

JERSEYS.—On our way from the station, last Tuesday, we called at Mr. George H. Littleton's to look at a Jersey cow that he bought about a month ago from Dr. Broad, of Lindsay. She is a cream-colored beauty, coming five years old, and, though she calved about the first of December, and will "come in" some time in September next, is making over a pound of butter a day, which she will probably nearly double if she can be put into a field in which she can fill herself with grass in a couple of hours, and then lie down and convert it into milk. Mr. Littleton paid only $42 for her, but it cost him between two and three dollars more to get her home. About the same time Mr. Job Palmer bought a yearling Jersey heifer for $15, and Mr. William Barber a Jersey heifer calf, a few days old, for $5, from Mr. Joseph Thornhill, who lives near the sand-pit, just this side of Lindsay. There are two other Jerseys in town—a cow six or seven years old, for which Mr. Alfred Northey paid $75, and a three-year-old which Mr. James Knox bought from Mr. Townsend and sold to Mr. D. T. Northey.
