AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Fenelon Agricultural Society will be held in Jordan's hall, Fenelon Falls, on Thursday next, the 12th inst., to receive the report of 1892 and elect officers—especially a Secretary and Treasurer—for 1893. A full attendance of members is requested.

The Cheapest and Best place in Canada for Lumbermen's Sox and Hubbers and all winter foot wear is at

JOHNSTON & SISON'S,
The Great Shoe Men of Lindsay.

INTERESTING TO FARMERS.—Mr. C. A. Mallory, Grand President of the Patrons of Industry, and Mr. A. Foster will lecture in the Opera House, Lindsay, at 2 p. m. on Thursday next, the 12th inst., and in Fenelon Falls on Friday, the 13th. Everybody is invited and will be welcome. We insert the above at the request of Mr. A. M. Irwin, corresponding secretary for Victoria.

RUNAWAY.—On Monday evening as Mr. Philip Barker, of Verulam, was driving from Dr. Graham's, in this village, his horse kicked, and, getting one of his legs over the shaft of the cutter, became frightened and ran away. Opposite Mr. Heard's the rig upset and Mr. Barker was thrown out, and the horse, left to his own sweet will, turned on to Queen street and ran under the driving shed at the Baptist church. The cutter had both shafts broken and sustained some other injuries.

A RUMOR.—There was a rumor around, the other day, that Dr. R. M. Mason, our popular veterinary surgeon, has sold out his practice to Mr. J. W. Smelser, his former assistant, who has returned to the Falls after passing his final examination; and upon making enquiries, we learned that the terms of sale have been agreed upon, but that the writings have not yet been drawn. The many friends of Dr. Mason will be glad to know that, even if he disposes of his business, he will probably remain at the Falls, as he has in view an enterprise that will keep him here.

Thirteen Plain Facts.

1. When the Canadian barley grower has to pay thirty dollars to get every hundred bushels to the American market the old flag just costs the barley grower thirty dollars.
2. When the Canadian horse breeder is taxed one horse out of every three to get them into the only market where there's any demand, he is paying a big price for his British loyalty.
3. When the Canadian farmer has to pay forty dollars on every hundred bushels of beans he sends to the Detroit or Buffalo market, he cannot help thinking that something is wrong.
4. When the Canadian farmer has to pay four dollars on every ton of hay he sends to the States, he is forced to admit that he is more loyal to a senseless sentiment than he is to his wife and family.
5. When the Canadian farmer's wife has her egg money lopped off five cents on every dozen, and five cents taken off her money returns from the sale of fowls, she must own up that folly and not common sense reigns in this Canada of ours.
6. When the farmer who has worked late and early to raise beets, potatoes, turnips and other roots, is compelled to sell them at ruinously low prices because our separation shuts him out from the better paying American market, he is loyal to the "Dear Old Motherland" at the expense of his family and himself. Own up, old man!
7. When the farmer gets fully 25 per cent. less for his stock and crop than he would get under commercial union with the States, and sings the National Anthem to testify his love for low prices of farm produce, it's time his friends took care of him.
8. When the Canadian farmer buys his agricultural implements from the Red Parlor Combines at fully 25 per cent. dearer rate than the same quality of machine is sold to the American farmer, he deserves to be taxed if he doesn't kick with a big "K."
9. When the Canadian farmer's wife has to pay more than two prices for coal oil, three prices for wall paper and two prices for glassware, pictures and notions, it's about time she began to take a hand in setting things right.
10. When Canadian parents see their sons and daughters leave home for the States, should they not reason with each other and ask how comes it that they are bereft of their children?
11. When the Canadian farmer sees the mortgage debts piling up in spite of his industry and close living, should he not exercise his common sense and look for the cause of his increasing poverty?

12. When the Canadian farmer finds that the labor of himself and family goes to keep the Red Parlor manufacturer in luxury, the loyalist office-holders in ease and comfort, and the loan company and bank magnates in magnificence and splendor, he should have sense enough to come in out of the rain.
13. When the Canadian farmer allows sentiment to get the better of common sense and his own family's interest, he deserves to grind for the Philistines in fetters all day long, for such a one evidently loves drudgery and a debt-laden condition and would rather suffer for the sake of the monopolists than strive for his own good.—Napanee Express.

Good Advice.

The Mount Forest Confederate, in the course of an article on "The Political Situation," says:—
"Reciprocity with the United States, judging from past experience, would be a good thing, but national economy in any case is desirable, and will very naturally aid in the financial well-being and prosperity of our Dominion. Let us bury political differences as far as possible, and come together like sensible people, and, forgetting the past, unitedly aim at and conspire for national and individual progress during the present decade. If this is to be accomplished, blinded party allegiance must be abandoned, and principals and policy supported in place of men and party. If the farmer wants an extended market he must vote for it. If he wants to abolish superannuated and other extravagances, vote for it. If he wants to break up all combines in coal oil, salt, twine, machinery, etc., vote for it, and you will get it, and not otherwise. Our Government may, and they have, fooled a portion of our people for the last three elections by picturing a prosperous future, that was in no case realized, but another dose of humbug should not be tolerated. Governments should be judged by what they have done, and not by what they promise to do, and the sooner the electors adopt this course the better for themselves. Let no more promises of sending delegates to Washington be a passport to a further lease of power. Let the electors punish wrongdoing and all political corruption wherever found. Permit no man's political scalp to be protected behind a partisan bogus commission. Down with the hoodlums wherever they are, and the future of our country will soon brighten and present a prosperous appearance, otherwise our magnificent inheritance will be a sad legacy to occupants who will take our places when we are removed. The Globe, in gathering and publishing opinions on both sides, is doing good service, and deserves the hearty support of every lover of freedom and national progress in this Dominion."

The Tory Barley Policy.

The Globe's commissioners have been making inquiry in the counties of Northumberland and Durham as to the results of Mr. Carling's two-rowed barley policy. The farmers find that by following the advice of the federal government and its touters, and cultivating two-rowed barley for the British market, they have been more cruelly victimized than ever they were by seed-grain or hay-fork agents. Those who went extensively into the business of growing Mr. Carling's two-rowed barley now have large stocks of that stuff on hand, for which they cannot get more than 25 cents per bushel, and then it is only purchased to be fed to hogs. The British maltsters will not buy two-rowed barley, neither will the American brewers, and those who were wise enough to reject Mr. Carling's advice on the question of barley are now congratulating themselves. After the McKinley tariff law was enacted Canadian farmers were told by Mr. Carling and his colleagues that they need not trouble themselves about the loss of the American market; the government was finding them a better market in Britain, where 80 cents a bushel would be an ordinary price. Today two-rowed barley is quoted at 25 cents a bushel, and is not wanted at that price except for feed. Those who have exported two-rowed barley to England have lost money, and there is danger that additional loss will be suffered by our farmers through the hybridizing of the old reliable six-rowed barley as a result of the federal government's foolish experiments.—Ottawa Free Press.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Fenelon Falls Gazette.
DEAR SIR,—
Last week you were hoping that the municipal elections would result in the survival of the fittest. Have they so resulted? Are there five hundred church members in this village; and, if so, do they deliberately choose, as the transactors of their business and custodians of their property, those who do not belong to any church? Are the latter more trust-worthy than the former; and, if so, why so? Or, does the system which prevails at Ottawa, and is worked so successfully all over our fair land prevail here? Are there a sufficient number (including Church members) who can be bought individually for less money than it would take to buy a decent dog? Do they hold the balance of power, and are we ruled by them? If so, are those who submit to be ruled men or slaves? Being ignorant, like Rose Dartle, I wish for information.
