Death of the Pope.

Pope Leo XIII, head of the Roman Catholic Church, and the two hundred and fifty-eighth successor of St. Peter, died at Rome a few minutes after 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, practically of old age, as a younger man would probably have recovered from the disease which carried him off. He was born at Carpieto, a town in central Italy, on March 2nd, 1810, and was therefore in his 94th year. His family name was Pecci, and in boyhood he was called Vincent, one of the four names conferred upon him when baptised. He entered the priesthood at an early age, was made a Cardinal by Pope Pius XI in 1859, and was crowned as Pope on March 3rd, 1878. He was not only a rare scholar and profound thinker, but in character what every man, lay or clerical, ought to be. In its obituary notice the Toronto Globe says:

"The 'grand old men' of the nineteenth century have nearly all disappeared from the scene, and he who has just taken his departure was second to no other in either personal character or official position. Leo XIII, as the head of the Roman Catholic Church, was venerated by the members of that great communion; as a statesman among statesmen he was respected and admired by all students of current political events. Leo XIII. was personally one of the most admirable and lovable of men. Gentle in disposition, refined in temperament, gifted with rare ability, and cultured to an unusual degree, he must have been a charming companion, the more so as he had also a keen sense of humor. He was a poet by nature and was also a master of the poetic art. His published Latin verse approaches the classic style of the Augustan age as nearly as any modern Latin verse has ever done. It may be permitted even to those who are outside of the Papal jurisdiction to express a hope that the motives and aims of his successor will be no less humanitarian than his undoubtedly were."

Another Big Barn.

On Tuesday last a large barn was raised on Grand Island, the property of Messrs. McDougall, Brandon & Austin; and so many persons went from the village to officiate as spectators that, at the time the raising commenced, about 5 p.m., the crowd upon the island must have numbered not far from 300. A great many were taken from the Falls by the steamers Kawartha and Down, while quite a number drove to Rosedale, and were taken across to the island by the first-named boat. DeCew & Son's steam punt was also there, as well as some common punts, skiffs and canoes. The barn was framed by Messrs. Wm. Adams and Thomas Junkin, and Messrs. Maunders and Hill, of Cameron, built the stone foundation, which is ten feet high. Mr. Niel Carmichael was captain of one of the gangs of about sixty men each who did the raising, and Mr. Hugh McKinnon of the other. Mr. McKinnon's men were easy victors, something appearing to go wrong with the other half of the frame. The excitement among the men was very great and was the cause of two or three slight accidents, in one of which Mr. Fred Chambers, of this village, received a cut on the head by a hammer falling upon him. After work was over a capital dinner (or tea) was served by the ladies who had been on the ground since the morning, and all present were invited to partake of the good things provided. The barn will cost nearly or quite $1,000, but it will pay for itself in a very few years.

Presentation and Address.

Mr. Peter Deyman, who has lived nearly all his life at the Falls, recently resigned the position he has so long held as foreman in Mr. F. Sandford's factory, and left yesterday for Toronto. On the eve of his departure about twenty of his fellow employes assembled at his house and presented him with a valuable suit case and the following address, which was read by Mr. Fred Cullon, and to which Mr. Deyman made a brief but feeling reply:

To Mr. Peter Deyman,
Dear Friend,

It was with sincere regret we learned, a few days ago, that you were about to resign your position and take your departure from our town. We felt that we could not allow this occasion to pass without expressing our gratitude and appreciation for the kindly and courteous way in which you have always treated us, both in your position of overseer and upon every other occasion. Your fair dealings and your upright and honorable everyday life have been such as to merit and win the esteem and goodwill of not only ourselves, but of every citizen of Fenelon Falls. We ask you to accept this suit case, which we hope will prove not only useful, but will ever remind you of the sincere friendship of one and all of us, and may God in His Providence bestow on you and yours every prosperity and happiness in the years that are to come.

Signed on behalf of your fellow workmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Deyman are exceedingly popular with all who know them, and their departure from the Falls will be much regretted by a host of friends.

