ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF
DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.
HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain

Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost.

EAST VICTORIA ELECTION.

Mr. Heyd on the Warpath.

Mr. Louis F. Heyd, K. C., the Liberal candidate, is now in the field, and has issued posters announcing the following meetings:

Fenelon Falls—In the town hall on Monday, February 24th.

Kinmount—In Scott's hall, on Tuesday, February 25th.

Haliburton—In the town hall, on Wednesday, February 26th.

Minden—In the town hall, on Thursday, February 27th.

Cobocook—In the Oddfellows' hall, on Friday, February 28th.

At each meeting the chair will be taken at 7:30 p. m., and Mr. Carnegie is invited to be present.

Without in the least disparaging past candidates, we can safely say that East Victoria never had one who went into the field with better prospects of redeeming the riding. Mr. Heyd is a man in the prime of life, and of exceptional abilities. He is a capital speaker, thoroughly well informed on all questions of public interest, and an experienced campaigner. Above all, his private character is as free from speck, spot or blemish as that of his opponent, Mr. Carnegie, against whom no Liberal has a word to say, except that he stands prepared to—at any moment, and on purely party grounds—aid in turning out the best Government the Province of Ontario ever had. Like other Liberals of the riding, we would have preferred a home candidate, but there was not one to be had, and the unanimity with which those present at the convention on the 12th inst. adopted Mr. Heyd, after hearing him speak, proved conclusively that they considered him "the right man in the right place." He impressed himself upon them as a "fighter," and if those to whom he looks for support will bestir themselves in the coming campaign as actively as he will, we have no fears as to the result. It is to be hoped that Mr. Heyd's meetings will be well attended, especially by Conservatives, many of whom will, we doubt not, be convinced of the error of their political ways.

The South African War.

The war in South Africa still drags along, and the few thousands of Boers in the field are fighting away as obstinately as ever; but we are told that "the army estimates disclose a reduction of 30,000 men on the pay rolls and a general reduction in the cost of the service, which is an official indication that the Boer operations are regarded as well nigh at an end." Some little time ago we were told that DeWet's "last gun" had been captured, and that he himself had narrowly escaped being caught; but he is still at large and will probably give more trouble. Several small Boer reverses have been mentioned in recent despatches; but about 150 British mounted infantrymen were led into an ambush and badly cut up while patrolling the Klip river, south of Johannesburg, on Wednesday of last week. A single Boer broke away from a farmhouse that had been surrounded, and was at once pursued. The fugitive climbed a kopje, and, while the British were following, a heavy fire was opened upon them from three sides. They were in a regular trap, and lost two officers and ten men killed, and several officers and forty men wounded before they were able to fall back under cover of a blockhouse. The infantry are said to be all fresh from home and unused to Boer tactics. Major Dowell, the commander of the force, was among the killed. A despatch from London on the 17th inst. says:

"Bishop Hartzell, according to the latest mail advices from the Cape, has been preaching with great force to Dutch and English congregations on the moral aspects of the war, taking the British side with almost passionate earnestness, and appealing to the Boer soldiers, after their heroic resistance, to be brave enough to acknowledge defeat and desist from warfare, which could not be justified on the grounds of expediency or necessity. The American bishop also boldly predicted the reunion of the warring races in South Africa, almost as speedily as the North and South had been drawn together after the Civil War."

The Prohibition Referendum.

A prohibition bill on the lines of the Manitoba act has received its first reading, and a referendum on the bill will be submitted to the people on the 14th of October next. The provisions of the bill would take up more space than we can afford, and they have already appeared in detail in all the city papers. To validate the act it will be necessary for it to obtain a number of votes equal to more than half the number polled at the approaching Provincial election; or, as the Globe says, "the principle of the referendum is, that prohibition sentiment shall show itself to be as strong as Liberal or Conservative sentiment." Thus, if 400,000 votes are polled in the general election, at least 200,001 must be polled for prohibition, or the bill will not pass. The Gazette has always been opposed to the liquor traffic—the total abolition of which would be one of the greatest blessings the world ever saw—and will welcome with joy, if it can be obtained, even the partial measure of prohibition provided by the Manitoba act. We are not inclined to agree with the many leading prohibitionists who think the conditions of the referendum unfair, because it requires too many votes to be cast in its favor; but, rather, take the reasonable view of the Toronto Star, which says:

"In requiring the Prohibition Act to poll half as many votes as are cast in the intervening Provincial elections, it is only necessary that less than forty per cent. of the qualified voters shall declare in favor of it. Those who realize what a revolution this law contemplates should consider whether it would be safe to give to any lesser proportion of the people the right to place the Province under such a law. It may be a simple thing to write a law on the statute book, but this law is one which it will be useless to pass unless it be so well supported by public opinion that it will be so well enforced that it will be finally accepted and permanently maintained as the law of Ontario."

Lynch Them if Necessary.

Our neighbor, the Bobcaygeon Independent, says:

"A head line in a daily paper states that the Intercolonial is not in the market. If it were, it would be high time for an axe and block on Parliament Hill, Ottawa."

Right you are, Smiff. If a people's representatives, secure in their position from one election to another, persist in acting in direct opposition to the known wishes of the people, they ought to be incontinently hanged or beheaded. When all other law fails, Lynch law is a good thing to fall back upon. Ask the electors of Kansas City, Kansas, if it isn't. Some time ago the authorities, for the time being, of that city were about to renew a street railway franchise, although the whole people, with the exception of an interested few, objected to the renewal. Remonstrances were in vain, as all the councillors had, it is alleged, been bribed; so, on the night upon which public opinion was to be set at defiance, the Kansas City council chamber was visited by a "compact little phalanx" of resolute citizens, who took with them a sufficient number of ropes to hang every mother's son of the councillors if they persisted in renewing the franchise—but they didn't. In this Dominion the known wish of an overwhelming majority of the people will be respected, and there is no likelihood of "an axe and block on Parliament Hill" being necessary; but there ought to be in our constitution, as there is in Switzerland, some provision for blocking legislation that would be inimical to the interests of the public.

Canadian Cattle in Aberdeenshire.

The removal of the British embargo on Canadian cattle is evidently still a live question in Scotland, as shown by the following item from a recent issue of the "North British Agriculturist," a paper which has strongly opposed the free admission of Canadian "Stores":

"A rather curious debate for a literary society, 'Should the restrictions on Canadian cattle be removed?' was held in the public hall, New Deer, under the auspices of the local literary society. The local papers state that there was a large attendance, and considerable interest was taken in the debate. Mr. Milne, coachbuilder, supported the negative, and Mr. Godsman, of Mains of Fedderate, the affirmative. Mr. Milne made an able speech in favor of his side, pointing out the injury that would be done to small farmers and crofters who depended mainly on their stock for a living, were Canadians admitted; but Mr. Godsman, who argued mainly on Free Trade theories, was one too many for him, and in the end carried the affirmative by a considerable majority. The great majority of those present were not farmers at all, but the vote shows how opinion may go even in this large cattle breeding country."

Something Like a Trip.

The Globe of Monday last says: "Mr. J. F. Junkin, Managing Director of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, is leaving Toronto for an extended trip, in which business will be combined with pleasure. He will spend two weeks in Egypt and a month in India, where he will be accompanied by the Indian Manager, Mr. Ellis. He will visit Burma and the Straits, calling at Penang and Singapore, and will spend some time in Hong Kong, Shanghai and other cities in China. He will also make a tour of Japan, and will call at several points in the Philippines, Australia and South Africa will be visited during the tour. The route has been well selected from the point of view of interest as well as of business." The above was set up for last week's issue, but was crowded out.—Ed.
