By-Law Meeting.

A very considerable number of the property owners of the village assembled in Twomey's hall on Tuesday evening to hear an explanation of the "true inwardness" of By-law No. 428, upon which a vote is to be taken on the 20th inst. The reverend ably filled the chair, and the speakers were Mr. F. McDiarmid, village solicitor, Dr. Gould, Mr. Robson, manager of the Bank, Mr. Thos. Robson and Mr. George Martin. Mr. McDiarmid spoke for upwards of an hour, Dr. Gould for about half that length of time, and the others for about three minutes each, and all expressed themselves strongly in favor of the by-law, believing that this is the very last chance the village will have to obtain possession of a portion of our magnificent water power, which, if not secured now, will inevitably be snapped up by somebody else. Towards the close of the meeting Mr. McDougall, who was called upon to speak, said, among other things, that his firm had some time ago given an option to a party in New York, but had, though not without difficulty, managed to cancel it in favor of the village, which they thought ought to become owners of the property. As Mr. McDiarmid said, the by-law, on the face of it, places the matter in the very worst light, and that is just what is being done by its opponents, who are quietly doing all they can to secure its defeat, but will not express their sentiments openly, either through the press or upon the platform. We have already avowed ourselves in favor of the by-law, and in next week's Gazette, which will appear three days before the vote is to be taken, we will give our reasons for believing that the by-law ought to be carried.

D. J. McKinnon, Esq., will speak in Twomey's hall, on behalf of the by-law, on Friday evening next.

Provincial Auditor's Report.

Report of the audit of books and accounts of Mr. W. T. Junkin, Treasurer of Union School Section 3, Fenelon Falls, Fenelon and Verulam, in the County of Victoria, from April 1st, 1896, to Mar. 11th, 1903, made by Dugald Henderson, Accountant, Toronto, in accordance with instructions received from J. B. Laing, Esq., Provincial Municipal Auditor, and under authority of Order in Council dated February 26th, 1903.

To J. B. Laing, Esq., Provincial Municipal Auditor, Toronto:

I beg to state, in pursuance of your instructions, I have examined the books, accounts and vouchers of Mr. W. T. Junkin, Treasurer of Union School Section 3, Fenelon Falls, Fenelon and Verulam, and herewith submit statement of accounts and report.

Dr.
To balance at date of last audit, Dec. 1902 .....	$ 81 22
Treas. Twp. Fenelon (Legislative grant for 1901) omitted from previous accounts .....	11 00
Difference in amount charged by Treas. Twp. Fenelon .....	$319 20
And the credit given him by Treas. of School Board $294 00—	25 20
Balance due Treas. of School B'd .....	87 34
$204 76

Cr.
By sundry expenditure since date of last audit .....	$163 40
Amount due Treas., being the amount owing by the Toronto Financial Corporation (now insolvent) balance of monies deposited to credit of School Board .....	16 36
Amount charged against Treas., by County Treas. in error and entered in S. Book in error as received, payment having been made to School Section 6, of Fenelon, and not to School Section 3, Fenelon,

Falls, Fenelon and Verulam ... 25 00

$204 76

Balance due Mr. Junkin, School Board Treas. .... $ 87 34

Amount at credit of School Board in the books of Treas. of Fenelon Falls, $2,100. (This includes 1902 levy of Fenelon and Verulam recently paid by them.) Besides the above there may be small amounts owing by these two municipalities for portion of Legislative grant; from the Twp. of Fenelon for 1899 and 1900, and from the Twp. of Verulam for the whole period covered. If any money is due, it is because no reports have been made of any attendance from these districts upon which to compute what may be due. A payment in excess of $25 has been received on account of Leaving and Continuing classes, the amount having been received from both the County Treas. and the Prov. Treas. Dept., and is apparently owing the latter.

I find that all monies received have been accounted for, and all payments authorized and vouched, although in some instances not under their proper dates, the most important of these being the entry in 1901 of $275.00 for Leaving and Continuing Classes, which includes $100.00 received at the end of 1898 and $100.00 received in 1900.

This seems to have arisen from the Treasurer not making entries at the time money was received and writing up his Cash Book at a future date. The entries now made in his book by me, and included in foregoing statement of $11.00 and $25.20, are also instances. The error which the latter corrects was made apparently from minutes. The amount required to be levied by the township of Fenelon for that year was $294.00, whereas the amount paid the treasurer of School Section 3 was $319.30c, an adjustment of levy having afterwards apparently been made. On the other hand, the same entry of $175 includes the amount of $25.00, which I have passed to the treasurer's credit, the same not having been received by him, as explained in entry. It is necessary also to explain that a cheque for $10.35 sent out in 1898 went astray, and, after coming into the hands of the treasurer of the township of Fenelon, was returned to the Inspector. A knowledge on the part of the local auditors of the sources of revenue, and care taken to show on each annual statement any outstanding balances of same, would help to prevent errors occurring. Care should also be taken to state, in making entries, the sources from which monies are derived. Some of the entries of amounts received from the village treasurer, for instance, were entered as such, although they included monies from other sources, and no doubt gave rise to the idea that monies ascertained to be due had not been accounted for. For some time entries were also made by the village treasurer in his book of accounts as received by him and paid the school board treasurer, although they did not pass through his hands at all, which would make it hard to define responsibility in the event of a dispute. This, however, he has discontinued, entering only the money he actually receives or pays.

