MANY FIGHTS REPORTED

Japs and Russians Clash Daily, But Details Are Meagre.

Odds, However, Seem to Be in Favor of the Japanese—Jap Artillery Have Opened Fire Upon Vafangow—Occupied Village and Heights South of Vandchon—200,000 Army Reserves Called Out By the Czar to Reinforce Kuropatkin.

Liaoyang, June 15.—Japanese artillery yesterday opened fire upon Vafangow, a station on the railway sixty miles above Kinchou. Details are awaited.

Japs Repelled.
St. Petersburg, June 15.—A telegram to the Czar from Lieut.-Gen. Baron Stakelberg reported a battle south of the station of Vafangow, in which the Japanese attack was repulsed. Three officers were killed and Gen. Gerngross had his lower jaw shattered by a shrapnel bullet, but remained on the field.

Japs Occupy Villages.
St. Petersburg, June 15.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports to the Czar, under Monday's date, that two Japanese divisions advanced northward from Pulantien and halted in the afternoon, after occupying the village and heights south of Vandchon.

Major-General Karevitch advises the general staff of various nocturnal combats south of Wafangtien station, in which the Russians lost four soldiers killed and eighteen wounded. Three thousand Japanese are said to be on the march northwards towards Huayensiang.

General Engagement.
London, June 15.—The Central News correspondent at Liaoyang reports heavy firing between the Russians and Japanese vanguards, which developed into a general engagement. No details are available.

10 Japs Killed.
Tokio, June 15.—While the Taihoku was engaged in laying mines at Port Arthur Monday night, a mine exploded, killing one officer and eighteen men and wounding two officers and seven men. The Taihoku, which is a naval transport, was not seriously damaged.

Not Marching South.
St. Petersburg, June 15.—The Novoe Vremya's military expert authoritatively denies the report that General Stakelberg is on the march south. He declares that the only Russian forces on the Liaotung Peninsula above Port Arthur consist of cavalry and railroad guards, and adds that it is scarcely possible to interfere with the siege operations before Port Arthur. The chief mission of the Russian cavalry detachments, he says, is to hamper the movements of the Japanese columns from the south to the north.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed for it, is responsible for the pay.
4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
