

golden yellow.
And a vision dances past our hungry eyes,
While we dream of toothsome spicy pumpkin pies
Time does pass so slowly even at work or play,
Surely we'll be thankful on Thanksgiving Day.

We clip from a farm journal Joseph Buckman's receipt for curing hams:—
Four ounces brown sugar; two ounces saltpetre; four pounds of salt; to 100 pounds of pork. Mix it well together and rub it on. If you cannot get it all on at first, rub it on when it goes in. This is a world beater.

METHODIST CHURCH.—There will be no service in the Methodist church here on Sabbath evening next, out of courtesy to Rev. M. McKinnon, who closes his seven years' pastorate in St. Andrew's church on that day.

A NICE ASSORTMENT of all the leading styles in Trimmed Hats, at Mrs. McDougall's.

FINE WEATHER.—Enough snow fell on the 10th inst. to make sleighing, but it only lasted a day or two, and the weather since then has been unusually fine and mild for so late in the year. Tuesday night was the coldest yet, but it was followed by a beautiful day, though the temperature was low.

CALL AND SEE the "Rough Rider" Hats at Mrs. McDougall's.

THANKS.—Last week we were the happy recipients of two big chunks of venison, one of which was sent to the Gazette office by Mr. Edwards and the other by Mr. Thos. Robson, who will please accept our thanks therefor. We are remarkably fond of venison, and are prepared to pay thanks for any amount of it at a moment's notice.

HOSIERY, Gloves and Corsets cheap at Mrs. McDougall's.

LECTURES AT LINDSAY.—The Post says: "The Lindsay, Ont., Collegiate Institute has arranged a series of lectures for this winter, during which addresses will be delivered by Prof. James W. Robertson, Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick, Hon. G. E. Foster, Mr. B. E. Walker, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, and Lieut.-Col. Henry Smith."

CALL AND SEE the "Dewey" Sailor in all the newest shades at Mrs. McDougall's.

PERSONALS.—Mr. James Bray, who left for Whitney, on the O. A. & P. S. Railway about two months ago, returned home on Wednesday.....Mr. R. S. Rowland, principal of the south ward school, left on Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays at his home in Port Hope.....Mr. W. H. Church returned home on Wednesday after a very successful business trip through eastern Ontario.

LOOK OUT for the latest styles in Walking Hats and Sailors, to be opened out in a few days at Mrs. McDougall's.

DISAPPOINTED.—Mr. William Heard left last Friday for Deseronto with the intention of renting a store and commencing the hardware business there, but had to come home again, as there was not a vacant building of any kind in the place. Deseronto is a lively village of over three thousand population, and as the Rathbuns have given up the general store they have been running for years, there are good openings for two or three pushing, enterprising men.

A Sunderland lady writes Dr. Neeldars that he had made her a successful fit after having eight sets of teeth made in Toronto and elsewhere.—434

AFTER MANY YEARS.—On Tuesday last the Gazette received a call from Mrs. W. H. Brokenshire of Oseoda, Michigan, James Brokenshire of Woodville, (just returned from a trip to British Columbia,) Daniel Brokenshire of Pickering and David and John Brokenshire of Rosedale, five brothers who were all together for the first time in eighteen years. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Brokenshire of Rosedale, and those from a distance were sent for on account of the serious illness of their mother, who was not expected to live; but upon reaching home they were pleased to learn that she had taken a turn for the better and was likely to recover.

HOME FROM MANITOBA.—About three months ago at least twenty young men from this neighborhood went on a cheap excursion to different parts of Manitoba, and we hear that all of them are home again. The latest to return say that they saw snow so deep—at least two feet on the level—that threshing could not be done, and cattle were running loose amongst the stooks of grain. That, of course, was in the parts in which the farmers have no barns, and the hay and straw is stacked out of doors, and the grain is drawn out of the elevators as soon as it is threshed. The crops were good this season in Manitoba, but the early snow, which it is thought will stay, is a great drawback. As a rule there is little or no snow in Manitoba before Christmas.

