His Brilliant Career.

SHORT SKETCH OF THE BRIEF BUSHY LIFE OF THE LATE DR. JOHN LOGAN.

The Grand Forks, Dakota, Daily Herald of March 27th says:—

Dr. John R. Logan was a native of Ontario, born in Cartwright, County Durham, Ont., on June 3, 1865, being now only 29 years of age. He graduated from the medical department of Trinity University, Toronto, achieving the highest honors in his class and winning two magnificent gold medals. While in Toronto he was called to take charge as physician of a small community afflicted with a smallpox epidemic which affected fully one-half of the population. The remarkable success which he there achieved gave him a fame which was heralded far and near. From Toronto he went to Europe and took a post-graduate course at the University at Edinburgh, and thence to London, where he pursued his studies for a year, securing the highest possible honors and being made a member of the Royal College of Surgeons. He then returned to America, and located at Ardoch. After practising about a year there he came to Grand Forks in 1889 and became a partner of Dr. H. M. Wheeler, with whom he has been associated ever since. His skill as a surgeon soon became evident and his services were constantly in demand, being frequently called to distant parts of the State to perform operations and for consultations. He was for several years county physician and also superintendent of the county board of health, but was obliged to relinquish these positions on account of his growing private practice. For some time past he has been the city health officer and has proved singularly efficient. He was appointed by Gov. Burk as secretary of the State board of medical examiners when the board was first organized and has officiated in that capacity ever since, being recently reappointed by Gov. Shortridge. He was one of the charter members of the State Medical Association, and has always taken the greatest interest in the work of the association. His essays have always been received with marked interest and a number of them have been published in the leading medical journals. The association recognized his ability by electing him as the representative for North Dakota at the International Medical Congress held in the city of Washington in May, 1892. Dr. Logan was married in 1889 to Miss Jacobi, of Ardoch, who survives him. She is a daughter of E. R. Jacobi, cashier of the First National Bank of East Grand Forks. One child was born to Dr. and Mrs. Logan, a little girl, to whom they were devoted almost to idolization, but she died when less than two years of age. Dr. Logan's parents live in Toronto, his father, an Episcopal clergyman, being a canon of St. Alban's. A brother, Wm. Logan, a druggist at Crystal, arrived last evening (March 26th) to attend the funeral. The bereaved widow has the sympathy of the entire community in her sad and inconsolable affliction.

Dr. Logan was found dead in his office at eight o'clock on Sunday morning, the 25th inst. Medical examination proved that he died without a struggle, and those who saw him immediately after his death say that his lips were parted in a smile. It may be said of him, as of many another man, that he died of a broken heart—doubtless brought on by the plague, its worriment, its calamitous deaths, and the constant strain upon his nervous system—which was of a highly sensitive organism. We mourn Dr. Logan as one of our dearest and best friends.

Dr. Charles Edward Brown-Seward, the famous physician, died at Paris on Monday, aged 76.

It is believed that fall rye and wheat have wintered better than usual in Prince Edward County.

There is a family named Witherill in Smith's Falls, and the aggregate age of the twelve living children is 694 years.

William Develin, a notorious cattle-thief, has been arrested, charged with stealing cattle from farmers in the Winnipeg district.

Four persons were killed and many injured by the wreck of a building by natural gas explosion in Alexandria, Ind., on Saturday night.

Some miscreant threw a 25-pound keg of blasting powder, with fuse attached, into the office of The News at Tweed, Ont., on Saturday night, but the fuse became extinguished and the scheme failed.
