

Rosedale.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Mrs. John Hughes of Orillia is visiting her father, Mr. Thomas Smith of Rosedale, accompanied by her little niece, Miss Edith Brooks of Severn Bridge.

We are pleased to see our old friend, Mrs. Brokenshire, able to be out again. Miss Emily Perrin is on the sick list, but we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. John Irwin, caretaker of Grand Island in Balsam lake, has taken to himself a life partner. We wish him a long and happy life, and may his only troubles be "little ones."

A MUSICAL TREAT.—A garden party is to be held in the Rectory grounds to-night, and all lovers of good singing should attend, as Mrs. Piikie of Lindsay, Mrs. Frank Goodwin of Chicago, and Mr. John Petty have kindly promised to be present and lend their valuable vocal assistance to make the party a success.

TRIMMED HATS 50c. and upwards; untrimmed hats from 20c. and upwards. Mrs. R. McDougall.

THANKS.—Mr. James Patterson of Verulam will please accept our thanks for his present, on Saturday last, of a basketful of fine, large, juicy apples of the Duchess variety. Quite a number of farmers in this vicinity now have thriving orchards, but we doubt whether any of them can show a better sample of apples than Mr. Patterson can, whatever they may be able to do in other fruits.

Call and see Mac's stock of fall Overcoatings, the largest and best selected stock ever sold in Fenelon Falls.

PRETTY FEET.—During the holiday season, the appearance upon our streets of strangers in canoeing or camping out costumes is so common as not to excite surprise; but on Wednesday one of a party of young men attracted some little attention by walking around the village shoeless and stockingless, and with his bloomers rolled up to his knees. We were only near enough to him to notice that the lower part of his legs was nearly as white as Mr. McFarland's sorrel horse's, and with about the same amount of calf; but we suppose he was conscious of the possession of pretty feet, and wanted to give everybody he met an opportunity of admiring them.

Now is the time to get a cheap hat at Mrs. McDougall's. The summer stock must go to make room for the fall stock.

THE WATERWORKS.—Mr. Jackett is still working by fits and starts at laying down underground pipes to supply spring water to those who need it, and in course of time will probably be "irrigating" a considerable portion of the village. A short time ago he extended his system down Francis street east as far as Clifton street, and now he is invading Francis street west, but how far along it he will lay pipes depends upon how many householders will pay for water. It would have been better if the corporation had owned the waterworks, but there were obstacles in the way, and we are glad to see that Mr. Jackett is persevering in the enterprise and has now no doubt that it will be a pecuniary success.

Call and see our hats in dark shades for fall wear. Mrs. R. McDougall.

The same price to every one at the leading Tailor's, one door below the barber shop, Fenelon Falls.—24.

FROM STURGEON POINT.—On Friday last the L. L. Club of Sturgeon Point, consisting of the Misses Woods, Neill, Carmichael, Groat, Winters, Corneil, Dick and Kirk, and Messrs. Gregory, Carmichael, Greer and Widdess, chartered the staunch steamer Nouna Roy and cruised over the blue waters of Sturgeon Lake to our beautiful and picturesque village. First taking in the sights of Howry & Sons' large mill, thence to that firm's private railway to "Mudville," having been honored by a pass from one of the officials, who became somewhat attached to the fair sex of the party. They then repaired to Mr. Twomey's commodious hotel and partook of a sumptuous repast. After bidding adieu to their many new friends, they wended their way to the loek wharf, where the captain shouted "all aboard," and they were soon on their way to L. L. Cottage, Sturgeon Point.

McCallum, the only Fashionable Tailor in town, has just received his fall stock of cloths, which are being sold at prices to suit the times.
