THE SYNDICATE.

WE WILL COMMENCE on August the 19th a Clearing Sale for 30 days of Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes. We must reduce our present stock before our enormous fall stock arrives. To accomplish this we will offer the following lines at prices that will make things go:—Dress Goods, Challies, Prints, Hosiery, Gloves, Parasols, Muslins, Gingham, and heaps of other goods that we have not space to mention. During this sale we will offer every pair of our large stock of Men's and Women's Oxfords and Toe Slippers at Cost Price. We have Red Shoes, Tan Shoes and Black Shoes, all the latest styles and best makes, which must go. See them and get prices before buying. When we say that we will reduce prices we mean it, and the prices go down. It is not a scheme to get you to our store to charge you the same old prices.

OUR GROCERY STOCK IS COMPLETE.

We have 50 half chests of that good 25 cent Tea on the way, and if you want the best get a pound of it. REMEMBER!—This sale will last 30 days, and goods at reduced prices will be sold for cash only.

Next week call and see our new lines of Boots and Shoes made from the "Kangora" new process leather. Absolutely waterproof. Durable, yet soft as kid.

Horror at Baltimore.

CONVICTS IMPRISONED IN FIRE—TWO LIVES LOST—MANY MADE UNCONSCIOUS

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 14th.—The combined terrors of tempest and flood and fire came to Baltimore last night. This morning broke clear, but the sun shone on fire and flood ruins representing $500,000, while men lay in the hospital who had inhaled smoke until they despaired of rescue and sank down to die of suffocation. Some of them are now dead. The fire started in the electric light plant of the Brush company about ten o'clock last night. It was caused by the crossing of electric wires. Soon the extensive plant was in flames and could not be saved. It was a great night for fire. The wind blew a gale and showers of sparks were carried great distances. Rain had, however, been falling in torrents for hours, and the drenched condition of everything out of doors aided the firemen in their efforts to confine the conflagration to the block bounded by Madison, Monument, Constitution and Graves streets. Suddenly the cry went up that the city jail and penitentiary buildings, fronting on Madison street half a block away, were on fire. The sparks carried by the raging gale had ignited the eaves and found their way down the ventilating shafts of the south wing of the city jail, a big stone structure. In the jail hundreds of prisoners were confined, while across the yard the Maryland penitentiary had locked in its cells some 600 convicts. Instantly there was an uproar among the prisoners in the jail. Smoke was filling the corridors, and the guards, who were satisfied that the flames would soon be extinguished, examined the locks to see that no prisoner could escape, and then went into the air. Fear turned into mad panic as the smoke thickened, and the confined men shrieked, cursed and prayed as the thin tongues of flames crept on the sills into the windows of their cells. They beat their heads and tore their clothes in an agony of terror. One poor fellow was later on carried out with a fractured skull. Meanwhile the guards, carrying the keys which would have liberated the men from the horrible smoke and fire trap, had realized that the danger was great. They attempted to return to the upper tiers of the south wing and liberate their charges, but were driven back by the impenetrable smoke. The firemen, urged on by the shrieks of the tortured men as well as by the cheers of the multitude below, staggered through the corridors, smashing lock after lock and releasing the occupants of the cells. Many of the prisoners were found unconscious. Others in their mad haste to escape jumped from the upper tiers to the floors below. Charles Dunn, colored, was fatally injured in this way and died this morning. It was more than two hours after the jail took fire before the last unconscious victim was carried out. The patrol wagons and ambulances conveyed 30 of the more seriously injured to the near-by hospitals. The other prisoners were treated and confined in the north wing of the jail or removed to the penitentiary. The hurricane played havoc with the wharves. Stores are flooded and business is being transacted in boats in streets bordering on the basin. The loss in this direction cannot yet be computed.

A Terrible Triple Tragedy.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—A terrible tragedy resulting in the horrible death of three persons has occurred on the Tweitzow estate of Count Blucher in Pomerania. A few days ago Count Blucher discovered that a man employed by him in the double capacity of gardener and gamekeeper was carrying on a liaison with a pretty young girl employed as a maid in the castle. The count at once discharged the man but retained the girl in his service, she professing great repentance for her wrong doing. The gardener was greatly enraged at his discharge and threatened to the other servants that he would have revenge. Nobody paid much attention to him, and hence occurred the tragedy that has thrown the place into mourning. It was the usual custom of Count and Countess Blucher to take a daily walk about their estate when the weather favored. To-day, in accordance with this custom, they started on a walk which led them to a wild and seldom frequented part of the estate. The gardener, who, of course, knew the Count's habits, had concealed himself in the woods, and when the couple entered he followed them. When they had reached a spot that the gardener thought fitted for the committing of his crime he sprang out before them armed with a double-barrelled gun. Almost before the Count could utter a word the gardener shot him in the head, and then shot the Countess in the neck. The murderer dropped his gun and ran to the castle. He entered the hall, and as the affrighted servants gathered about him to enquire, as to his wild and dishevelled appearance, he drew a revolver from his pocket and shot himself dead.

Labor Demonstration in London.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—There was a great demonstration of laboring men in Hyde Park yesterday. Processions entered the park from Oxford street, Piccadilly, preceded by bands and banners. The object of gathering was to make a declaration in support of the striking miners. Several members of the House of Commons, including T. P. O'Connor and John Burns, addressed the meeting. Stepniak, the Russian Nihilist, also spoke. Hyndman urged the men not to yield under any circumstances until their demands had been met. There were twelve speakers' platforms. The multitude was estimated at 20,000 persons. Resolutions were passed condemning the owners for endeavoring to defraud the miners of a reasonable wage rate, and charging them with paralyzing the whole trade of the country for their own selfish policy. The resolutions pledged support to the families of the miners and demanded fair payment. The assemblage was perfectly orderly.
