was no longer a stranger to him. In two months he recovered eighteen pounds of his lost flesh and a still gaining. Mr. Wright is confident that the remedy will have the same effect upon any one who is afflicted as he was, if given a fair trial.

In connection with the wonderful cures resulting from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, it must be gratifying to Canadians to know that they are the discovery of a Canadian doctor, a graduate of McGill College and post-graduate of Edinburgh University. Hitherto the great discoveries in medicine have come to us from abroad, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have conquered diseases hitherto declared by the works of specialists as incurable, and have shed a new lustre on Canadian medical science. What is claimed for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that they are an unailing blood builder and nerve tonic, supplying the wants incident to overwork, mental worry, or excesses of whatever nature. They stimulate the system, build anew the blood, and restore shattered nerves, removing the fruitful causes of premature decay and insanity. They are also a specific for the ills peculiar to women, such as suppression, bearing down pains, displacements, ulcerations, etc. They are a certain remedy for headaches, dimness of vision, palpitation, shortness of breath, and by restoring the blood to a healthy condition, bring back strength and the glow of health, where had been pale and sallow cheeks and broken down constitution. That these claims are not exaggerated is borne out by the remarkable cures investigated by the Times as well as by hundreds of testimonials from all parts of Canada in the possession of the proprietor.

One thing is connection with the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the comparatively light cost of treatment. They are sold in boxes (never in bulk or by the hundred), at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all dealers or direct by mail, postpaid, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Morristown, N.Y.

THROWN INTO BOILING SPRINGS.

New Light Upon the Fate of the Christians in Japan Two Centuries Ago.

Anyone who reads books on Japan will remember that he is told, if he ever visits the harbor of Nagasaki, that he must look at the lofty rock of Pappenberg, descending sheer for some hundreds of feet into the deep water. He is further informed that in the seventeenth century, when there were many Christian converts in Japan, thousands of them were cast into the sea from this cliff. It will be remembered that there was a rebellion of Christians in southern Japan, the rebels undertaking to overthrow the Government and establish their new faith as the state religion of Japan. It was after the suppression of this rebellion that the frightful persecution of the Christians began.

Dr. Reiss, a professor in the University of Tokio, has recently been investigating the records of this Christian rebellion. He has shown quite conclusively that the rock of Pappenberg was not used for the purpose described to tourists. No mention of throwing the Christians over the rock is made in any of the contemporaneous records and Dr. Reiss says that it would have been absurd to have dragged the prisoners to that distant place.

What happened, however, was even more frightful, and the scene was quite different. The rebellion occurred in Shimabara whose interior has for its conspicuous object a volcanic mountain mass, called Ousenga, which is said to have one of the largest craters in the world, while its slopes and base are full of boiling sulphur springs in a constant state of effervescence. Dr. Reiss says that the greatest number of victims of the rage of heathen Japan were taken to Ousenga and hurled from a precipice on the mountain side into the boiling sulphurous springs below. Japanese sources of information coincide with the missionary reports that this was the form of execution commonly employed, and that it remained in use for a long period. Shimabara is almost an island in a great inlet on the west side of Kiuisu, the big southern island of Japan. It is connected with the mainland by a narrow isthmus. The volcanic mass of Ousenga, in the centre of the district, is plainly marked on any good map.

TO DEFEND STAMBOUL.

The Sultan Calls German Engineers to Help Him for Emergencies.

The Sultan is hastening preparations for the effective fortification of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles. He does not propose to intrust the work to Turkish officers, but has already engaged some of the best engineering talent in the German Army for the purpose. With the consent of King William, Major Steffen of the German Army has been given a leave of absence, prolonged for three months, to instruct the Turkish artillery in the use both of heavy guns for fortifications and field pieces. The artillery is to be thoroughly reorganized under the Major's supervision, and the work of reorganization will keep pace with the laying out of the fortifications. New cannon are to be supplied from German and British foundries, and both the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles will be put in a condition to give a hot reception to any fleet endeavoring to force an entrance.

THE SULTAN AND THE ENGLISH.

It is said that the Sultan thoroughly agreed in his recent conference with Sir William White, the British Ambassador, as to the growing danger of an attack upon Constantinople by the Russian fleet from the Black Sea, possibly aided by the French from the Mediterranean, and he then and there declared his purpose to put himself in a position for a defence that would last sufficiently long to enable friendly powers to come to the rescue. The Sultan is known to be deeply attached to Constantinople as the seat of the Ottoman Empire, and to have no intention of abandoning it.