Mr. J. M. Loose and his son, of Toronto, have been at the Falls since Sunday, visiting Mr. Loose's brother-in-law, Dr. Gould. The two gentlemen came on an automobile, which attracted a good deal of attention, as it was the first ever seen in the village.

Powles' Corner.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Mrs. Thos. Gillis of Lindsay is visiting her son John and her daughter, Mrs. James Mitchell.

Mrs. Thomas Mark spent a week visiting relatives at Lifford.

Only three pupils of Mr. Thomas Mark tried the entrance, and one of them took the second-highest marks in the county. We congratulate the pupils who passed, and also the teacher, Mr. Mark.

The rain on Wednesday morning kept quite a number from going to the Sabbath school excursion to Sandy Lake.

If the young scamps who are annoying the postmaster two or three times a week think that this will make him pull up stakes, and leave the Corner they are badly mistaken. He will hold the position until he is dismissed by the Postmaster-General. At no distant day he may be delivering mail at every farm house in this community.

Those who went to pick huckleberries in Digby bring back the report that there are no berries.

Mr. E. Beacock has been building a wood and driving shed on his farm in Ops. Mr. John Willock did the carpenter work, and is now busy at a driving shed for Mr. Chas. Stroud.

Mr. H. W. Johnston has purchased a new Frost & Wood binder.

The first automobile that we ever saw on this road passed through here last Sunday evening, going towards Fenelon Falls. It would be a good rig to carry eggs to market.

It does not seem to make any difference to some young men where they are or what day it is. Sunday and Monday are all alike to them. Last Sunday a few young men going home from church stopped at the post-office for a few minutes while it was raining, and they could not behave themselves during that short time. One of them pulled down the post office sign that had been up since 1891. We often wonder if church going is not a matter of form. Do people go to church to become better or to become worse, or what do they go for? Is it not a mockery and a sin to go to church, and while on the way home break a common law. Perhaps the Post-office Department will not let this pass without an investigation. We would like to hear a sermon preached here some time upon the great necessity of pure and undefiled religion.

I want to get out of town in about two weeks. Still a few snags left in stock and furniture, but they are going fast. Nobody gets disappointed here; everybody buys. Come and see.

UNION S. S. PICNIC.—The annual picnic of the English, Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 5th, to Pleasant Point. See posters for particulars.

EYE SPECIALIST.—Prof. J. H. De Silberg, the celebrated German optician and eye specialist, will be at the Rockland House parlour, Bobcaygeon, on Saturday next, July 25th, and remain until Tuesday night, the 28th. Persons who have anything wrong with their eyes should avail themselves of his skill.

THE METHODIST EXCURSION.—Notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather on Wednesday, there was a fair attendance at the Methodist S. S. excursion to Sandy Lake, the boat having about 225 on board when she reached her destination. As there was much less rain there than here, the program of sports was carried out.

THE BRIDGE PIERS.—Mr. William Kennedy, of Bobcaygeon, has been at the Falls for several days superintending some repairs to the stone piers that support the iron bridge across the river. The bridge itself is all right; but the piers, which were built ages ago for the old wooden bridge, needed overhauling and "fixing," and are now being attended to.

REMOVALS.—The Bank of British North America, being cramped for room, has rented the more spacious premises at the north-west corner of Colborne and Francis streets hitherto occupied by the Public Library, which is to be moved three doors farther north. The Library has been closed all this week, and carpenters are at work making the necessary alterations in the two stores, both of which are owned by Mr. William Jordan.

BROKE ITS NECK.—A short time ago Mr. David West, of Fenelon, paid Mr. James Poulson, of Verulam, $100 for a handsome black colt, three years old, which was well worth the money. But he didn't have it long, for about a month later, it stepped upon the covering of a well, which collapsed beneath its weight, and fell in such a way that its neck was broken. What made it worse for Mr. West was, that he needed the animal's services, and had to immediately buy another.
