A Boy's Self-Sacrifice.

REDUCED TO POVERTY, HE COMMITS SUI-CIDE TO SAVE HIS MOTHER.

Details of the sad suicide of a boy of 12 in Dublin were given in the Dublin Social Review on Wednesday. In a house in the Coombe lived a family consisting of a mother and four children, who had been well-to-do people and were well connected, but owing to the bankruptcy and suicide of the father had been reduced to penury and obliged to live in one room, which three other families also occupied. They were in rags and almost starving.

A little son of 12 was so distracted at the sufferings of his mother and sisters that, in despair of being able to support them, he bought with a few shillings which he had earned some articles of clothing and papers entitling the buyer to insurance coupons. He then went and drowned himself in order that his family might be helped out of misery by his death. In his childish ignorance he did not know that his doing so would be considered a fraud and bring no benefit whatever to his dear ones. This is the letter which the poor child wrote to his mother before he went to his death:

"Dear Mother: I spent the four and sixpence half-penny for your benefit, and I hope the money it will bring you will help you to forgive my rash act. Tell the police to search in the harbor of Portobello and when they have found me get them to write a description of my clothes and what I have in my pockets. They will find a cap that cost sixpence and will entitle you to £200 insurance money; pair of suspenders, 4s. d., with a coupon on them for £300; a belt, 6d., for £100, and papers, one entitled you to £1,000 and the others to £500 each—in all £3,150. Don't spend too much on my funeral, and mind the money, which will make you rich. Your loving son,

"Ferdinand de Freyne Rieuzi de Courcy.

"P. S.—Good-bye."

Thirty Drowned or Killed

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 16.—The middle span of iron and timber work of the bridge now under construction between East Louisville and Jeffersonville, Ind., collapsed yesterday morning, crushing to death or drowning between 20 and 30 men and injuring about 20 more, some of whom will die. Only six bodies have been recovered. The south channel span, about 450 feet in length, was blown down shortly after 9 o'clock at night. So far as known no one was injured. This will entail an additional loss of $75,000.

The crash attracted the attention of those on the shore, and many turned away as they saw the men struggling in mid-air in their mad efforts to climb out of danger. When the huge mass of material struck the water all was concealed for an instant by the spray which was thrown into the air. As the water subsided here and there men could be seen struggling desperately to climb up on the timbers that thrust their ends above the water. A few succeeded in climbing to places of safety and were quickly rescued. Others struggled hopelessly and were carried off by the current to sink almost as rescue was at hand.

Disgusted With the Hangman.

Brockville Times: Reference was made in yesterday's issue to Hangman Radclive laying an information against three strangers for insulting him by calling him a black murderer, etc. At the time that Radclive complained to Chief Rose, it was the intention to bring the culprits to justice and have them fined heavily, but from the actions of Rad-clive after the execution and during the remainder of the day, the Chief became thoroughly disgusted with him—so much so that he positively refused to have anything to do with the case, his own private opinion being that the strangers had used language none too strong in depicting just what kind of a specimen of the human race he was.
In his shirt sleeves in the bar-rooms, drunk as an owl, he boated over the clean (?) job of the early morning, and talked in a manner that made the blood of some of his hearers run cold. He was so "paralyzed" in the afternoon that he could not get away on the 2.05 train, and it was with much difficulty that he boarded the 11:45 train for Toronto last night.
