

A Terrible Death.

A FARMER SAWN ALMOST IN TWO LENGTHWISE.

MARKDALE, Feb. 25.—Thomas Wiggins, a respected and industrious farmer of Glenelg, met with a fatal accident at Baird's saw mill, four miles from Markdale. Mr. Wiggins had been filing his saw at a vice in the mill, and after finishing the same he tarried in the building, observing the men and machinery at work, and by some means came in contact with the edging saw, which was in motion, but not then being used. Mr. Baird, who was cutting a log on the carriage, observed Wiggins fall, and, hastening towards him to ascertain the cause, was horrified to see his mangled form, the saw having caught him at the ankle, going through the leg lengthwise up into the body and almost to the shoulder. Death was almost instantaneous. Deceased leaves a wife and fourteen children.

Sawed His Own Head Off.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—A horrible suicide was committed by a man named Lee Taylor, five miles northwest of this place, late on Saturday evening. Taylor had become financially embarrassed, and had been brooding over his troubles. For the past week he had been working at a sawmill. On Saturday evening while the fireman and engineer were engaged at the boiler, Taylor deliberately lay down on the log carriage, grasped the framework with one hand and the shaft with the other, and pulled himself up to the rapidly revolving saw. His head was instantly severed from the body, and rolled down into the dust pile. The engineer, noticing a jar in the machinery, went back to the saw, and was horrified to find the bleeding trunk still lying on the carriage. The deceased was recently married, and leaves a wife, but no children.

Maritime Centenarians Dead.

HALIFAX, Feb. 27.—Three of the oldest people in Nova Scotia died this week. They were Mr. Malcolm McMullin, aged 106 years. He lived at Catalone, C. B., in the house with his son, grandson and great grandson. For years past it was a daily occurrence to see the four generations working in the fields together. Mrs. Catherine Ross of Cape Breton died, aged 101, leaving 208 grandchildren. Mrs. Donald Chisholm, aged 102, died at Guysboro. Two of her brothers were priests. On the same day, 50 years ago, two brothers, Joseph S. and Edward Palmer, married two sisters, Phoebe and Caroline Chesley. Both couples and their families celebrated their golden weddings at Salem, Annapolis, a few days ago.

Following is the verdict of a Pennsylvania jury inquest in a case of supposed arson: "We, the jury, find that the thing was done. Who did it or how it was done of course we don't know, but we do, of course, know that it was done."

Several men who have outlived their greatness are now glad to earn their living as coachmen in Berlin. Among them are sixteen nobles, seven retired army officers and three pulpless pastors. Three British nobilities now cheerfully crack the whip as London cabmen; they are an ex-member of parliament, a baron and a marquis.

One of the curiosities of the recent cold weather in Allentown, Pa., was the freezing fast to the wet rails of three long and heavy coal trains. One of them suffered an accident compelling it to stop, and when it was ready to move its 125 cars were frozen fast and could not be moved. One train after another came along on the same track and, on stopping for those in front to move, suffered the same fate, and it was several hours before the blockade was raised.

The Erie vestibule train No. 8 was wrecked about one mile east of Vandalia, New York state, at 12.12 p. m. on Saturday, and ten persons were seriously injured. The train was running at about 28 miles an hour, and was rounding a curve on the bank of the Allegheny river when the pullman dining and sleeping cars jumped the track and were precipitated down a twenty-foot bank. The dining car and three sleepers with their human freight went over the street embankment and were badly demolished. It is remarkable that no one was killed in the frightful wreck. The wreck was caused by the spreading of the rails. The injuries sustained were mainly contusions and fractures.

About four million and a half sterling are spent on hunting in Great Britain and Ireland, independent of the expenses of carriage horses, covered hacks, and travelling expenses. There are 330 packs of hounds, and about 10,000 horses are required to follow them.

In Ireland near Horn Head, in county Donegal, there is a remarkable hole in the rocks of the seacoast, which is known all over Britain as "McSwiney's gun." It is believed to be connected with a sea cavern. When the sea "runs full" the "gun" sends up jets of water to a height of one hundred feet, each spouting being followed and preceded by loud explosions. The "gun" is a perfectly smooth hole about 6 inches in diameter, and its history can be traced back to the first settlers of the country. No one seems to know however, how it got the name of McSwiney's gun.

The Archduchess Stephanie, widow of the Austrian crown prince, recently paid $400 in Vienna for a parrot which could recite the pater noster in five different languages. The archduchess heard the wonderful bird, which recited gravely, while the master stood by, and was charmed with it. But when she got it home to the imperial palace, she found that it could not say a word. The merchant was arrested and confessed that he was a ventriloquist and had done all the talking for the bird. The only thing that he had taught it was to open its mouth and appear to talk with the ventriloquism lusted.

Stock Taking Completed.

Although it has been a hard year and all other merchants are complaining, we find that the year's business has exceeded the previous one by fully 25 per cent. Most people will naturally wonder at it, but the plain reason is that we bought our goods in the lowest cash market, and have sold them at a very small advance on cost. Now to those who are not already supplied with good comfortable wear, we would advise to call and secure some of the big bargains now being offered, as we are bound to clear out the balance of our winter stock at cost, to make room for our large spring purchases.

In Dress Goods, Mantles, Flannels, &c., our stock is quite complete. In Overcoats, Suits and Furnishings we still have a large range to select from. Call early, and don't forget the place.
