Their Hour Has Come.

(From the Quindus Banner.)

They may shuffle their portfolios, complete their work of treachery and change their leaders.

They may bribe, bully and beseech, fawn and flatter and frown, as best suits their purpose.

They may get down on their knees to the Quebec hierarchy, and send their secret emissaries to work the Orange lodges.

They may dangle collectorships, post-masterships and judgeships before the eyes of their followers.

They may splutter and splurge and scream out about "obstruction" till the cows come home.

They may fondle wild-cat schemes like the Hudson Bay railway and the Chignecto canal, and fill the air with promises of subsidies and grants.

They may prate of imperial federation and national defences of Canada until all is blue.

They may debase the members and defile the constituencies.

They may appeal to the bigotry and intolerance of one class and the selfish interests of another.

They may deluge the country with the most pitiful appeals to their former supporters not to desert them in their hour of woe.

They may invoke the spirit of Sir John Macdonald and work the iniquitous gerrymander and the rascally franchise act for all these are worth.

They may plot and plan and play the traitor inside the cabinet and outside.

They may bleed the manufacturers white in the way of contributions to the election fund.

They may load the dice and stack the cards and resort to every wicked device of the gambler's art.

They may shout out their loyalty from the market place and their honesty from the housetops, with their arms elbow deep in the public treasury and the tariff working the motherland incalculable evil.

They may play the despot with their party friends and the bully with their political opponents.

They may desecrate and disgrace the council-room of the nation with their scandalous behaviour.

They may open the jail doors and let their confederates in public robbery go free.

They may do all these things and a thousand more.

Yet it will avail them nought, for "in vain is the net spread in the sight of any bird."

They are doomed.

The shadow of despair is already upon them.

The national conscience has been awakened.

The moral sense of the people has at last been aroused.

The handwriting is on the wall.

The sword of the avenging angel of outraged justice and honor is suspended over their heads.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

The hour for submitting to the national judgment and receiving the national verdict cannot be longer evaded.

The day of retribution is at hand.

The executioner is at the door.

A new day is dawning in the history of our country, and already the morning sun is glinting the hill-tops with gold. In a little while it will fill the plains and the valleys with sunshine and the whole land will be bathed in a new light—the light of justice, of toleration, of equal rights, of honesty in the administration of affairs, of freedom of conscience, of an equal distribution of the public burdens, of a higher standard of public morality.

We are about to see the government of the country carried on according to the well understood wishes of the people, and for the benefit of the masses rather than of the classes.

A new era is about to open.

Laurier and the liberals are calmly awaiting their country's call.

And the people of Canada, like the children of Israel in the days of old, are looking with longing eyes to the uplifting rod of the leader who shall lead them out of the wilderness of shame and humiliation and despair, heal them of their afflictions, and lead them into the promised land of justice and contentment and the sunny meadows of patriotism and peace.

WHY WEAR YOUR OLD HAT when you can get a new one so cheap and pretty at Mrs. R. McDougall's?

Powles's Corners.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Seeding is well advanced in this locality. Some are done, and the ground has been in good shape for the seed, which is an indication of good crops.

The political heat has not risen very high yet. We don't hear Mr. Delamere's name mentioned very often, and as for his policy and platform, the electors here don't know anything about it, but no doubt Mr. Delamere will hold a meeting here some time before the 23rd of June.

The McGee Bros. have sold their beef cattle and hogs to two buyers from Lindsay, the beef at $3.50 per cwt. and the pigs at $4.50. They had the misfortune to lose a very fine beef that in ordinary times would be worth sixty or seventy dollars.

Mr. John Cullis attended the funeral of Mrs. W. J. Westington, near Courbourg, week before last.

We are informed that all the bicycle manufacturers of Canada have formed a ring to keep up the prices of bikes. They are not satisfied with an honest price for them. It has been proven in court that the material in them doesn't cost more than $15, and to ask $100 for a bicycle is a shame and also dishonest, and especially by a firm like the Massey-Harris Co., one of the members of which recently died, and was so very benevolent as to take exorbitant prices from poor people to make large donations to different causes that could very well do without them.

At the time of writing a good shower of rain would be thankfully received, and it is to be hoped it will come before long.

H. H. Holmes was hanged at Philadelphia on Friday last, the 7th inst. He met death with as much indifference as he inflicted it upon others, and died, it is believed, with a lie upon his lips, for in the brief speech he made on the gallows he declared that he did not kill Benjamin F. Pictzel, the man for whose murder he was executed.
