

A Personal Experience.

"Abe's a growin' boy now, an' I reckon I'd better cut this suit o' clothes good an' large to allow for his fillin' out an' lengthenin'," remarked Mrs. Davis briskly, as she stood, shears in hand, in front of the dining room table, on which the cloth for Abe's new suit was spread out.

Abe looked wistfully at his father. "Well now, Marthy," said Mr. Davis mildly to his energetic helpmate, "I dunno's I cut it to much more'n fit Abe, ef I was you. Boys are pooty hard on their clothes, anyway, an' I calculate by the time Abe has growed to tight to be comfortable in that suit it'll be about wore out."

Mrs. Davis looked doubtfully at her husband. He had not a reputation for great liberality, yet here he was advocating a plan which was almost certain to result in "a year's waste of good cloth" for Abe had no younger brother to take his outgrown clothes.

"Ye see," began Mr. Davis again, feeling that he was the object of embarrassing scrutiny from his thrifty spouse, "I allus recollect a boy that was raised in Euderville, not fur from where we lived till I was well inter my teens."

"His mother made it a practice to allow on that boys clothes the whole 'durin' time, and it was a dretful trial to him, I can tell ye." "I—I knew him pooty well, bein' raised in the same town, ye see."

"He was a kind of a pindlin', lanky boy, and wouldn't have looked extr' good, anyway, but his clothes allus hung off'n him, just as ef he'd been left out in the rain some time and hed shrunk."

"His mother wasn't a master hand at cuttin' anyway—not anywheres as good as you be, Marthy," said Mr. Davis, feeling that here was an opportunity for a handsome compliment, which was received with an air of conscious worth by his wife, "an' it was a sorerful sight to see that boy. He never caught up to the size of his garmints, to my knowledge, never! and other boys used to poke fun at him consid'able, boys whose mothers wasn't quite so forehanded in their ideas and cuttin'."

"An' I recollect my father once sayin' to me, referring to that boy and the way he looked—that he viewed it, 'more things was sp'iled allowin' than was ever wasted makin' a good fit.' An' he meant it more ways'n one. So I say, make Abe's suit come somewheres near him, an' ef he grows out'n it fore it's wore I'll git him a new one."

Mr. Davis went out to the barn and Mrs. Davis began to cut out the new suit, pinning onto patient Abe now and then to try the effect.

When she said at last, "I've got to a place where you can go now," he hurried to his father.

"I'm real obleeged to you, father, fer what you said," he remarked with evident gratitude. "My last suit o' clothes was so big fer me that—"

"Sho, boy, don't you s'pose I noticed it?" interrupted Mr. Davis. Your mother's a good hand at cuttin', but she's got some notions kind a' like my mother's, seems ef."

"An' that boy I was tellin' you of—you needn't say anything about it to your mother—but I was that boy, m'self, an' there's some recollections that stays by me more'n others!"

Then they each fell to rubbing up a harness, their hearts warm with the thought of the trial they had in common, though one had endured it thirty years before the other.

A Boy on Breathing.

A boy, fourteen years old, recently imported from Kentucky, handed the following in as a composition on "Breathing." The instruction was, "tell all you can about breathing." He said: "Breath is made of air. We breathe with our lungs our liver and our kidneys. If it wasn't for our breath we should die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life a-going through the nose when we are asleep. Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait till they get out of doors. Boys in a room make bad, unwholesome air. They make carbonic acid. Carbonic acid is poisoner than mad dogs. A heap of soldiers was in a black hole in India, and a carbonic acid got in that there hole and killed nearly every one afore morning. Girls kill the breath with corosits, that squeezes the diaphragm. Girls can't holler or run like boys, because their diaphragm is squeezed too much. If I was a girl, I'd rather be a boy, so I can holler and run and have a great big diaphragm."—Washington Star.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC

AND Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nerve tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nervine Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and most harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., AUG. 20, '86.
To the Great South American Medicine Co.:
DEAR GENTS:—I desire to say to you that I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing done me any appreciable good until I was advised to try your Great South American Nervine Tonic and Stomach and Liver Cure, and since using several bottles of it I must say that I am surprised at its wonderful powers to cure the stomach and general nervous system. If every one knew the value of this remedy as I do you would not be able to supply the demand.
J. A. HARDEE, Ex-Treas. Montgomery Co.

REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly, with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy, a few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world."

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

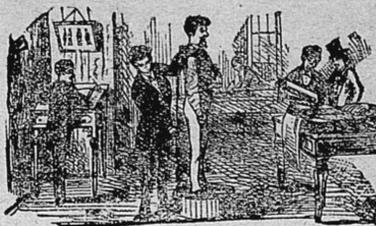

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; an cure I was in the first stages of consumption; an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
