The British Elections.

During the past week Mr. Gladstone has been steadily gaining ground, and now has a clear majority of 30, which will no doubt be increased when the remaining 136 constituencies are heard from. The Grand Old Man was re-elected in Midlothian on Tuesday by a majority of less than 700, and in South Longford, on Wednesday, Hon. Edward Blake beat his opponent by about 2,000.

The Glorious Twelfth.

Whether, as almost everybody asserts, the 12th of July celebration in Fenelon Falls on Tuesday last was the biggest ever held here, or whether, as a miserable minority maintain, it has been exceeded in past years, we—not having a very good memory for celebrations—will not undertake to decide; but one thing is quite certain, and that is that it was as big a one as the village could conveniently find room for, as, if there had been many more persons present, they would have had to take to the roads, simply because the sidewalks would not have been wide enough to hold them. About 9.20 the special train from Omemea arrived with 1,000 passengers, and a few minutes later the regular from the north arrived with nearly 700 more; and soon afterwards the steamer Maple Leaf and barge from Bobeaygeon, and the Crundella and Alice Ethel, the latter with her barge, from Lindsay, all reached the landing within a few minutes of each other, and must have brought nearly or quite 1,500 passengers. Every arrival was met and welcomed by the brethren already here, and all through the forenoon there were constant marchings and counter marchings, with the usual musical accompaniments. All told there were 32 lodges present, each with its stand of colors, and it is said that the Orangemen who took part in the celebration numbered 1,800, without counting the members of three or four lodges of True Blues. The majority of the brethren presented a very fine appearance, but a few looked as if they wanted new regalia, which we hope they will get before the next celebration in Fenelon Falls. The music was exceptionally good, as there were five and drum bands from Lindsay and Omemea and brass bands from Fenelon Falls, Omemea and Kinmount in the procession. A snare drum in one of the bands was beaten by such a mite of a boy that, if it had been a couple of sizes larger, he could have been melted and poured into it without any trouble.

After dinner the brethren formed in procession and marched to Fitzgerald's grove, where the chair was taken by J. H. Delamere of Minden, Grand Master of Ontario East, and brief addresses were delivered by Rev. D. N. McCamus of Fenelon Falls; Sam Hughes, County Master of Victoria; Rev. M. McKinnon of Fenelon Falls; Chas. Fairbairn, Last Past County master of Victoria; J. L. Winters, District Master of Lindsay; Thos Stephenson, Past County Master of Victoria; and Rev. M. Dowlr, Deputy Grand Chaplain of Ontario. Sam Hughes was sentimental, as usual, and proposed sending a force from North Victoria to help the unfortunate Protestants in Ireland if Mr. Gladstone carry the British elections and home rule be granted. Like the war-horse in scripture Sam smells the battle afar—and probably hopes that it will never come any nearer.

The village was handsomely decorated for the occasion, there being four fine large arches across the main street and evergreens and flags in all directions. The number present to take part in or witness the celebration was estimated at from 5,000 to 7,000 and was probably about half way between the two. Notwithstanding the immense crowd nobody had to go hungry or thirsty, as the Methodists, the W. C. T. U. and the Salvation Army had each laid in provisions for several hundreds and at least forty refreshment booths had been erected by enterprising citizens. The hotel receipts probably amounted to $2,000, the Methodists took in $175, the S. A. $150 and the W. C. T. U. $115.

Grand Harvest Prospects.

That the farmers of this section of Ontario are looking forward to an unusually abundant harvest is evident from a circular received last Wednesday by Mr. Joseph Heard from the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Co. of Peterboro', who regret to advise him that they are completely sold out of binders, reapers and mowers for this season and cannot take any fresh orders, as they have already more than they can fill. They made as many machines as they thought would supply the demand, but all have gone, and they attribute their unprecedented sales to the "extra good prospects of harvest." On Monday Mr. Heard ordered some bills announcing the arrival of a large quantity of different brands of binder twine which he expected by that day's train; but instead he got a letter stating that it could not be supplied. Nearly all our exchanges express the opinion that the harvest this year will be far beyond the average, and we sincerely hope that nothing will happen to make them change their tune.

Three Accidents.

On the morning of the 12th Mr. John Littleton of Fenelon, who is in his 79th year, and his wife, who is about a year younger, met with a very serious accident while driving into the Falls, in consequence of their horse taking fright at the engine of a train standing near the crossing on Lindsay street and running away. At the intersection of Greene street the buggy was partly upset and both occupants were thrown out; Mrs. Littleton first, and her husband a few seconds later. They were carried to the house of their son, Mr. George Littleton, a few rods from the scene of the accident, and Dr. Wilson was at once sent for. By a strange coincidence the small bone in the left leg of each of them was broken a little above the ankle, but Mrs. Littleton also received a deep gash on the right side of her face, and her right knee was badly cut, while her husband sustained no injury beyond the broken leg and a bruise or two. They were taken to their own home, a distance of about two miles, in the cool of the evening, and yesterday we heard that they were not doing as well as could be wished, the hot weather being against them. The horse was hardly a safe animal for so old a man as Mr. Littleton to drive, as it is easily frightened and has run away on other occasions.

