The Patrons in Parliament.

The Gazette has always maintained that the Patrons of Industry could not benefit the farming community by sending representatives of their Order to the Local Legislature, unless they could elect them in more than half the constituencies in the Province, which, of course, would enable them to do pretty much as they pleased; and by this time they are probably beginning to think that we were not far wrong. Mr. Haycock, their leader, is a level-headed, well informed man, but his "compact little phalanx" of followers can do comparatively nothing as a third party in the House, and when they try to carry out one of their little fads the Liberals and Conservatives unite and sit upon them, as witness their attempted legislation regarding the medical profession and railway passes. But it will be different when they get into the House of Commons, for there, instead of messing with motions of minor importance, they will have to lend their aid to turn out the present Government or vote for a continuation of the trade policy which is chiefly responsible for the unsatisfactory condition of the farming community. In a word, there is nothing for them to do in the Local Legislature, where they are a cause of anxiety to both parties and of no benefit to their Order, while at Ottawa their avowed principles as Patrons will impel them to vote for Liberal measures which are identical with the measures called for by their own published programme. We thought from the first that it would be a mistake for them to interfere with Provincial legislation, by which they are neither helped nor injured to an appreciable extent, and the results of their having done so confirm our opinion.

The Box Factory.

On Monday morning a new and unknown noise in the air set our villagers to wondering what it meant, but they soon ascertained that it was caused by the machinery in the box factory, which had been set in motion for the first time to see whether it was all in perfect running order. In a very few minutes quite a crowd had gathered in the spacious building, and stood watching while a few boards were put through the machines and came out planed on both sides almost as smooth as glass, and "matched" as accurately as an experienced and careful carpenter could have done it by hand. Of course it was found that some of the belts wanted tightening and several little things needed "fixing," and the machinery was soon stopped, but it has been set going three or four times since then, and the last time we were over we learned that it was probable the factory would be in operation by the end of the week, as there is an immense quantity of dry lumber and box stuff piled up in the yard. The principal machines are ten in number, viz: one double surface planer, two double matchers, one band re-saw, one moulder, one small matcher for ear siding, &c., one box matcher, one swing cut-off saw, one power feed cut-off saw, and one edger. In addition to these there are knife grinders and emery wheels, and upstairs, where the fans are located, there will be some small machinery which has not yet arrived. The fans suck the sawdust and chips from the planers up a large galvanized iron tube and then drive them through a wooden spout 170 feet long and two feet square into the kiln, where they are consumed with the refuse from the sawmill. The spout is about twenty feet from the ground and level till within a short distance from the kiln, when it rapidly descends until its contents will enter the kiln so low down that there appears to be little danger of them being blown unconsumed from the top of the chimney.

Not Contagious.

On March 27th Dr. Mason was called by the board of health of Somerville to Cobocook to make an investigation of a disease that had broken out among cattle in that vicinity. The disease manifests itself by swelling of the limbs and sloughing of the hoof, and in some cases the animals lose all the lower joints of the foot. After a thorough enquiry into the cases, it was found to be due to eating ergotised grasses and is known as gangrenous ergotism. The disease has been seldom met with in Canada, but in the county of Grey last summer the Government inspector of stock found some few cases existing near Flesherton and Markdale. The disease is not contagious, and therefore no alarm need be caused by its appearance in this locality.

Personals:

Mr. W. R. Madill of Toronto was at the Falls on Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Thomas Robson left yesterday morning for a trip to Port Hope and Peterborough.

Mr. C. G. Cody of Toronto, agent for the Massey-Harris agricultural implements, was at the Falls on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Charles Burgoyne left on Tuesday to attend the Maccabee Convention at Sarnia, to which he was appointed a delegate by the local tent.

Mrs. William Gardiner of Omemece was at the Falls yesterday attending the funeral of the infant son of her cousin, Mrs. Peter Deyman.

Mr. William Bowman, who left the Falls 19 years ago, and was home on a visit four years later, returned on Tuesday last from Saginaw, Michigan, to take the responsible and exceedingly well paid position of head filer in Howry & Sons' mill and box factory.

Mrs. Joseph McArthur and Clare, Mrs. J. E. Brandin and her little daughter, Miss Heeley, Miss Hand, Mr. F. A. McDiarmid and Mr. Wm. Graham, all left yesterday morning for Toronto, where some of them will remain for two or three days and others for longer periods.

Mr. John Henderson, who is in the employ of Howry & Sons, left last Monday to help bring down a drive of the firm's logs lying near Gooderham, and next day Messrs. Albert and William Colmer, Clayton Barr, Edward Tiers and John Quinn left to drive logs for the Gilmours, and expect to be employed all summer; as the logs will have to be brought from beyond Dorset, about 70 miles north of Minden.

Dr. and Mrs. Berry of Chicago, who came to the Falls last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Heard (who was the doctor's sister,) left last Monday for Brighton, where they have relatives whom they wish to visit before going home. They were so pleased with our pretty and picturesque village, that they intend to return and spend some weeks here in the summer; and it is quite probable that their favorable report of the Falls and its surroundings may induce some of their city acquaintances to follow their example.

