The Floods in England.

ETON COLLEGE FORCED TO BE CLOSED FOR A TIME.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The floods become more serious every day. The river Thames rose four inches at Windsor during the night. Eton College is entirely closed, and all the boys have been sent home. Not since 1819 have the waters been so high. At Oxford the Christ church meadows are often lightly flooded in the winter and spring, but now four feet of water covers them, and Magdalene gardens are the same. In every direction the water is rising steadily. Many of the undergraduates to-day have been punting over private gardens and hedges. St. Anne's church, below Folly bridge, has two feet of water over its floor, and there is three feet of water in the railroad station. On all sides the floods are undermining and weakening bridges and culverts. The embankment at Maidenhead is in an equally bad state. The waves are beating against the drawing-room windows, and many beautiful houses have suffered severely. The damage, though not apparent, will reach into hundreds of thousands of pounds. Bridges, etc., have been washed away, and crops and hay-stacks have been destroyed in all the flooded districts. At 7 o'clock this evening the Thames river is reported six feet two inches above the summer level. At Chertsey it is still rising, and the only communication with the town is by boat. The London and South-western railway has been swept away at Egham. The damage to the road was caused by the bursting of an embankment. A relief fund for the sufferers has been started. The subscription list is headed by the Queen, who gives £50.

Earthquakes and Death.

SOUTHERN ITALY AND SICILY SHAKEN AND MUCH DESTRUCTION CAUSED.

ROME, Nov. 17.—The earthquake yesterday extended over a large area of Southern Italy and Sicily. Much damage was done in the towns of Messina and Reggio. One person was killed at Messina and a number injured. The inmates of the prisons, who were panic stricken, mutinied and tried to escape, but were prevented. Severe shocks were especially felt at Palz, Seminara, San Procolio and other towns in the province of Reggio di Calabria. In this province great damage has been done to property and a number of persons have been killed and injured, in addition to those who are known to have been buried beneath fallen houses. A land slide, caused by the earthquake, on the railroad near Bagnaria, in the province of Reggio di Calabria, stopped railroad traffic in that district. The earthquake shocks continued all night. The terror on the part of the people was universal. The authorities soon perfected an organization, and, assisted by the militia, succeeded in restoring quiet for the time being. The people remained on the streets during the entire night. There were many shocks, the most severe being about 2 o'clock in the morning. In the morning another shock occurred, and the people fled to the ships in the harbor. Large sized cracks in many of the buildings of the town were caused by the earthquake. The people still remain in the open places, fearing to return to their homes. Military patrols are guarding the town. Six persons were killed by the falling walls. At Bagnara many of the inhabitants were injured. The damage reported at Tachina is very great. The chief of the observatory at Rome says the earthquake was confined to the area of the Lipari islands and the provinces of Messina and Reggio di Calabria. He is of the opinion that the entire phenomenon is closely connected with the volcanic system of Etna.

Rome, Nov. 19.—Despatches from the earthquake-shaken province of Reggio di Calabria say that more slight shocks were felt in that district yesterday and yesterday evening. Although no further damage was done, the inhabitants continue terror-stricken, and numbers of people are fleeing from the towns into the country. Thirteen persons were killed and over fifty injured at the village of Seminara. This village is nearly destroyed. At Palmi, where nearly all the houses are ruined, seven persons were killed and about fifty injured. A large number of houses at Malocchieo and Terranuovo were badly damaged.
