

GOOD ROADS.

Question With Which Dairy Farmers Are Specially Concerned.

Perhaps no class of farmers are so interested in good roads as those engaged in dairying, says Professor A. L. Haecker. The stock raiser, for example, markets his produce but a few times each year, the grain raiser the same, but the dairyman uses the highways from two to six times a week.

So closely allied is the subject of good roads with dairy husbandry that I believe the two should be more connected in public interest. Why not open the subject of good roads at our state and national dairy conventions? Why not use our influence in every way we can to assist in the good road movement?

A new office in the department of agriculture in Washington has recently been established. This office is called the office of public road inquiries. Recently the department has sent out a paper giving a list of the bulletins published in connection with the good road movement. Under this list we find many valuable works connected with road structure and allied subjects. These bulletins can be obtained at very nominal figures. Prices range from 2 to 5 cents. This sum will buy nearly any of these bulletins, so that the cost is very low, and it is an easy matter to become posted on good road literature.

Bulletin No. 9, published in 1894, entitled "State Aid to Road Building in New Jersey," gives us a pretty good idea of how the state may be interested in the good road movement. Farmers' bulletin No. 130, entitled "Earth Roads," is another valuable publication and very instructive. This bulletin deals with the subject of country roads, especially those made from dirt. The west is especially interested in dirt roads, as in many sections of our country it is nearly impossible to obtain stone or hard material for road construction.

Why not agitate the subject of good roads and why cannot the dairymen take a leading part in this movement?

Butter Scoring at World's Fair.

Scoring butter at the world's fair in St. Louis will be on an entirely new basis. The Hon. F. D. Coburn, chief of the live stock department, has sent out officially the basis for judging points as follows:

	Per cent.	Per cent.
Flavor	..... 30	Salt	..... 10
Aroma	..... 15	Package	..... 05
Grain	..... 25
Color	..... 15	Total	..... 100

The old basis which has been universally adopted by the different dairy conventions had forty-five points for flavor and twenty-five points for body. Color, salt and packages are unchanged. The new score card has been approved by each of the representatives of the Cattle Breeders' association, and it is believed that the advanced method which gives fifteen points for aroma will meet with the approval and hearty co-operation of every butter-maker exhibiting. Since the new basis was adopted Mr. Coburn has corresponded with the various secretaries of buttermakers' associations throughout the east and west, and replies of the most favorable character have been received.

THE CHEESEMAKER

Ottawa inspection of cheese is at last to be given a trial. This matter has been a bone of contention in the Ottawa cheese board for some time, and at the meeting recently it was brought up as usual, with the result that a number of the buyers agreed to have the cheese brought to Ottawa and inspected at the rooms of the Ottawa Cold Storage company immediately after the sale. The trouble in the past has arisen in a grievance on the part of the manufacturers. They claim that after their cheese is sold at a certain price, shipped to Montreal and there inspected the buyers often inform them that it is not up to standard and refuse to pay the price of the bid. Rather than have it returned for the sake of a fraction of a cent per pound the sellers usually let the cheese go at whatever is offered. By having it inspected in Ottawa this difficulty, they think, would be overcome.

Paraffin Coating For Cheese.

The experiment station at Geneva, N. Y., has made some tests to illustrate the value of coating cheese with paraffin. The results show a great saving in weight and preservation of flavor. By paraffining the cheeses much of the loss in weight was prevented, especially at the highest temperature, and the quality was improved in some instances, never lowered.

Half of the cheeses in one lot were dipped in melted paraffin when a few days old and were distributed in the curing rooms at different temperatures to compare with the other half of the cheeses, which were untreated. The operation of paraffining, which is a simple and inexpensive one, leaves each cheese coated with a thin layer, almost air tight and water tight, of a material upon which molds will not grow. Evaporation is thus checked, and the cheeses are kept free from mold.

New York Italian Cheese.

The manufacture of Italian cheese at Ellisburg, N. Y., is an interesting process. After the milk has been coagulated and the whey drawn off the curd is manipulated by hand like molasses candy. It is finally worked into jug shaped pieces, put in brine for twenty-four hours and then hung up to cure. The cellar under the main building has been cemented and will be used for a curing room. Pot cheese is made from the whey and shipped every day to New York.

Getting Even.

Butcher—We didn't have any rump roasts, so I sent you a piece off the top of the round.

Customer—Oh, that was the reason I haven't any money to spare this week, but I will make a note of the matter. I suppose that will suit quite as well.—Boston Transcript.

"I hear you're dissatisfied with your doctor's bill."

"Yes. I don't think he's entitled to $250 for that operation."

"Why not?"

"Because if he was he'd claim more."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Bear Movement.

Visitor—Your church is a beauty! That handsome house next door is the parsonage, I presume?

Deacon De Good—No-o. Fact is, the parsonage is some distance uptown, but we intend to make an offer for one of these nearby residences soon.

"The price will be high, no doubt?"

"Um—I think not. We shan't try to buy until after our new chimneys are put in."—New York Weekly.

Where It Began.

He was a bum. Anybody who saw him leaning against the bars could have told as much from his rags.

The good citizen stepped in front of the cell.

"Why are you here?" he asked.

"Aw, I had a little jag on," replied the bum.

"Bad! Too bad! Oh, that men might know the danger in the first drink!"

"'Twasn't the first drink, pard. It was the last that caused all the trouble."—Milwaukee Journal.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