Mr. Wm. A. Gillis, of Fenelon, came to the Falls on Wednesday morning in a wagon, accompanied by his son about 10 years old, and just as the horses had crossed the swing bridge they took fright at a tent that had been put up the previous day near the lock master's office, and tried to run away. Mr. Gillis sprang to the ground and hung on to the lines, telling the boy to drop off the end of the wagon. The horses turned to left and headed for the gateway in the stone wall that encloses the McArthur House yard; but before they reached it something went wrong with the harness, and the result was that the wagon collided with the wall and the shock sent the boy flying into the air. He was taken up and carried into the hotel and Dr. Graham was sent for, as it was thought the little fellow was badly hurt; but he fortunately escaped with two or three scratches and bruises about the head and face.

Mr. Samuel Pinkham, who lives on the old Welsh homestead in Verulam, about four miles from the Falls, met with a dreadful accident on Wednesday afternoon while coming to the Cameron Lake foundry with a mower that needed repairing. He was riding on the machine, and near Mr. H. N. McDougall's he met Mr. Daniel Duggan, who was going home in a wagon with a mower behind it. Mr. Pinkham for some reason kept on the left side of the road, and just as his horses were passing Mr. Duggan's mower one of them shied, the machine on which he was riding collided with a stump, he was thrown off to the right, and the point of the knife-bar or one or more of the guards went through his left elbow. He was brought in a buggy to the office of Dr. Graham, who, assisted by Dr. Brien, placed him under the influence of chloroform and took off the ends of the bones that form the elbow joint, which was so badly broken that there was no hope of saving it. In the evening he was removed to Mrs. Patten's house on Elgin street, in order to be near the doctors. They say his arm will be of a great deal more use to him than, considering the nature of the accident, would appear probable; but it will of course always be weak and stiff at the elbow. Mr. Pinkham, for whom a great deal of sympathy is expressed, is about 40 years old and has a wife and eight children.

A Warning to Rowdies.

As will be seen by the following, from the Bobeaygeon Independent, we have at least one magistrate in the county who is determined to make the "rowdy element" behave itself when it gets into respectable company:

"Mr. S. W. Crabtree, J. P., held a Court on Saturday last to hear complaints laid by the Agricultural society against John Hodge and Wm. Hodge, of Verulam, and Wm. Kennedy of Rice Lake, for profane language and raising a disturbance at the farmer's picnic. Witnesses were called and it appeared that whilst the Paloma was on the way to Crowley's Island, with the farmer's picnic party, a disturbance was caused by certain parties either holding the floor for dancing, or endeavoring to get the floor. The result was a ruction and a large amount of bad language. Of the three complained against Kennedy admitted the charge, and was fined $4 and $2 25 costs. John Hodge was found guilty, and fined $8 and $3 10 costs. In each case fines to be paid forthwith, or 30 days in jail. The charge against Wm. Hodge was not proven, and was dismissed. In imposing the fines the magistrate explained that the case, under the circumstances, was not an ordinary one at all. When such conduct as was shown to have taken place occurred on board a boat it was necessarily within sight and hearing of a large assembly of women and children who were unable to avoid it. There was no getting away from it, and in a crowded boat there was very serious danger of even loss of life, in case of women and children becoming frightened. In the present instance he dealt with leniency, but in any future charges under similar circumstances he would most certainly deal with the fullest severity. It is hoped the action of the Society and the remarks of the Magistrate will have the effect of checking all approach to rowdiness at future pleasure gatherings."

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCamus, of Keene, have been at the Falls since Saturday visiting their son, the Rev. Dr. N. McCamus.

The Misses Junkin and Master Chas. Junkin, of Bobeaygeon, visited their brother, Mr. W. T. Junkin, of this village, on the 12th.

Mr. Robert McKeown, of Ottawa, who has been visiting his brother, Mr. Wm. McKeown, since the 7th inst., left for home on Tuesday last.

Mr. John St. Lawrence, of Lindsay, and his two little boys, Johnny and Oswald, were at the Falls from Monday evening until Wednesday morning.

Mr. Henry Reazin, school inspector for West Victoria, has been at the Falls since Monday, conducting the examination of applicants for third class teachers' certificates.

Miss Ida Burgess returned home on Saturday, after spending a month's holidays at Belleville and other places, and has resumed her position as assistant in the Fenelon Falls post-office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robertson, of Peterborough, were at the Falls on the 12th. Mr. Robertson is rapidly making a fortune out of his various "gift enterprises," regarding which, if all interested were asked to give an opinion, it would, we think, be that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

The Rev. John Dowler and wife, of Lombardy, Leeds County, Ont., are at the Falls. Mr. Dowler was one of the pioneer ministers of Canada, and conducted service regularly in this village thirty-three years ago. He is expected to preach in the Methodist church next Sunday evening, and will deliver a lecture on Orangeism in one of the halls on Monday evening.

DENTAL.—Don't fail to call on J. NeLands, the Dentist, at the McArthur House on Tuesday, July 19th. He will have a complete gas apparatus for extracting teeth.
