Miss Olden-My! I could never have The face to wear such a low necked dress as that.

Miss Young-No, of course not, dear : nor the shoulders, either.

Willie (at his lessons)-Say, pa, what's a fortification?

Pa-A fortification, my son, is a large fort. Willie-Then is a ratification a large

She-Do you remember how you said when you were courting me that if I would marry you I would have nothing to do all my days but sit about and look pretty? And how different it is now!

He-Well, it isn't my fault if you can't look pretty any more.

"Pretty good joke on that latest jealous lover, wasn't it?"

· " Go on." "Why, he got a gun and started out to kill his sweetheart, but he was so blamed cross eyed that he shot himself in the back of the head instead."

"John, when you came home last night you talked and acted very queerly. You were lifting your feet endeavoring to step over imaginary obstaclesi"

I felt as if I were walking on clouds. You remember we had angel cake for supper."

"I tell you," exclaimed the slim individual, "that water is heaven's greatest gift to man."

" Are you a prohibitionist?" asked a bystander, taking him cordially by the "No, sir," was the reply, "I sell milk." After a thunderstorm Bridget informed her mistress that someone on the golf links had been struck by light

"Was it one of the caddie boys?" inquired the lady. " No, mum; I think his name was Murphy," replied Bridget.

She-When are you going to give methe money to buy that new dress? He-Next week.

"That's what you said last week." "Yes, and that's what I say now and am going to say next week. I ain't the kind of man who saysonething one weekand another thing next week."

"Genius," said the Billville citizen, "is not confined to time or place. Look at that boy yonder, fer instance. He was tryin to 'break' a young mule to harness when the creetur throwed him into the top of a pine saplin, but no sooner did he land than he grabbed a possum what wuz roostin thar, slid down the tree with him, and now the old lady's cookin that possum fer dinner."

Shye-I want your advice. I feel that I'm falling in love with a lady, and I m afraid if I keep on I shall be miserable, because I'll never have the courage to propose.

Newitt-Is it the Widow Bright I saw you with to-day?

Shye-Yes.

Newitt-You needn't worry about proposing. "If you would marry me," he plead. ed," I am sure you would make a better man of me." " No," she replied decisively," I shall never marry a man to reform him; but,' she added as she put her hand where he could easily reach it, " I am not averse to reforming a man to marry him." "I see now what my old mother meant," said Mr. Newlywed, as he took up a particularly soggy piece of bread. .. What your mother meant ?" echoed his w fe. " Yes, what my mother meant. When I used to find fault with the meat or the biscuits, she would shake her-head prophetically and say : Never mind, my boy. You may see the day when you will be glad to get this."

"You never loved me!" exclaimed the bride of a week

"True, I did not," answered the brutal bridegroom, with a sneer, as he wrote an order for the expressman to come for her baggage.

" Then why did you marry me?" she a caned, gazing tearfully into the mirfor to see if her hat was on straight.

" I did it," he answered hoarsely, ' to pay an election bet."

They were looking over the paper together. "Oh, my, how funny !" said

"What is it?' he asked.

"Why, here's an advertisement that s: ys, 'No reasonable offer refused."

"What is there odd about that?" "Nothing, nothing," she replied, tryirg to blush; "only those are my sentiments."

Another wedding shortly.

Barber - Why is it that you and your brothers are so bald? Victim-I'll tell you if you'll promise to say nothing more about it. Barber -- Sure. Wictim (whispering)-It's because our hair has fallen out.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made. 3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. 4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
