HIS DOUBLE.

The Singular Sequel to a Hanging For a Brutal Crime.

"I am not a believer in ghosts, reincarnations, or the supernatural in any shape, but I had a singular experience some years ago, which I have never been able to account for satisfactorily," said J. P. Lacroix, of Montreal. "I was second mate of a merchant ship in 1882. Among the crew was a tough customer named Lander, always in trouble. He had a frightful scar, extending from brow to chin, the result of Annual Report of the business of the Bank, a dock fight. He had a bullet wound which had taken away the lobe of his right ear, besides a peculiar protuberance, like a wen on his forehead. I would take my oath thereby. In the United States the results | there was not another man alive marked just

The wound in his throat healed, but left a hole, which he had to cover with his hand when he spoke. He breathed through a silver could not thus have made his way through tube. He was tried and convicted, and, happening to be in port, I was present at the hanging and saw the body buried. In 1890 I was on the gold coast of Africa. Ashore one day I came across a man bossing a lot of negro laborers. His form seemed strangely familiar, and I started with surprise when I saw him place his hand over his throat when giving some orders. Going closer I saw the scar, the wen, the lobeless 200,000 00 ear, the hole in the throat, the silver tube ____ and every feature and characteristic of the

CROWNED HEADS IN DANGER.

The Extraordinary Precautions Taken to Guard the Lives of Emperor William and the Czar.

There are fashions in everything, including the protection of prominent persons when they are on parade. The most recent regulation concerning the protection of life in Europe is that of Kaiser William. Some time ago there was a good deal of socialistic agitation in Berlin, and it was claimed that the Anarchists would attempt to throw a bomb at the Emperor as he drove through the city on his way to a review. The route of the carriage was lined with policemen, and back of them was the customary mob of sightseers, on either side of the way. The Kaiser gave orders that as the royal coach approached, the police who had heretofore always stood with their backs to they passed, they should turn their backs to the street, face the mcb, and step back two paces from the front line of the crowd. It was further ordered that the crowd should be kept back on the sidewalks, so that the carriage would be at some distance from the line of sightseers on either side. These orders were carried out, and they appealed so strongly to the Russian Ambassador that he communicated them to St. Petersburg, and they have now been adopted by the Russian police. By keeping the crowd well back from the carriage considerable motion was made necessary on the part of an Anarchist to throw a bomb successfully, and, as the police were numerous, his actions would be seen by one of the guards, if those functionaries were at all wide awake. The Russian police, in addition to adopting these measures, absolutely surround the carriage of the Emperor with horsemen.

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy, sickening and disgusting. They were espe-

There was probably no such man as Romulus. The first historian who mentions him lived at a distance of time so great as to throw extreme discredit on the story as told by him.

Alexander the great did not weep for other worlds to conquer. There is reason to suspect that his army met with a serious reverse in India, a fact that induced him to retrace his steps.

The crew of Le Vengeur, the famous French ship sunk by an English man-of-war, did not cry "Vive la Republique!" They bawled for help, and the English boats were sent to their assistance.

The immense burning glasses with which Archimedes burned the ships of the beseigers of Syracuse at ten miles distance were never manufactured and it is now known that they could not have existed.

Pitt did not use the expression, "The atrocious crime of being a young man." The words were used by Dr. Johnson, who was not present, but wrote a report of the speech from an abstract given him by a hearer. Vinegar will not split rocks. So Hannibal

A New Lip.

Dr. Berger, the French surgeon, yesterday presented to the Paris Academy of Medicine a young woman to whom he had supplied an entire under lip, she having accidently lost the one nature gave her. He managed to make good the loss with a piece of flesh cut from her arm. The sub stitution was accomplished with wonderful skill, the mouth not being at all disfigured, and there was a red lip which looked almost natural.
