A Desperate Affair in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec 25. — While policeman James McFarland was taking Wm. Brown to the station house to-day on the charge of stealing a pony, Charles Gallagher and John Morrow, friends of Brown, attempted to rescue him. McFarland was knocked down, and was being brutally kicked, when he drew his revolver and shot Gallagher twice in the face. Morrow wrested the revolver from the officer, and shot him twice, and the policeman fainted. McFarland was removed to the hospital. He has one bullet in his arm and another in his breast, but may recover. Gallagher was subsequently arrested in the house of a friend. He was bleeding profusely from the two wounds in his face, and was taken to the hospital, where it was said that he would probably die. The other two men have not yet been arrested.

The Royal Buck Hounds.

Over a year ago Queen Victoria gave a promise, which was justifiably construed into an assurance, that the practice of hunting tame deer in her name should cease, and preparations were, in fact, made to abolish the ancient institution known as the royal buck hounds. It is now alleged that the Queen merely promised to have inquiries made, and that the result thereof satisfied her that the sport involved no more cruelty to animals than fox hunting. The result is that tame deer harrying, miscalled hunting, is again in full swing, and the newspapers are recording, as of old, the suffering inflicted by royal and aristocratic sportsmen wearing the Queen's uniform. Already this season several of these hand-reared stags have been so badly torn by the hounds that they had to be killed. The scandal is by no means a new one, for quite 50 years ago a letter appeared in The Times describing how the Queen's buckhounds hunted a stag down Piccadilly and how the poor animal had worn the pads off its hoofs and left a trail of blood behind. Tender-hearted politicians, Tories as well as Liberals, regularly threaten to refuse to vote a salary for the master of the buckhounds when the estimates come before the House of Commons, but invariably social influence or party pressure, or both, is brought to bear upon them, with the result that they manage to have engagements elsewhere when the House goes into Committee on Supply.

Facts About London.

Some curious facts about London life are presented in the annual reports of the police and other departments to-day. The rate of growth is not so rapid as usual. There are only eighteen miles of new streets against 31 the previous year. The city is being made more compact. Thirteen thousand houses were added. The facilities for street transport were slightly reduced. There are 10,300 cabs, which is 600 less than five years ago. The omnibuses and street cars number 3,500. Londoners are careless people. They left 19,000 purses in cabs, but it is past comprehension how they should have left 94 watches and 43 clocks in these vehicles. Oddly enough people lost themselves in almost the same number they lost property. The number of articles left in public conveyances was 28,270, and the number of persons reported missing was 28,269. Fifteen thousand articles were returned to their owners and 14,000 missing persons were restored to their friends. There is no doubt that many of the remaining 14,000 came back of their own account, but the bare statistical report of this great army of disappearances hides vast chapters of mystery. The police buried 66 bodies which were never identified. Serious crime in London is decreasing. Felonies relating to property are a fraction over three in 1,000 of the population, whereas ten years ago they were nearer five. Burglaries dropped from 637 to 509 and housebreakers chiefly flourish at the expense of the poor, who have to leave their dwellings unoccupied for hours.

CAPT. SWEENEY, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cents. Sold by W. T. Junkin.

Isaac Ross and his wife, of Bay City, Mich, have lived together 50 years and raised 14 children. Now they have quarrelled, and Mrs. Ross is seeking a divorce. The man is 80 and his wife 70 years old.
