

Shocked The Landlord.

AND THEY DID IT, TOO, WITH MALICE AFORETHOUGHT.

"We had been at a Rocky Mountain hotel for a week," said a Washington man who has just returned from the west, "and beefsteak and mutton chops had been on the bill of fare at every meal to the exclusion of all other meats. It was finally decided to send the colonel to the landlord to protest, and, having gained the ear of mine host he said:

"I want to speak to you in a good natured way about your meats."

"My meats!" echoed the landlord.

"Why, is there anything wrong about my meats? I'm getting the very best."

"It's beefsteak and mutton, you know?"

"Yes, I know, and they cost me a heap of money to get 'em here—yes, sir; almost worth their weight in silver—but I must have the best. What is it you complain of?"

"We don't complain. What I wanted to ask you was about game. There must be game around here?"

"Of course. Do you mean to say that your crowd wants venison, bear meat, antelope, prairie chicken, turkey, and so on?"

"Exactly. Yes, that's what we want."

"In place of beef and mutton?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll be hanged! Here, Jim, tell the boys to go out after a cartload of game and to keep it up for three or four days. Here's a crowd kicking about steaks at 35 cents per pound and chops at 30 and ready to fill up on game at $2 a ton! Well, you eastern folks beat the band in your queer tastes about eating! Next thing you'll be telling me you prefer wild goose to a Chicago sugar cured ham."

—Washington Post.

A Wasted Joke.

HE MEANT TO WORRY HIS WIFE, BUT HE DIDN'T.

"I don't think I'll try any more practical jokes on my wife. They don't pan out well."

"Elucidate."

"You see, she has a habit of hoisting the window in our room every night. As I usually go to bed last, she depends on me to hoist it. Sometimes I forget it, and then there's a wild squabble. Frequently she wakes me up in the night and asks me to see if it is open. If I don't, she nags at me until morning."

"A night or two ago I resolved to give her a hard scare. I rolled up a lot of old newspapers into a long bundle and laid the package down by the window. Of course she was asleep and didn't hear me. Then I opened the window a little way and crept into bed. Some time after midnight she nudged me and said:

"Jim, I'm sure you didn't open that window. It's like a bake oven in the room. Get up and see."

"So I got up, went to the window and threw the sash as high as it would go. As I did so I gave a little shriek and then flung my bundle down to the walk below. It struck with a dull thud, and I dodged behind the curtain to await developments. The room was very dark, and I couldn't see my wife, but I heard her raise herself to a sitting posture. Then she spoke.

"Poor old Jim!" she quietly said.

"He's tumbled out of the window in his raggedest nightshirt. What a spectacle he'll be when they find him in the morning!" Then she lay down again and went to sleep."

"What did you do?"

"Stood there shivering for a minute or two and then sneaked into bed."

The Providing Elder.

Walking through the streets in Frank lin, Tenn., I called to an old darkey just ahead of me, "Uncle, please tell me who lives in the red brick across the way?"

"Why, bless me, missis, dat is whar de providing elder lives!"

"And who lives up the hill in front of us?"

"Dat am de pasturage for de passon who am de Prisheterne preacher."

"Thank you, uncle. You have given me a great deal of information."

"Is it true, 'Nezer, that stolen chickens are the sweetest?"

"Dunno, boss, 'deed I don't. I nebber tasted de yudder kind."