During his term of office (ten years) Mr. Junkin, who is retiring from the treasurership, has had pass through his hands school board monies to the amount of $18,084.40, and has received in salary $350.00, (at the rate of $35.00 per annum), being a little over 1.35 per cent of receipts. The school board has held a bond from responsible sureties against loss to the extent of $1,000.00. Now that there is a chartered bank in the village, I would suggest that an account be opened to the credit of the school board; and all payments made by cheques drawn by the treasurer and countersigned by the chairman of the board.

To ascertain correctness of payment by township of Fenelon treasurer of the $319.20, I went down to Cameron station and walked from there out to his house, and, after examination of the receipt held by him, made a copy of the same, so that, on my return to Fenelon Falls, I could show the same to Mr. Junkin, who accepted it as settling the question.

D. HENDERSON,
Accountant.

Millinery Openings.

Despite the snow and wintry weather of last week, many ladies visited the millinery establishments, where the opening displays of dainty headwear, flowers, fruit and foliage gave gentle spring an opportunity to reign indoors. Pretty draperies and decorations of plants and flowers added to the attractions of the spacious show room at Mr. Wm. Campbell's, where, as usual, the work was up-to-date and well calculated to meet the various tastes of their numerous customers. Besides an endless choice of ready-to-wear hats, untrimmed shapes and lovely trimmed hats, there were many samples of artistically trimmed hats ready for inspection. An exquisite Paris hat of white braid was one of the first to catch the eye. A draping of pale reseda green around the brim, a tiny wreath formed of separate flowers decorating the under side of the brim, a facing of pale pink chiffon and pink flowers with knotted stems with sprays of ivy leaves completing the upper effect, gives one an idea of the blending of colors and materials on this lovely sample. Another attractive hat was in black fancy straw trimmed simply with two long feathers placed across the crown from front to back and falling over the brim at the back; a lovely cream applique adorned the wide front brim. Beside it was a beautiful turban of white tuckered chiffon, which also was remarkable for its artistic simplicity. A long black velvet bow at the back and a strap of velvet held by a brilliant and pearl cabochon and white spray at left side and carried under the brim, constituted the decoration. A noticeably pretty child's hat was in cream fancy straw with lacings of blue baby ribbon, and draped with a sash of blue silk held in place by small steel buckles. A wreath of forget-me-nots and foliage ornamented the right brim, and a narrow ruffle of white chiffon finished the under edge of the brim.

Miss Washburn's window was extremely attractive in drapings of pale pink with festoons of reseda green ribbon and long wreaths of roses. A brilliant electric bulb surrounded by handsome roses added very much to the effect. Inside the rooms there was much careful and artistic work evidenced in the samples shown. One particularly charming hat was in Cavalier shape of white braid, faced with satin ribbon, braided and draped around the square crown with a cascade of lace. A wreath of June roses was placed high on the left side and front, and a rosette of liberty satin ribbon finished the under brim. Another large plateau of all-over Irish crochet lace bound with hunter's green velvet, and having graceful sprays of black and white Marguerites over the back and under the brim, was very much admired. A handsome box-turban was in ciel blue with a tuckered chiffon brim upon which was applied a realistic bunch of grapes. A broad butterfly of blue satin ribbon, with Parisian linen applique was placed at the back with long ends falling from the brim. A busbee effect in the ribbon, held by a handsome ornament studded with brilliants and turquoise, adorned the left side. A young girl's hat was of burnt straw, faced above and below with Chantilly lace. Handsome reseda green satin ribbon was looped from brim to brim at the back, carried over and knotted underneath. Moss-rose buds in burnt tints, nestling in briar foliage, formed the front decoration.

Many others in gun-metal and champagne tints, trimmings of spiko sequin and lace sequin medallions, lace hats with visible frames of tulle wound wire, flowers, net sequin and fruit in abundance, ready-to-wear children's hats were also to be seen.

Powles' Corner.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

At the time of writing, Mrs. W. A. Gillis is improving.

Farmers who have high land will get a little seeding done this week, but it will not be general until next week.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather many were detained from attending the opening of the basement of the church. We doubt if there is a country church in this country that can equal the church here now. The whole community have a comfortable place in which to worship, and the children will have a good Sabbath school room. There never was such an opportunity of doing good in this community as at the present time. Casting aside sectarianism and pulling all together is going to count.

The Dominion Govt. did a good thing in passing a law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes in Canada. Such a moral reform will surely be a blessing to the rising generation.

(Correspondence of the Gazette)

Times are lively in our neighborhood. Roads are drying very fast, but the unfavorable weather made them almost impassible.

We understand that Mr. McKenzie, of Stouffville, has taken up his abode in Somerville, on the farm of Mr. Broadey, who has purchased a large tract of land for a cattle ranch. We wish Mr. McKenzie success.

Accidents are numerous as ever in this locality. While Mr. and Mrs. Wood were driving down Power's hill last Sunday, the horse stumbled, breaking the shafts off the buggy and nearly throwing the occupants of the vehicle up in the air.

Another neighbor is lost to our view. Mr. Sanford Lovely and family having gone to Blythe farm. Many wishes for
