Do you want to buy a home with the money you now pay for rent? So long as the masses of the people do not save anything out of their earnings, just so long will their spendings go into the hands of those who do save, and thus are the capitalists. This is why the few own the houses and the many pay the rent.

A Highwayman.

HELD UP A FRAZERVILLE FARMER AND DEMANDED MONEY.

Archie Reynolds of Frazerville met with a thrilling experience on Friday night. He was returning from his farm to Frazerville at 10 o'clock in the evening, driving a team of horses. The road was lonely and the night was weirdly dim by the faint moonlight. Mr. Reynolds did not feel any too secure for he had $100 in his pocket, and the recent depredations of tramps were fresh in his mind. Consequently he was urging the horses along at pretty good speed. When about one and a half miles from Frazerville, and passing along a stretch of timber, a man suddenly appeared in the middle of the road and seizing the horses by the bridles exclaimed:

"I want your money, shell it out d—n quick, or I'll put a bullet through you!"

Mr. Reynolds had his money in an inside coat pocket, and along with it was his pipe. In order to get the "wad" out, he took the pipe out first. The pipe saved Mr. Reynolds's money. It had a silver band around it, and this glistened in the moonlight. As soon as he produced his favorite caubeen the man started to run. Mr. Reynolds was at a loss to know why the highwayman should take fright so easily. Then he looked at his pipe, which he had grasped in his hand by the bowl, and it at once dawned upon him that the would-be-murderer had mistaken it for a pistol. So Mr. Reynolds drove home much relieved and duly impressed with the great service his pipe had rendered him. —Peterborough Times.

Paid in Advance.

About two months ago Mr. Aaron Comstock, the well-known George street undertaker, was summoned to the residence of a widow lady living near Peterborough. Mr. Comstock repaired to the lady's house and was greeted with the following strange request:

"I want you to make out the bill for my funeral expenses, and I will pay it now."

Naturally, the request was a staggerer, and the worthy undertaker tried to dissuade the lady from her determination to pay for her funeral, while still in the flesh. "Why," he said, "you may outlive me."

But the lady insisted. She knew she would not live very long and she wanted everything settled before she departed this life. Finally Mr. Comstock made out the bill and the lady paid it. Less than two weeks ago the lady in question expired, and the undertaker fulfilled the agreement he had been paid for in advance. —Peterborough Times.

Another Human Fiend.

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 5th.—This week the hearing of one of the most celebrated cause celebres in the annals of criminal law in Germany begins. The case will be heard in the court of Prenzlau. The man accused is a blacksmith named Springstein, who is alleged to have poisoned his wife, mother and mother-in-law, the latter's son, a governess, a girl named Freckleborn, and one of his apprentices. All these crimes were carried out with the most diabolical skill. Springstein is also accused of having murdered his father by throwing him into a pond and holding his head under water until he expired. The man is a monster in every sense of the word. He got rid of his victims—"polished them off," as he cynically put it to a man whom he had taken into his confidence—"by means of strychnine," of which he got a large quantity.

Diseased Horse Flesh.

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 2.—Three employees of Moore's horse meat packing house have been arrested by Sheriff Hayes and four deputies, after a most exciting chase through the dense timber and brush in one of the loneliest and most inaccessible parts of Lake County. The men were armed with heavy axes, which they attempted to use on their captors, but they were overpowered and brought to this city in a patrol wagon. At police headquarters they gave their names as Ferdinand Crim, William Ott and Matthew Mier. The charges against them are killing diseased horses and disposing of the meat for food. The men were placed under $300 bonds, in default of which they were taken to Crown Point.

The Gold Boom.

EXPERTS SAY IT WILL BE ON IN BRITISH COLUMBIA IN THREE YEARS.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2nd.—A report came in yesterday that a rich gold-bearing ore has been discovered in a ledge at Agassiz, B. C., two or three hours' ride from Vancouver, while the gravel in the stream running through a poor settler's acre farm was found to be heavily gold-bearing. The excitement over the Agassiz strike almost equals the nervous unrest occasioned by the Lulu Island affair, which is still turning men's heads. In fact, in a radius of one hundred miles around the cities of Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, promising fields are becoming so frequent that credulous citizens are looking for big gold nuggets in their back yards and in vacant lots in commercial centres of the province. Experts now in the city claim that the boom will be here in three years, and from appearances it will come with the flowers that bloom in the spring, and will be as welcome.

Australian Cattle.

A most formidable competitor of the United States and Canada for the control of the European cattle market has arisen in Australia. New South Wales and Queensland, where the industry flourishes, have about ten times as much land fit for cattle feeding as the whole Province of Ontario, while much of this land is so scantily supplied with natural water as to greatly limit live stock operations. The Government has come to the rescue, and by successful experiments in artesian well boring has vastly extended the possibilities of the industry. At present prices cattle can be raised in Queensland at a profit on the hides alone. In that colony, there are 7,000,000 head of cattle and 2,500,000 in New South Wales. Evidently the hides are more valuable over there than here, or else feed is vastly cheaper. Our main hold is to grow a better grade of beef cattle than they can.

Vexatious Regulations.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The recent order of the United States Government to the Customs officials to examine the baggage of all passengers on trains coming into this country, has occasioned quite a severe loss in business to the trunk lines passing through Canada, through passengers objecting to the annoyance of being aroused in the middle of the night to have their luggage examined by the Customs officers. To put an end to this difficulty, the Michigan Central Railway employs now five special officials, whose duty it is to travel between this port and Buffalo and Detroit on the Michigan Central trains, and keep track of the baggage of the through passengers, as well as Canadian passengers, and thus prevent them from being subjected to discomfort or inconvenience either at night or in the daytime.

Some idea of the work required of modern marine engineers on war vessels may be obtained from the fact that in H. M. S. Terrible there are 89 engines, large and small, all of which have to be kept in order by the engineer corps.

The Indians in the Northwest are predicting an early and unusually severe winter this year. One thing that seems to back them up so far is the fact that many of the mountain peaks in that region are already white with the earliest snows known in the history of the country.

The marriage of her daughter will lessen Mrs. Vanderbilt's income by $25,000. By the terms of the arrangement with Mr. Vanderbilt she is allowed $250,000 a year, and with the marriage of each child $25,000 is to be withdrawn. Her other children, William K. Vanderbilt Jr., and Harold Vanderbilt, are sixteen and twelve years old respectively.

Many young men in New York will be shocked to learn that one of the twenty-seven dukes of England will be married in a suit made by an American tailor. There are New York youths who wouldn't wear a bicycle suit not made in England. It will also pain these young men to know that the material of the Duke's wedding clothes is gray, with small figures looking like inverted carats. The frock coat, double-breasted waistcoat and trousers will all be of the same material.
