The Gamey Charges.

The prosecution in the Gamey vs. Stratton case closed on Monday, and the defence, which will probably not take up much time, has commenced. The prosecution—towards its close, at any rate—appeared to us to partake of the nature of a defence, and we more than half expect that the defence will assume the similitude of a prosecution. The great majority of people read a daily paper, and those who have had the patience to wade through the evidence can scarcely avoid the conclusion that the Gamey charges were a "put up" job, devised and carried out, with malice aforethought, for the purpose of killing Mr. Stratton politically and casting discredit upon the Government of which he is an able and useful member. The history of Mr. Gamey's games with the Ontario Bank the day before he absquatulated to Buffalo, the disappearance of a $900 deposit slip and the substitution of two bogus ones therefor, together with the evidence extorted from his "coadjutor" Sullivan and others, give rise to a strong suspicion that the charges were the outcome of a deliberate conspiracy; and we shall not be at all surprised if the commission arrive at that conclusion. Under the heading of "The man behind the charges," the Toronto Globe says:

"Ever since the member for Manitoulin became discredited before the public on account of his using in private business the money with which he says he was bribed by the Provincial Secretary, and especially since he tampered with the bank deposit slip, left for Buffalo without advising even his counsel, and in other ways cast suspicion on his personal trustworthiness, the Opposition press in Toronto, both Conservative and so-called Independent, have been protesting that the character of the man behind the charges is of no importance whatsoever. They have evidently lost confidence in the man to whom at first they pinned their faith, and they are growing nervous about their charges. They are willing that the man should be cast to the limbo of unsuccessful adventurers, but the charges must stand. This doctrine, if it is not new, is at least dangerous, alike in forensic usage, Parliamentary procedure and ethical teaching. The charges were made on the man's responsibility as a member of Parliament. The pledging of his seat gave dignity and impressiveness to his statements. His membership in the House and his reputation as a public man were known to be at stake, and would be forfeited if he failed to prove his very serious charges. Are we now to be told by the very journals that hailed him as a hero and honored him as a deliverer that the character of the man, his moral honesty, his reputation for veracity, are of no consequence? The Judges will not be blind to the utter absurdity of such reasoning, and the public will recognize its immorality. If it were shown that a man habitually confused moral distinctions, played fast and loose with truth and honor in ordinary affairs, and earned an evil name, the public would be disposed to discount even his oath as a pledge that he told "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," in a matter of supreme interest to himself. It will not do to have character and reputation made to appear insignificant as elements in evidence. Quite apart from the present case, such teaching is hurtful to public morality. And in the charges against the Provincial Secretary and the Government, the character for veracity of the member for Manitoulin is of capital importance."

The Wisdom of the Government.

While the Conservatives in the Legislature were vainly striving to have the Gamey charges referred to a committee of the House instead of to a commission of Judges, everybody knew that they were only wasting time; and, as the trial went on, the wisdom of the course insisted upon by the Government became more and more apparent. The Brockville Recorder says:

"The searching investigation into the Gamey charges being made by Justices Boyd and Falconbridge must strike every reasonable person as to the wisdom of the Government in sending the case to them. What a farce the whole thing would have been before a partisan committee. Mr. Gamey, even before the judges, breaks out into politics and has to be checked. Before a committee this tendency would have been much more marked, and his political friends would have developed into a political bear garden, with no satisfactory results to the public."

Presentation and Address.

On the evening of Friday last, in the Baptist Church, Miss M. Agnes Ellis was made the recipient of a handsome gold watch and chain, presented on behalf of the congregation, by Mr. David Curtis, and the following address, to which Miss Ellis made an appropriate reply, was read by Miss Blossie Graham:

MISS M. AGNES ELLIS:

Dear Fellow-worker,

It is with sincere regret that the Baptist people of Fenelon Falls and vicinity have viewed your coming departure from our midst. You have become so valuable in our church life that the thought of parting with you gives us "inward pain." We have found in you a most faithful and efficient helper in the various departments of our work. As organist in the church you have rendered a long, capable and important service, which has been greatly appreciated. In your removal, a large place will be made vacant in the choir and singing of our church. For some years the duties of church clerk have devolved upon you, which have been discharged with marked efficiency and satisfaction. Your earnest labors in the Sunday School, as teacher, and latterly as superintendent, will make you nobly and lastingly remembered. The good seed sown will bear precious fruit in the present rising generation. You will be known as the first president of our Young People's Union, among whom you have exerted a great influence for good. You will be lovingly thought of as a devoted member of the Mission Circle and the Aid Society, and as a willing, noble worker in the varied spheres of Christian labor.

By reason of your many good qualities and Christian graces, you have won our respect and admiration; and, as a partial expression of our appreciation and good will, you will please accept from us this watch and chain. And may the Good Shepherd ever guide and bless you.

In behalf of the church and congregation,
 B. DAVIES, Pastor.
 H. H. GRAHAM, Clerk.

