The Cholera.

Owing to the extraordinary precautions taken to prevent an outbreak of cholera in England, there have only been a few isolated cases, so far, in that country, and on Monday the Board of Health of New York issued an official bulletin declaring that there had been no death from the fell disease in that city; but great excitement was caused the same day by the report that fresh cases had occurred on the steamers Rugia and Normannia, which arrived on Saturday with cholera on board. On Sunday there were two deaths on the Moravia and one on the Rugia. The bodies of those who died in port were taken to Swinburne's Island and cremated, and all infected persons were removed from the ships to that Island or Hoffman's Island. A vigorous quarantine is being established at all American ports, and Canada is at last beginning to take action. Dr. Montizambert, medical superintendent at Grosse Isle, has long complained that it is "as destitute of the universally recognised modern methods of disinfection and maritime sanitation as it was sixty years ago"; but the Dominion Government paid no attention to his representations until cholera was almost knocking at our doors. "Better late than never," as long as it is not too late to be of any use; and it is satisfactory to know that—thanks to Dr. Montizambert and the body of distinguished American sanitarians who recently visited Grosse Isle—Messrs. Abbott & Co. of Ottawa have been aroused to a sense of their duty in the premises and are taking steps towards its performance. The steam fumigator lent by the Toronto Hospital and an incinerator were sent to the spot a few days ago; and if the statement of the Toronto News's Ottawa correspondent that "the Grosse Isle station is now equipped with the most perfect appliance for disinfection known" be not quite true, it will probably be in the course of a few days more.

At Hamburg cholera is still doing its deadly work, and on Saturday last the total figures from the beginning of the outbreak footed up to 5,623 cases and 2,518 deaths. Travellers in Europe—where, of course very few are now travelling except from necessity—are having a hard time of it, as they are liable to be questioned, examined, diagnosed or even fumigated at any moment, and it is said that the whole continent reeks with the high odors of disinfectants, and that cabs, busses and railway carriages smell like moving hospitals.

Dominion Alliance.

The annual meeting for 1892 of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance for the total suppression of the liquor traffic will be held in Richmond Hall, 27 Richmond St. west, Toronto, on Tuesday next, the 13th inst., and all who take an interest in the cause should, if possible, be present. The time for the convention has been fixed to suit the convenience of those who desire to attend the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, which is at its best during the second week. All railways will issue tickets good to return up to Saturday, September 13th, at single fare, and on Monday and Tuesday there will be an excursion at a still lower rate. Those who go to the convention can, therefore, attend it on the 13th, and have all the rest of the week for sight seeing. The circular from which we obtained the above information says:—

"Since the last Annual Convention of this Branch of the Dominion Alliance there have been developments in the facts and possibilities of prohibition work that are of unusual interest and importance.

"The Ontario Court of Appeal has given a decision declaring that the Local Option measure passed by our Provincial Legislature was fully within the jurisdiction of that body, and making it clear that the Legislative Assembly has much larger power to deal with the liquor traffic than has yet been exercised. The province of Manitoba has voted on the question of prohibition, and declared in favor of the principle by an overwhelming majority. On all sides of us there is evidence of a strong and growing sentiment in favor of an immediate further advance on roads that are now indisputably open.

"Since the meeting referred to, fifteen municipalities have voted on prohibition by-laws. In one of these the vote was a tie. In six we were defeated by majorities aggregating 129. In the other eight we won by majorities aggregating 329. In several municipalities the new law is in actual operation, and we have practical evidence, to some extent at least, of what may be accomplished through this instrumentality.

"The facts set out make it clear that the present is a very important point in the history of our reform. The situation and outlook are full of interest and fraught with heavy responsibilities. It is a time at which we should carefully consider our position and then judiciously, determinedly and unitedly follow up the advantage gained, and so hasten the total extermination of the liquor traffic that is still such a terrible curse in our land."

Sullivan "Licked."

The long talked of bouts at fistieuffs came off this week in the Olympic Club's amphitheatre (or whatever they call it) in the city of New Orleans. On Monday McAuliffe knocked out Myer in fifteen rounds; on Tuesday Dixon beat Skelly in eight rounds; and on Wednesday Corbett defeated Sullivan in twenty-two. The chief interest in sporting and other circles centered on the last named fight, which was a "battle of giants," and the fact that the brutal, bullying, woman and boy bearing John L. Sullivan has at length been thoroughly and effectually "licked" affords intense satisfaction to almost everybody who did not bet on him. The fight was nominally for $45,000—$10,000 put up by the backers of each pugilist and $25,000 added by the club; but the winner probably made nearly or quite $75,000. The gate money must have been immense, as the building will hold 10,000 spectators, and the poorest seats were let at $7.50.