Verulam Council Proceedings.

The council met on Monday, April 8th, in the town hall, Bobcaygeon, Reeve Lithgow in the chair, with deputy-reeve John Kelly and councillors Junkin and Mann present.

Moved by Mr. Mann, seconded by Mr. Junkin, That the reeve and deputy-reeve be instructed to inspect the road where N. Hall upset his threshing machine, and at the same time get a few practical teamsters or others to inspect the place, and be on the ground at 2 p. m. on Friday, 19th inst.—C'd.

A communication was received from M. Nasmith, proposing to build a wharf on his property, open to the public, and give the right of way thereto, on the condition that the council give him the material in the present ruined wharf on the Scotch line.

On motion of Messrs. Kelly and Mann, Mr. Nasmith's proposal was agreed to.

The following accounts were passed: W. Ray, building culvert, $1.50; The clerk, on salary, '95, $25; Treasurer, balance salary '94, $27.80; M. Cain, flour J. Johnston, charity, $1.70. The council then adjourned until May 27th, to meet as a court of revision.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT SUIT.—The arguments of the counsel engaged in the electric light suit were heard in chambers on Monday last, but judgment has not yet been given, and the question of costs is to be "spoken-to" at Court here on the 25th inst.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—Mr. Geo. Ruthford has sold his grocery business in Cunningham's block to Mr. W. J. Ellison, from Garden Hill, who took possession last week.

See McCallum's new spring stock of tweeds before buying elsewhere.

TO THE LADIES.—Read Mrs. R. McDougall's advertisement in this week's Gazette. She is holding her annual 30 day's sale, during which great bargains in millinery, trimmings &c. will be given.

THE COSGROVES.—There was a good attendance at the entertainment given by the Cosgroves in Dickson's hall on Monday evening, the receipts amounting to nearly $35. It was their third visit to the Falls, and they have always had good houses.

Mac McCallum has the best selected stock of spring goods ever offered in Fenelon Falls.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.—On Wednesday morning, a little before train time, people were wondering why so many pedagogues and pedagogues were in the village, until it was ascertained that they were going to Lindsay to attend the East Victoria teachers' convention held there on that and the following day.

THE EVENING POST.—Messrs. Wilson, of the Lindsay Post, commenced issuing an evening edition on Monday last, and it is unnecessary to say that it is well got up and ably edited. It is the first attempt ever made to establish a daily paper in our county town, and we hope the proprietors will meet with the success their enterprise merits.

DENTAL.—Dr. Neelands, dentist, Lindsay, will be at the McArthur House, Fenelon Falls, on Tuesday, April 16th. He will have a complete gas apparatus for extracting teeth. He also uses local pain obtunders. Dr. Neelands has procured electric motors, and is using electric power for running his dental engine and lathes. This is a great improvement over the ordinary foot power.

RECEIVED HIS DIPLOMA.—Mr. R. J. Henry, who practised here last summer with Dr. Mason, returned on Friday last, the 5th inst., after spending another session at the Ontario Veterinary College. At the recent examination he graduated as a veterinary surgeon, receiving the diploma of the council of the Agriculture & Arts Association, and was also presented with an honorary certificate by the Veterinary Medical Society of the college.

Mac McCallum's prices are the lowest in town, and a fit is guaranteed every time.

BREAD AND MEAT.—Mr. C. J. Lamb, of Verulam, is making preparations to resume the baking business in Fenelon Falls, and has rented Mr. Jordan's oven and premises on Francis street west. Messrs. Ouillette & Sova have moved their butchering business from south of the river to one of Mr. Joseph Nevison's two shops on the east side of Colborne street, and it is rumored that another butcher intends to commence in the premises they have just vacated.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—On Tuesday evening about forty of Howry & Son's horses returned from the shanties, where they have been working all winter, and there must be nearly four hundred more to come, unless some of them are sold instead of being brought back to the Falls. They will be kept here until the nights get warm and the grass is long enough for them to get a bite, when their shoes will be taken off and they will be turned loose to spend their summer holidays on Grand Island.

All well dressed people buy their suits from Mac McCallum.

MORE MACHINERY.—Men were at work two or three days ago putting the last of the shingles on the roof of a new building which Mr. John A. Ellis has had erected about 150 feet from his saw-mill on the shore of Cameron lake, and which is to contain a planing and matching machine, a rip-saw and a cut-off saw, all of which have arrived and are quite new. They are to be driven by the portable 12 h.p. engine that Mr. Ellis has had for several years and that came in so handy to load the railway cars with ice four or five winters ago. The railway track runs between the sawmill and the new building, which, with its contents, cost about $800, not including the engine.

PREPARING TO BUILD.—On Monday morning Mr. David Varcoe commenced digging trenches for the foundation walls of a dwelling house that Mr. Thomas Poulson is about to build, for his own occupancy, on the half acre lot on Francis street east which he purchased some time ago from Mr. Wm.