The departure of Miss Ellis for Parry Harbor, where she will reside with her father, is generally regretted, as there is not—we say it without fear of contradiction—a more amiable, sensible and popular young lady in the village. She was born at the Falls, where she has lived the greater part of her life, and for the past ten years or more was almost the sole attendant of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Ann Ellis, who died in January last at the great age of 95 years. For about ten years Miss Ellis has been organist of the Baptist Church and an earnest Sunday school worker, and has filled the offices of clerk of the church and superintendent of the Sunday school since they were resigned by Mr. A. Clark, Jr., upon his removal to Lindsay. Miss Ellis will leave for Parry Harbor early next week, and we venture to predict that the station platform will be crowded with friends assembled to see her off and bid her an earnest and hearty farewell.

Personals.

Miss Ella Austin was home from Kinmount from Friday until Monday.

Mr. A. J. Campbell, of Lindsay, has been at the Falls since the beginning of the week.

Miss Violet Corley visited her home in Lindsay on Saturday, and returned on Monday.

Rev. Wm. Farncomb has been at the Falls since Tuesday, the guest of Mr. Thos. Cashore.

Mr. John Geach, of Lindsay, was at the Falls on Tuesday, attending the funeral of his father.

Mrs. John Quibell came home on Monday from a three weeks' visit to her daughters at Toronto.

Mrs. Joseph English (and the baby) returned from Utterson last Friday for a two weeks' visit at home.

Mr. Cecil Deyman, Mr. Thomas Moore and Mr. Alvin Gould all took a trip to Lindsay on Monday.

Mr. W. D. Prior has been in town since Wednesday, making arrangements to move his family to Cobourg. Mr. William Campbell, of Cobourg, many years ago chief constable of this village, was here on Wednesday.

Mr. Frederick Gainer, of Minden, accompanied by his daughter Gertrude, 9 years old, has been at the Falls since Wednesday, visiting his brother, Mr. S. S. Gainer.

Powles' Corner.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

It is rumored that Mr. E. Worsley has sold his farm to Mr. John Gillis, of Omamee, brother of Mr. W. A. Gillis, of this neighborhood.

One of our farmers has ordered a low wheeled haudy farm waggon from Saginaw, Michigan. These waggons can be bought in the United States and the duty and freight paid for less money than they can be bought in Canada. The difference is from fifteen to twenty dollars.

The post-master has been brightening up the appearance of the post-office by the use of Sherwin-Williams paint.

Mrs. W. Styles, of Cameron, made a short visit at Mr. John Daucy's last Monday.

Mrs. Thos. Gillis is enjoying a visit here.

Mr. W. H. Stevens, the newly appointed School Inspector, paid the schools here a visit. I guess he is the right man in the right place.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The village council met last Friday evening for the purpose of giving By-law No. 423 its third and final reading. There was no other business.

SUCKERS.—A few days ago the first of the season's run of suckers made their appearance and by Monday they were here in swarms. When they get up into the locks they afford great sport to the boys, who "yank" hundreds of them out of their native element, and we are told that one boy caught enough to fill a washtub, but we are inclined to think that the tub must have been a very small one.

A Capital Cure for Sore Throat. Is to use as a gargle a few drops of Polson's Nerviline in sweetened water, and before retiring rub the throat and chest vigorously with Nerviline. By morning the soreness and inflammation will have disappeared entirely. Nerviline drives away the pain and cures sore throat and hoarseness quickly, simply because that's what it's made for. Buy a 25c. bottle from your druggist to-day. Sold by W. H. Robson.

SMALLPOX AT LAKEHURST.—The Lakefield News says: "The outbreak of smallpox at Lakehurst, in Harvey township, is assuming serious proportions, and it is said that steps will likely be taken to close the township and allow neither ingress nor egress. There are at least a dozen cases of smallpox at Lakehurst, and little more is being done towards preventing the spread of the disease than merely placarding the houses."

NORTH COUNTRY MINES.—The Lindsay Post of Saturday says: "Mr. Robt. Bradshaw, of Toronto, formerly of Lindsay, was in town on Thursday, returning from the north country, where he has been looking over the mineral fields. He is in the employ of the New York syndicate who purchased the copper mine at Mud Turtle Lake, Norland. Mr. Bradshaw says the company are now building a large boarding house to accommodate the men who will be employed in the operation of the mine."

Hearts that are Diseased Will never be cured by the false, unnatural stimulation of liquor. First increase your vitality, build up the system, strengthen and purify the blood—then the heart will respond and grow strong. Ferrozone is precisely what to take, it gives you an appetite and a digestion that will look after everything that is eaten. Ferrozone improves nutrition, makes rich, vitalizing blood, and is positively the most powerful restorative and strengthener known to science; it improves the nerve tone, regulates the heart's action, makes the feeble strong and the sick well. Ferrozone will do you untold good and costs only 50c., at druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold by W. H. Robson.

THE WATER CART.—This (Thursday) forenoon we were just going to write a paragraph about the non-appearance of the water cart, when it passed our office, with Mr. John Sheehy driving the team that were hauling it, and Councillor Austin hanging on behind, and apparently steering it. "Better late than never"; but there has been a fearful lot of dust during the past two or three days, and people were wondering what had become of the cart. By-the-by, as it has four wheels, oughtn't it to be called a "waggon?"

A GIGANTIC CALF.—A Clinton, Ont., paper says: "Many fat cattle have been raised and fed in this neighborhood, but we have yet to hear of one that can beat a farmer on the 12th concession—a calf, eleven months old, weighing 780 pounds. This animal was sold at 5c. a pound, the farmer realizing $39.20. What it would have been worth in another year or two is a
