

He Put Geese to Roost.

THE FATE OF THE PROPHET WHO PRESUMED ON HIS KNOWLEDGE OF FARMING.

"Don't talk of agriculture to a farmer," was Daniel Webster's advice to a friend. "Discuss any other subject with him—art, literature, political economy, finance—but never farming; for if you once launch forth on that he finds you at fault in some particular and concludes that, ignorant in one thing, you are ignorant in all."

This advice was recalled by a gentleman of this city recently upon hearing of the experiences of an amateur farmer, a friend of his, who, after a long and active career, in which he had achieved fame and fortune, relinquished an extensive practice of law for bucolic superintendence over an estate not a hundred miles from New York.

Shortly after he assumed the management of his farm the lawyer received a visit from one of his neighbors, a shrewd old farmer who had never been a hundred miles from his home. Various matters were discussed, as together they walked about the farmyard under the new windmill, improved new troughs, cattle sheds and other fancied fixings.

Naturally the amateur practical gross ignorance to him. The latter and experienced cowit and at last, in was something off-ry-yard ventured a visiting the This is all very fine," suggestion. he glanced about, "but said here d our ducks and geese roost at night never thought of that," replied the amateur. "I've seen them squatting around at night and thought they liked that. I'll have it attended to at once. Low roosts, I suppose, would be best?"

The farmer thought they would. "Place them about two feet from the ground," he remarked, and then, smiling in his sleeves, unhitched his old mare and drove away home. Not a moment was lost by the farmer New Yorker. He erected his duckroost, and at nightfall visited his poultry-yard to observe how the fowls enjoyed the innovation. To his chagrin they appeared to ignore the roosting place and were squatting as before on the ground. "Poor things, I've neglected them too long," thought the humane amateur. "They don't realize the change." With that he began to grab at the ducks and drakes and geese and ganders and deposit them one by one on the roost, from which they fell with terrible "quack, quacks," the moment his back was turned. It was not long before the truth dawned upon him that ducks and geese were intended by nature to "squat," not to roost.

He returned to his house deeply ashamed of his ignorance and speedily became the laughing stock of the country round. The illustration of Webster's advice came in the form of an entire disregard thereafter of any opinions expressed by the man. In New York his utterances had been regarded as words of wisdom, upon no matter what subject expressed, but in the country they were greeted with:—"Oh, pshaw, he don't know nothin'." He puts geese to roost.—New York Herald.

Electric Cats in Philadelphia.

The trolley line along Rainbridge and Catharine streets is responsible for a new race of cats, which is being reared in the neighborhood through which the electric line passes. They are large, fat and frisky, and can only be compared to other cats as a full grown Newfoundland dog can be compared to a waddling pup. This great physical vigor and wonderful development is due to a course of electric treatment to which they subject themselves. Every night when the travel along those streets has subsided the cats can be seen coming out for their treatment. There is just enough electricity in the rails to answer their purpose, and first they lick the rails fondly. Then they roll on the rails and wallow in the electric fluid and act in every way as if they were under the influence of a catnip dissipation. After a few minutes of this they get up and dance around like puppets on a string. These exhibitions are of nightly occurrence, and the windows of the thoroughfares are crowded with eager spectators.—Exchange.

During the last two years Baron de Hirsch has won £42,000 on the turf, and this sum has been distributed among the London hospitals. The Baron did not deduct his expenses.

A circular has been received by at least one bachelor lord in England, stating that a young lady from America, with £280,000 and an income of £19,000 a year, is desirous of marrying a man with a title.

At the quarter sessions held in a Midland town recently, a cabman was summoned for demanding more than his proper fair from a lady. The prosecutrix's name was Bodkin, the prosecuting counsel's name was Bodkin, and, strange to say, the chairman of the bench was also a Bodkin.

It is Pleasant, Harmless as the Purest Milk.

It is Pleasant. The Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the public. This wonderful medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nerve tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement.

CRAWFORDVILLE, IND., AUG. 20, '86.
DEAR GENTS:—I desire to say to you that I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing done me any appreciable good until I was advised to try your Great South American Nervine Tonic and Stomach and Liver Cure, and since using several bottles of it I must say that I am surprised at its wonderful powers to cure the stomach and general nervous system. If every one knew the value of this remedy as I do you would not be able to supply the demand.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, indigestion, nervous prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly, with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy, a few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world."
