NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.
4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Daily Mail Crops.

The farms of this country are not crowded if the average yields per acre of cereal crops are evidences. There is a lack of judgment in farming, and there is also plenty of room for improvement. We should grow twice as much wheat and corn on the area annually devoted to those crops. There are probably too many large farms that are not well cultivated, and it is these that reduce the average yields.—American Fertilizer.

WE REPAIR WAGGONS AND BUGGIES.

If your wheeled vehicles need repairing of any description we can do the work as well as anybody in the county.

We can repaint your buggy and make it look like a new one, or will sell you a new one and take your old one in part payment.

He Got Ambitious.

"I had a man on my place," said the Wyoming ranch owner, "who turned out to be so lazy and worthless that I gave orders to have him discharged. He came to me about it, and I said: 'Jim, you've got to go. You are not worth your salt. Take you all in all, I never saw a more worthless man.' 'Don't you believe I'll ever amount to anything?' he asked.

"You'll never be fit for wolf bait." "I went away looking very dejected, and I saw no more of him for three days. Then he rode up on a horse and called me out and said:

"Major, I just stopped to let you see how mistaken you was. I've robbed the Blue Hills stage of $400, stolen this horse, broke into a postoffice and cleared out three Chinamen in the last three days, and now I'm off to help rob a passenger train. So long, major—so long!"

A Dispensation.

"I never really understood what was meant by a dispensation of Providence until I bought a summer hotel a few years ago," said the colonel.

"How did that elucidate the question?" was asked.

"Why, I ran it through the season at a loss of $10,000."

"Well?"

"Then it burned down during the winter, and I raked in $34,000 insurance."

The Right Dimensions.

"What is the proper size for a ping-pong ball?" asked the amateur of the expert.

"Opinions differ," answered the expert, "but I prefer one that is about as large as a quinine pill feels when it gets stuck in your throat."—Baltimore American.

Fighting.

Sympathetic Maiden
—Why, you poor boy, have you been fighting?
Boy—No; I've been fought.

Hard Luck.

Blowhard—My ancestors had blue blood in their veins.
Biffer—Too bad! I suppose there were not so many blood purifiers on the market in those days as there are now.—Ohio State Journal.

Horrors.

"I understand Gregor MacGregor has written a novel that's just full of baby talk."
"Not only that, but it's Scotch baby talk."—Philadelphia Press.

Maude's Married.

"I'm glad Maude's married."
"Yet you refrained from congratulation, she tells me."
"Yes; I pitied the bridegroom."—San Francisco Town Talk.

An Indolent Fantasy.

I wish dar was a money tree;
De maple's purty fine,
But 'tain't enough to satisfy
Dese pressin' needs of mine—
A tree whose leaves was dollar bills,
Whose fruit was coins of gold;
I tells you what, it would be fine
To watch dem buds unfold.
I'd lie aroun' dar all de June;
I'd lie dar in July;
I'd never quit dat shady spot
Till summer time went by.
I'd doze an' dream an' take my ease;
I'd loaf an' never stop
A-waitin' foh dem leaves to fall
An' foh dat fruit to drop.
—Washington Star.

A Tribute to Greatness.

"Biggsby is a worshiper of notoriety. What do you s'pose he did yesterday?"
"Give it up."
"Took off his hat to a roast of beef in a butcher's window."

One Talent.

"What an original fellow he is!"
"Yes; he has made a study of it."—Life.

A Valuable Note.

An honest old blacksmith down in Texas, despairing of ever getting cash out of a delinquent debtor, agreed to take his note for the amount due. The debtor wished to go to a lawyer and have the document drawn up, but the knight of the anvil, who had been a sheriff in days gone by, felt fully competent to draw it up himself. This he proceeded to do, with the following result:—"On the first day of June I promise to pay Jeems Nite the sum of eleven dollars, and if said note be not paid on the date aforesaid, then this instrument is to be null and void and of no effect. Witness my hand, etc."

Good Chance for a Job.

Tramp—Kind madam, I hain't hed nuthin' t' eat for two weeks—
Woman at the door—Wait till I call my husband; he's a dime museum manager, and may give you a fasting job.

Ran in the Family.

"Going to get married? What for?"
"Well, why shouldn't I? My father did so, and my grandfather before me."
"I see—one of those hereditary misfortunes, I suppose."