The Manufacture of Camphor.

Camphor is generally obtained from the tree by chopping the wood and roots into small pieces and boiling them with water in an iron vessel till the camphor begins to adhere to the stirring utensil. The liquor is then strained and the camphor concretes on standing. It is afterwards mixed with a finely powdered earth, and sublimed from one metallic vessel into another. In Japan the chips are boiled in a vessel to which an earthen head containing straw has been fitted and the camphor sublimates and condenses on the straw. Crude camphor very much resembles moist sugar until it is cleaned. The refining process by sublimation requires care and experience. Almost all the camphor which comes into this country is imported from Japan and Formosa. In the latter place the crude camphor is thus usually obtained:—An expert selects a tree and scrapes into the trunk in various places, using an instrument resembling a rake, to ascertain whether it contains sufficient camphor to repay the labor of extraction. If the scrapings obtained from the trunk yield well, the clipping is continued until the tree falls. The roots are then grubbed up, as it is certain they will yield a good return.

A Sure Remedy for Neuralgia.

Neuralgia is one of the most common and distressing complaints incidental to this climate. It is not confined to any particular season, for whilst most general in the winter seasons, yet many suffer its excruciating agony in the heat of summer. In late years this form of disease has become better known, and consequently the means of relief have become greatly increased in number, as well as in efficacy. Among the most powerful and penetrating combinations, placed within the reach of the public for the relief of neuralgia, we can mention no remedy equal to or more certain than Polson's Nerviline. Its power over pain is something wonderful, and we advise a trial for neuralgia, or any other painful complaints.

Too Green.

"I'm going a-milking, sir," she said;
"Can I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"The cows would bite you, sir," she said.

Luggage Transport in England and America.

The English and American systems of dealing with travellers' luggage are entirely different. In England the traveller looks after his own luggage, of which there is no booking, and feels bound to keep a sharp look-out after it at junctions where changes have to be made from one train to another. In America, so soon as you have "checked" your impedimenta by seeing the official hitch brass tickets upon the several boxes and trunks—the exact duplicates of which he hands to you—all care is over. As you approach your destination an "express man," perambulating the long carriage, will make note of your hotel or residence, take the brass tickets, for which he hands you a receipt, and your belongings will then be delivered almost as quickly as the carriage or omnibus can deposit yourself.

A Wise Young Woman.

Young Adolphus Fitzwilliam, he loved a fair maid, But to ask her to marry him he was afraid, Because of catarrh, which she had very bad; So much so that often the youth was quite glad To omit, at the parting, the kiss of the lover. The reason of this she set out to discover. "Catarrh makes me loathsome, it's fatal to love,"

O, darling Adolphus, by all that's above, I vow I'll not lose thee if something there is To drive out catarrh and to sweeten a kiss."

So this wise young woman began searching for a cure, and good luck attended her. She found Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, at the drug store, and felt convinced that a preparation which the proprietors had such confidence in that they were willing to offer to pay $500 for a case they cannot cure, must be worth trying. She bought it. She tried it. It cured her. And when Adolphus kissed her at the altar last week, her kiss was as sweet and pure as roses in June.

Girls, a word of advice: If you want a lover to stay a lover, you must get rid of catarrh. Do as this sensible girl did, and get the only sure remedy for this disgusting and dangerous disease—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Worn and Wan and Weak and Weary

Ho! ye women, worn and weary, with wan faces and so indescribably weak. Those distressing, dragging-down pains, and that constant weakness and wornness and weariness can be cured. For all such sufferers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a panacea of inestimable value. As an invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For "overworked," "worn-out," debilitated teachers, dress-makers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. As a soothing and strengthening nerve, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dead men tell no tales, but their biographers weave romances.

All For a Barley Corn.

LaFontaine, in one of his fables, tells of a barnyard fowl that scratched up a gem while scratching for corn. Not knowing its value he gave it to a stone-cutter for a barley corn. Thus do many persons throw away the priceless pearl of health. A "trifling" cough is neglected, then comes consumption then death. Stay the cough, or look out for a coffin. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure catarrh in the head, bronchial or throat affections, or lung-scrofula (commonly known as the consumption of the lungs). If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or the money paid for it will be refunded. It is the only guaranteed cure.