POULTRY FOR ENGLAND.—For some time past Davey & Son have been buying live poultry for Mr. A. J. King of Toronto, and the birds were brought to the Falls and taken to the railway station, where they were shipped next morning in a car divided into four "decks," which they just filled. There were over 1,200 turkeys, and about 100 geese, 50 ducks and 50 chickens, and the amount paid for them at 6 cents per pound was about $900. Upon reaching Toronto they will be killed, prepared for market and placed in cold storage, and will be shipped in time to reach England two or three days before Christmas. Mr. Joseph McFarland is buying poultry for Messrs. Dundas & Flavell Bros. of Lindsay, and their birds will be at the Falls on the 1st of December.

Rural England Happy.

Under the above heading the Birmingham Gazette says: "English farmers have just completed the ingathering of one of the best all-round harvests of the present century. From all parts of the country we hear of large crops of grain, which have been got in under the most favorable conditions. English wheat is this year of splendid quality, and is by far the best value for the money of any on the market. Under these circumstances the low prices of a week or two ago have disappeared, and the markets show an upward tendency. The harvest has been a good one for the laborer. Labour has been scarce and high wages have been paid. Indeed, the harvest year is a prosperous one all round, and rural England is happy for once in a way."

Correspondence.

[At the request of the writer of the following letter, which appeared in a recent issue of the Lindsay Post, we make room for it in our columns.—Ed. Gazette.]

To the Editor of the Post.

Sir,—In your issue of the 15th inst. Mr. G. H. Hopkins, in making an argument in favor of having a hospital established in the county, recites an incident that requires some correction. Although he does not mention any names, the circumstances connected with the deaths from typhoid fever in Mr. Brandon's family have been so much talked about that his description at once points to that family as the unfortunate sufferers, and to my family as the one where the "young girl, a servant in Lindsay," had lived. The whole trend of the melancholy description in his letter tends to emphasize the common talk that the girl was "sent home," or went home because she "was ill," and if he does not openly do so, the gossip from which he has gathered his information has tried to cast some sort of blame on myself for sending or allowing her to go home with the fever. What are the facts? Mary Marshall, the name of the young woman who had lived as a servant in my family about four months, was not a very rugged girl, and frequently complained of the heat affecting her head and otherwise, but she continued in service until the sixth day of August, when she went home, and what I wish to emphasize is that she was not "sent home," neither did she go home on account of illness. Mary had made arrangements during the early part of the week to go home that very Saturday, expecting to meet a friend from Toronto, and on Saturday morning she walked to the station in company with another young woman. She left with the full expectation of returning on the following Monday or Tuesday.

As to her illness, she did not complain any more than she had done on several other occasions. There was at this time nothing to lead me to think that she had, or was likely to have, typhoid fever. She was at her work around the house in her usual way the morning that she left to go home. As to the typhoid fever being in my house, I regret to say we had quite a bad time with it before we got through, but when Mary left only my little granddaughter was ill, and it was not certain that she was having the typhoid fever even then. We were very sorry to learn by a letter from her sister the following Monday that Mary was too ill to return. Her sister Lena wrote as follows: "Mary is very sick and will not be able to go back on Monday or Tuesday, or probably this week. She took sick coming down on the train."

I write thus particularly so that the friends who have been so busy censuring me can see the truth of the matter, and in this particular case a hospital would not have been patronized—even if one had been in Lindsay—but I can readily see where a great deal of suffering and sickness might be prevented by the judicious use of hospital accommodation under circumstances very similar. I hope the Fenelon Falls Gazette will copy this letter as an explanation of the whole case—so far as my connection with it is concerned—and to somewhat relieve me from any blame that some might be disposed to attach to me from the graphic picture drawn by Mr. Hopkins' facile pen. There are plenty of living witnesses conversant with the plans of the deceased young woman—together with her sister's letter—to show that she neither "went" nor was "sent" home, on account of any illness whatever, and that she expected to return in two or three days.

Yours, etc.,
W. L. HERRIMAN, M. D.

Principal Grant will publish a book in which he will define his attitude on the prohibition question.

NEWSPAPER LAW.
1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.
4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncollected for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
