

A Handsome Premium.

The TORONTO WEEKLY EMPIRE has produced a premium for its new subscribers this Autumn which really calls for special compliment. The proprietors of that paper have prepared a handsome picture of the Conservative members of Parliament, well arranged, executed in the finest type of photogravure, and printed on excellent paper for framing. No premium given away with newspapers this year equals it. The whole picture is large, and when set off by the tasteful oak frame, which is so fashionable nowadays, will make a very handsome adornment to the home. In the centre are the members of the Cabinet, while grouped around them are their supporters in the House. The pictures of Cabinet ministers are large in size, and every one is an excellent likeness. In the centre the photo of the Premier is by far the best. Sir John Abbott has ever had, while that of Sir John Thompson, the famous leader of the House of Commons, who is represented standing with his hand resting upon the table, an attitude he often assumes when addressing the House, is literally a speaking likeness. The photos of the individual members are capital; they are not small and unrecognizable, requiring a microscope for identification, but the Conservatives of every county returning a Conservative will, in this group, possess an excellent likeness of their member. As a work of art this group picture takes high rank: as an acceptable addition to the Conservative houses of the land it will be pretty sure to circulate from Vancouver to Halifax. The picture, to give an exact idea of its importance, measures 3 feet 6 inches by 2 feet 4 inches. On the margin is a convenient key, giving the names of every member with numbers corresponding to the numbers on the photograph.

Country Roads.

Mr. George E. Casey, M. P. for West Elgin, has a good letter in The St. Thomas Journal on the subject of country roads. We give his conclusions:—In the first place there are certain principles of road-making, on which, with proper advice, the municipal authorities should establish certain standards—such a standard for main highways, such and such for side lines and concessions. Let the roads be made uniformly on these principles, not all finished at once, but all on the same plan as far as the money goes. "Commute" all statute labor as at present assessed on an uniform cash basis, adding what is now spent in grants. Let those who would rather work than pay cash hire their teams or themselves to the township and get some ready money in a slack season of the year. The pathmaster should make and mend like the section boss of a railway, guided by a uniform system of instructions and not by his own whim. He calls attention to the following among other advantages:—Roads would be so built that each year's work would bring them nearer to the standard established, whereas now it often makes them worse. They would be practically permanent when completed. When a road is once well made it takes a great deal of road making to unmake it. Sometimes the roads, badly need mending at seasons when it is not convenient to do road work. Under this plan they could be attended to without troubling the farmer. All this would involve no new cost unless, after trial, it was decided to incur it.

"Big Injun."

Matthias Splitlog, chief of the Wyandotes, lives in Kansas, and being known to possess about a million dollars' worth of property, is called the wealthiest Indian in America. Although over seventy years of age, and unable to read or write, he is a keen business man. By his shrewdness and ability he has acquired large tracts of land in Kansas and Missouri, houses, and lots in Kansas City, and has money invested in a number of paying enterprises. The white men to whom he gave a $20,000 lesson in punctuality had persuaded him to sell them a certain tract of land for $140,000, and were to pay him at 10 o'clock at a bank in Kansas City. On the appointed morning, a few minutes before the hour named, the old Indian entered the bank and took a seat, with his eye fixed upon a clock. The capitalists had not appeared when the hands of the clock reached the hour. As it began to strike, the old Indian rose to his feet, and at the last stroke of the clock he promptly walked out of the building. On the street, less than a block away, he met the men who were to buy his land hurrying toward the bank. They begged him to return, but he refused, saying that if they still wished to deal with him he would meet them at ten o'clock on the following day at the same place. This time both the white men and the Indian were promptly on hand; but when the former offered old Matthias the price agreed upon for the land, he told them that while $140,000 was yesterday's price, to-day's price was $160,000; and to these terms they were finally compelled to accede.—Ex.

An Indiana girl started out in a house dress and without a head covering, to visit a near neighbor, met her sweetheart on the way and was induced to board an approaching train, and was married at the next station.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Sir William Johnston Ritchie, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, died yesterday morning at 9 o'clock after a few weeks' illness. His condition lately has been very serious and Sir James Grant, M. D., was in constant attendance.

One Melchoir Parker, a convict in the penitentiary at Szegedin, in Hungary, has invented a patent shaving machine whereby he can shave a man in twenty-five seconds. With this machine he shaved all the convicts in the prison, 150 in number, to the complete satisfaction of the governor. What the prisoners say is not stated.

A kitten became lodged in the fly-wheel of an engine in Portland, Ore. The wheel ran for six hours and a half. The cat was taken out nearly lifeless, but recovered. The fly-wheel makes 250 revolutions per minute, and every turn pussy travelled 17 feet. The engine was in motion 390 minutes, and during that time the kitten travelled a distance of 315 miles.

A bicyclist has been sentenced to seven months imprisonment at Glashutte, Germany, because every night he would cross the track at some point just in front of the locomotive, so that the engineer was in great straits not to kill him. One evening he was accompanied by another wheelman, who fell, and thus the offender became known. It was impossible to catch him before.

Mr. E. B. Boulton, F. R. S., fascinated the Biology Section of the British Association with the results of his experiments on caterpillars hatching in pill boxes. The pepper moth was the particular insect which he experimented on, and his experiments show that if you take an egg of one of these and grow it in a gilded pill box you get a golden caterpillar. Again, if the pill box be black, so is the caterpillar; while a mixed environment produces a muddled creature, just as in man the environment of the slum or the palace pretty much determines a person's characteristics.
