The Man Who Succeeds.

We always like to see a man so far as he has opportunity make the most of the natural resources at his command, like to see him drain a bog, reforest a bleak hillside with evergreens or forest trees turn the course of a stream and irrigate his land, keep pure bred animals and fowls and plant only pure bred seed. Such a man may not cut so big a splurge as some of the so called big farmers which cover hundreds of acres, but he makes an intelligent success of his calling and enjoys his work every day.

To Improve Hog's Manners.

The agricultural department is going to try some experiments in hog breeding to see whether a better behaved sort of animal cannot be evolved. We question the wisdom of the effort. The hog is all right when he is properly cared for. He is not a scavenger save as he is forced to it, and when well fed on proper food and cared for in a clean manner he is about as decent a domestic animal as there is on the farm.

Bacteria in the Dairy.

Only a few years ago if any one had talked to a dairyman of bacteria he would have been laughed at as a semi-lunatic. Now every competent dairyman makes a special study of these minute organisms and cultivates some and kills others. Some families of bacteria are necessary, some unnecessary and others pernicious. To distinguish these and utilize a knowledge of their habits and properties is a part of the daily work of the modern dairyman, whether his product be milk, butter or cheese.

Exercise Idle Horses.

Horses which have been running about the straw stack or kept in small lots should work some from now on or they will not be in fit condition for spring work. Although it will take some time and cause some annoyance, it pays to work every horse or mule two or three days each week. On farms where there are 15 or 20 horses and only two or four are needed each day, this will be inconvenient, but if persisted in will more than pay. When the season opens, the horses will be in good condition and ready to do good work without injury to themselves.

Indigestion.

When birds begin to mope around, not caring to eat, and their odors are found to be offensive, there is trouble that must be attended to at once or more complicated diseases will set in and many birds will die. The disease is indigestion, caused by feeding too much rich food. As soon as discovered the birds should be put on a plain diet, which should be reduced in quantity as well as quality. With their diet it will be well to mix a little powdered charcoal or give the birds rhubarb pills, a grain to each chick.

Early Spring Garden Hints.

Was your garden dug up in the fall? It should be getting pulverized by frosts and air and be more easily worked in spring.

Is your chimney full of soot? Clean it and save the soot. It is a splendid fertilizer and preventive of insects, especially around fruit trees and bushes.

The garden is the best paying part of the farm. You don't believe it! Well, keep an account of it next summer and see if it's not.

Do not think because certain vegetables are cheap it doesn't pay to grow them. The chances are they may produce three or four times more value on the same piece of ground than fancy vegetables, with far less work.

Eleven of the thirteen silos built by our neighbors last year were of cement plaster, says an Ohio Farmer correspondent.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Mulching conserves moisture, hinders weeds, and keeps strawberries clean.

The ground into which young seedlings, such as tomato and cabbage plants are transplanted should be fine and well firmed about the roots of the plants.

A Glided Rule.

"You know you should love your neighbor as yourself."
"But the trouble is when I try to do that I always end by hating myself."—Brooklyn Life.

College Bred.

"What is college bred, pop?"
"College bred, my boy, is something which requires a lot of dough to make."
—Yonkers Statesman.

And the Dining Room.

"Lively game, isn't it?"
"Oh, yes. It has brought the stream of life into the parlor."—Puck.

Cleaning Glass Globes.

An excellent way is to wash globes with soap and water, in which a little salt of lemon has been mixed. The great difficulty in the way of getting the ground portion of the globe to look white is grease, which, setting thoroughly in the roughness, is very difficult to remove by soap and water alone, or even by the help of soda. After the globes have been carefully washed in the manner recommended, do not dry them with a cloth, but, after allowing water to run on them for awhile, let them drain dry.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. 4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
