JUST A HINT about Millinery. We are very busy on orders now, our milliners having to work over hours. Numbers of ladies from the country usually come on Saturday, expecting to get their hats and bonnets home with them. We ask as a special favor, if at all convenient, that ladies in the village will leave their orders as early in the week as possible. You will consult your own best interests and comfort, besides conferring a great favor upon us, by so doing. Mrs. R. McDougall.

BERRIES.—This has been a good season for both raspberries and huckleberries, large quantities of which have been sent to the Falls from the north, and prices have been a trifle lower than usual. Thimble berries are yet to come, and they will probably be plentiful too.

A strange defense has been offered in England by a captain who ran an excursion steamer, as it seemed, deliberately on the rocks near Scarborough. The passengers thought he was drunk, but he wants to be let off because he was under the influence of opium taken to relieve pain.

A Methodist clergyman of Milwaukee refused to marry two bicyclists who came to him, the woman in bloomers and the man in the usual wheeling rig, on Sunday. He said that bloomers and Sunday wheeling together were too much for him, and he could not perform the ceremony.

Horses are valuable in Alaska. They are driven up over the divide from the Canadian plains, and then have to be transported 800 to 1,600 miles by water. The freight on them for this distance is 40c. a pound, so that a 1,000-pound horse gets to be worth $1 by the time he nears a place where he can be of service. A good, big, strong dog is valued at $75.

His body was found on Wednesday, and was placed in a snow bank awaiting the arrival of an undertaker. Every bone in the professor's body was broken by the fall. His face was lacerated and his skull fractured.

The New York Journal's special from Berlin says: Despite the incredulity which most of the German papers express in the report that the aeronautic explorer, Herr Andree, and his companions have perished in their attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon, there are many eminent scientists here who are of the opinion that the intrepid trio will never return alive to civilization.

Since 1797 there have been 1,100 theatre fires with 10,000 fatalities, according to Mr. Sache's "Fires and Public Entertainments," just published. Of these 462 took place in the United States, 139 in Great Britain and 101 in Germany, France having nearly the same number. London has had thirty-five fires and Paris twenty-eight. Out of 343 theatres destroyed by fire, one-half were burned within ten years after they were constructed, and forty of them within the first year.

No less than seven million pounds was the weight to which the Grand Trunk's new single span steel bridge at Niagara Falls was subjected during its official test. Sixteen large consolidated locomotives, representing 1350 tons, and 18 cars loaded with the heaviest kind of material for ballast, representing 1080 tons, stood over the main arch on the upper or railway deck, and 500 tons of heavy material was distributed on the lower or carriage floor, making a total of nearly 3000 tons of burden, and when the measurements were taken at the crown of the arch this immense weight only indicated a deflection of one inch, which proved to the engineers in charge of the construction and the railway more than a gratifying result.

Do You See the Point?

It is just this—if you go on allowing your eyes to smart and ache and trouble you, you may never be able to make them strong again.

We have studied the eye—we know what we are talking about. It is a patient and long suffering organ, but it will snap at last, and then all the oculists and opticians in the world could not put it together again. Don't procrastinate. Any irritation about the eyes whatever means something. Come and find out—Examinations free.
